School supporters to march in Springfield

by THOMAS STEVENS
Lakeland Newspapers

Antioch Community High School will be one of several area schools attempting to gain the support of residents to travel down to Springfield and march in a rally in support of education.

A grass roots effort called Rally to Insure Support for Education is attempting to get one million people down to Springfield on May 5 in conjunction with a scheduled education lobby day. ACHS will be holding its own mini-rally and then will transport the group to the rally in time to participate.

"The goal here is to drive education to the top of the legislative agenda and to pressure our legislators to find and implement an appropriate solution for our funding problems," said RISE Committee member Doug Cartland. "Something must happen for our children and it must happen now."

RISE, who said there are 956 school districts in Illinois, will be seeking more than 1,000 people from each school district to meet its goal of one million people for the rally on the Capitol. ACHS officials were not sure if that many are expected to participate from District 117.

ACHS will hold its own rally at the school beginning at 8 a.m., before the (Continued on page 9)

Lakeland Newspapers

The Antioch Village Board unanimously approved a resolution opposing the development of a riverboat casino site in unincorporated Antioch Township.

Last week, the citizens of both the village and township overwhelmingly indicated on a referendum that they are opposed to the development and operation of the casino.

Kurt Gamlin, a representative from ARC (Against Riverboat Casinos) commented that he felt a little like "Dorothy when asked by the Wizard of Oz to bring back the witches broom".

Weeks ago, the Village Board indicated to the ARC that they would vote the "will of the people." In the first meeting of the Village Board after the referendum vote, the ARC presented the Board with the draft resolution.

Lakeland Newspapers

The worst of the flooding is over, for residents in Antioch Township, without any real serious damage thanks to the help of township workers and a number of volunteers.

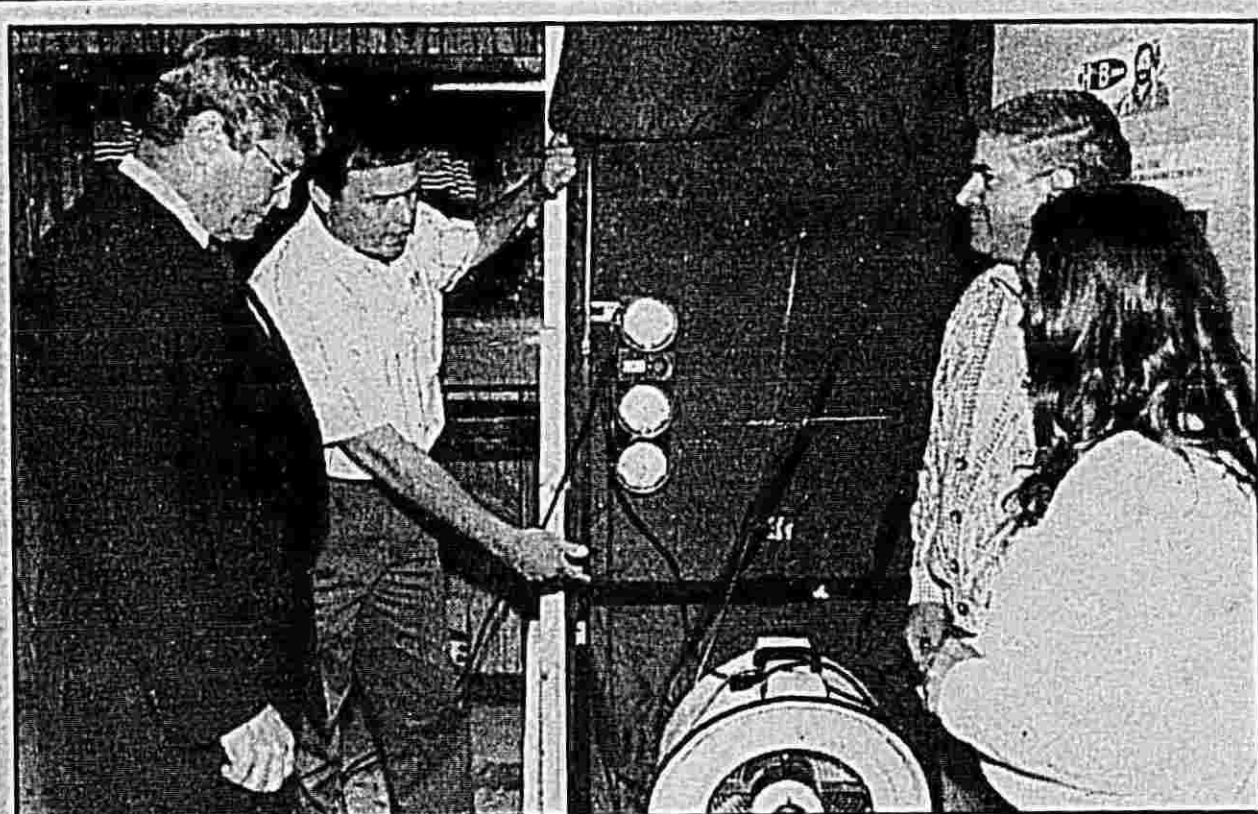

Antioch Township Highway Commissioner Mark Ring said that his workers and a number of Antioch area volunteers helped deliver more than 33,000 sandbags and 1,000 tons of sand to lake residents affected by the rising water of last week.

"The water crested last weekend and as long as we don't get any significant rain over the next couple of weeks, we should see a significantly better picture soon," said Ring.

Ring said the township was ready for the flooding and every resident that called for help and materials got it from the township.

"Every lake in the township was affected and some roads were under water, but every one got the help they needed," said Ring. "I would especially like to thank Capt. Garner of the Lake County Sheriff's Police for being helpful with getting the materials we needed."

Ring added that some areas might have standing water for another one and a half to two weeks yet. He cautioned people to be careful when walking in areas covered in water because residents could break a leg if they were to step in a hole covered with water.

North Chicago suit is into federal court

NORTH CHICAGO — After three neighboring school districts hired a law firm to draw up documents for a lawsuit against North Chicago Unit District 187, North Chicago motioned to have the suit be decided on a federal level. Libertyville School Dist. 128, Oak Grove Elementary Dist. 68 and Woodland Elementary Dist. 50 combined complaints and formed a coalition to authorize the filing of a lawsuit against Dist. 187. The lawsuit was filed April 23. North Chicago in turn motioned that the suit be referred to federal courts in Chicago. James Walker, superintendent at special services for Dist. 187, said no date has been set for the suit to be heard. But added that attorneys believe it will be heard within the next two weeks. Walker said the district is continuing with moving forward on dissolution plans as well as making provision for next school year.

Residents mix feelings on Cambridge homes

LIBERTYVILLE — Over 150 residents appeared for the public hearing regarding the proposed annexation of a Cambridge development for 69 homes on property just north of Route 176. Residents were mixed on feelings for the development, but all had concerns about safety precautions, impact fees, and school problems. After nearly three hours of residents' testimony, the village board decided to reschedule the meeting and discuss approval at that time. A date for the meeting has not been scheduled yet.

Fund queries bring board, teacher split

GURNEE—An effort to understand just how the imprest fund works is the center of controversy between the Warren Twp. High School board and one of its employees. Rick Bryan said that progress was made at a Tuesday night board meeting regarding documents which were heretofore denied him. "I am gratified that the board decided to release the bank statements," Bryan said. However, he still fears for his job as a social studies teacher due to what he believes are inquiries by the board's attorney.

Grayslake plans clean-up day

GRAYSLAKE—Grayslake's annual spring clean-up day will be held on Saturday, May 1. Waste Management will collect the following items when placed at the curb: residential garbage, furniture, small car parts, and carpeting that one man can handle. The firm will not pick up: collect yard waste, trees, tree limbs, branches, tires, large car parts and wheels, battery acids, hazardous waste and paints which have not been hardened. Collection will begin at 6 a.m. To insure proper collection, residents should place items for disposal.

Russian boy teaches Butterfield students

LIBERTYVILLE — Students in Irene Lerner's fifth-grade class at Butterfield school experienced a new method of learning; they learned from a peer. Leonid Fridman, 10, is a Russian boy who immigrated to America in June 1992. Currently, he attends Daniel Boone Elementary School in Chicago. When he came to America, Leonid could not speak English. He said he taught himself. Leonid said he wishes he had more homework from his school, and said he wants to build an electric car. Many students gave Leonid their telephone numbers to keep in contact with him.

Rockenbach tells retirement plans

GRAYSLAKE—They served in a time before paid-on-calls, before response time was an issue, before mutual response areas. And in 1994, the last half of the James "Rodney" Rockenbach and Sam Dada combination will no longer be in the fire service. Rockenbach plans to hang up the helmet after 48 years in the fire service in December or January.

A new police chief for Round Lake Beach

ROUND LAKE BEACH—The former police chief of Lindenhurst Richard Jablonski will become the Round Lake Police Chief. Jablonski was fired as chief by the mayor in November of 1992. Jablonski is currently pursuing a lawsuit against the village of Lindenhurst because he felt he was unfairly fired. The status of present chief Ed Noe is uncertain. He still has a contract and if there is no cause to fire him, he could go back to his position of sergeant.

Minister charged with tax evasion

FOX LAKE—A Fox Lake self-ordained minister received some bad news from the Internal Revenue Service when he was arrested on evasion of income tax charges. James B. Hurlless, 41, of 21 Poplar, was indicted for one count each of tax evasion, filing a fraudulent state income tax return for 1990 and failing to file a state income tax return for 1991. Final investigation reports showed that investigators were able to identify money that Hurlless had funneled from the church's accounts to his private bank account and to the account of his business, Jim's Tile Setting. Hurlless is charged with failing to report the money as income on his 1990 state tax return and failure to file a 1991 return.

ComEd wants faster action from task force

LAKE ZURICH — Commonwealth Edison and some residents feel the intergovernmental committee designed to investigate alternatives to a new electrical substation is moving too slow. Commonwealth Edison proposed the electrical substation to be located in Lake Zurich's industrial park. That station would be connected with one in rural Mundelein by high wires running north along Eastern, Joliet & Elgin Railroad. Edison stated the village was in desperate need of more circuits to avoid power outages. Trustee Laurence Coffey agreed that the committee should be moving faster. Harlan Dam of Commonwealth Edison said the project already is one year behind. The next meeting of the intergovernmental committee is scheduled for Wednesday, May 19 at 7 p.m. in the Lake Zurich Fire Department. With the new proposal, there would be an additional 30 "feeders" or circuits for connections to many areas in and around the village.

Earth Fair nearing at Warren High

GURNEE—Warren Twp. High School's Mother Earth Concerned Students (MECS) will be hosting the annual Earth Fair May 1. Prices are: $2 for adults, $1 for students and children under age five are free. Free admission is granted to those bringing St. Vincent De Paul's Give-Away Store. The event, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., will feature Jerry Hinckley, biology professor at the College of Lake County who will present slides on "Biodiversity in Central America" and GAIA theatre, performing environmental skits.

Supporters Ready to March for the schools

LAKE COUNTY—A march on Springfield is being organized to protest Illinois' current funding of school budgets. Representatives from throughout Lake County will descend on Springfield May 5. The marchers hope to gather 1 million people for the rally. Local marchers hope to meet with local legislators when they reach Springfield.

Bacterial infection killing Chain fish

FOX LAKE—As if the flooding was not enough to keep Chain O' Lakes residents busy, several thousand dead fish are washing up along beaches and piers due to a bacterial infection caused by overpopulation. Illinois Department of Conservation Fishery Biologist Harvey Brown wants area Chain fishermen and residents to relax. There is nothing polluting the water or killing the fish unnaturally. According to Brown, the bass population in the Chain has grown too large for the lakes to handle. It is this competition for food and space that has stressed the fish.

Weber recognized as manager of the year

WAUCONDA — Tom Weber, working as Emergency Services Deputy in Wauconda for about 10 years, was named 1992 Emergency Services Manager of the Year, and received an award for his services to the community and his help with providing disaster plans and improving safety areas in the village. Even though Weber has achieved that "once in a lifetime," he said his services to the community will continue to increase. Weber expressed his thanks to all members of the community and village officials "for putting faith in my ability."

LEADING THE WAY...

Basic car tune-ups are necessary, easy

With more and more cars featuring advanced electronic systems, many consumers think a basic tune-up is either unnecessary or too hard to do. Not true.

A basic tune-up is as necessary and easy as ever before. In addition, a tune-up can help maintain peak engine performance and gas mileage from season to season and contribute to a cleaner environment.

Spark plug wear

If you are a DIYer—or ready to become one—your spring tune-up should include checking or changing spark plugs and spark plug wires.

There are usually telltale signs of spark plug wear. Plugs are probably still good if there are just light tan or brown deposits on the electrode and insulator tip.

A heavy deposit which is either sooty or oily, however, indicates the plugs could foul soon and should be replaced. In addition, if the electrodes are rounded off due to erosion, the plugs are worn and should be replaced.

Lastly, if your car takes longer to start, or if it stalls, or runs sluggishly, it's probably time to change your plugs.

Check wire sets

While working on spark plugs, check your wire sets. Inspect wires carefully for cuts, cracks, brittleness or signs of oil saturation. Another sign that new wires may be needed: your car won't start or it stalls in wet weather.

It's easy to change plugs and wire sets at the same time because you have to remove the wires to get to the plugs. You just stick to one cylinder at a time.

When preparing to change your plugs and wires, the first thing to do, is line up the tools you'll need: a screwdriver to remove wires from the loom or holder and a spark plug wrench with a universal and extension to remove and replace the old plugs. Use a rag to clean around the spark plug hole and silicone grease/lube for the spark plug boot connection.

Changing plugs and wires

- Beginning with the longest wire, carefully remove the spark plug wire from the plug. (Hint: Don't grab the wire and yank. Use your fingers or pliers to grip the boot and twist.)

- Clean in and around the plug hole with a clean rag. You can also use a straw to blow loose dirt away from the hole.

- Remove the old plug with the spark plug wrench. If your plugs are difficult to access, you may have to use the universal and extension piece.

- If using a spark plug torque wrench, check your owner's manual for the correct torque.

- Install new plug.
- Remove the other end of the wire from the distributor cap, if applicable, and attach the new wire.

- Apply silicone grease to the inside of the boot.
- Attach the boot carefully to the plug.

- Route the wire and attach it to the clip.

- Repeat the above steps for each plug and wire until all have been changed.

If you plan to use a wire feeler gauge to check plug gap or a torque wrench, if available, to install the new plugs, refer to your owner's manual for the correct settings.

If you install the new plugs with a spark plug wrench, make sure the plugs are clean and dry. Then, tighten the plug with your fingers until it is snug and consult your owner's manual.

Easy car care quiz

Car troubles can be deceiving. It often takes an astute, well equipped technician to track down the source of a problem. But some of the most common difficulties can be diagnosed with a little common sense by the owner. Such is the case in this series of five situations suggested by the Car Care Council. Each question has three correct answers.

1. If the tread on your tires is wearing:

- a. tire pressure is incorrect.
- b. the car has binding ball joints.
- c. the wheels are out of balance.

2. If your turn signal doesn't flash properly, the reason could be:

- a. a burned out bulb.
- b. a bad connection.
- c. a defective flasher.
- d. an inoperative ignition switch.

3. Three reasons for a car to become a "gas-hog" are:

- a. a dirty air filter.
- b. the power steering belt is adjusted too tight.
- c. low tire pressure.
- d. worn spark plugs.

4. The reasons your brakes may squeal or vibrate are:

- a. oil on the brake linings.
- b. worn disc brake pads or linings.
- c. normal vibrations set up by semi-metallic linings.
- d. loose components on one or more wheels.

5. A battery goes dead because of:

- a. old age.
- b. a faulty alternator.
- c. excessive high speed.

Answer key

- 1. All but "b" are correct.
- 2. All but "d" are correct.
- 3. All but "b" are correct.
- 4. All but "a" are correct.
- 5. All but "c" are correct.

No Bus Wait

Thank you Kathy Kirsh for the incredible job as transportation director for the Woodland School. Our children arrive at school within ten minutes of each other instead of an hour. When school is dismissed, all the children board waiting buses. Thank you Kathy for your brilliant plan.

Bad Man

This is directed to the thoughtless people who walk their dogs and allow them to relieve themselves on public and private property. A select few carry dog bags for pick up, but they are the minority. Most of you walk your dogs in the early AM or after dark. Are you just cowardly and wish to be inconspicuous? The mess you leave is disgusting. I do not want your dog in my yard. The school fence line on Minerva is a dog latrine! This is wrong. I have noticed that men are more often guilty of being bad pet owners.

Grateful Resident

I want to say good work to the volunteers of the Round Lake Area's lake committee for their efforts in cleaning up Round Lake. I recently observed those people picking up garbage, pop cans, and litter along the lakeside. Maybe people will help them out and not litter so much.

Spell It Right

This is to Lipservice! You need a spell check. Do you even know what a gyro's is? I doubt it! A few weeks ago you screwed up another message I had left. Please get a spell check.

Pay Now Or Later

It is ironic that the people of Antioch have decided to vote down the high school referendum. It is obvious they feel that they would rather put money into their pockets, although the net effect will be less money in their pockets. Ultimately, home values will decrease because no one will want to move to town because of the school problems. I've got to believe that since the referendum did not pass that home values are already decreasing. It will probably pass some day, but it will cost everyone more money in the long run.

Get Used To It

Steven Magnusen, Director of Public Works for Libertyville was quoted as saying that "residents are used to it" in referring to the atrocity of a railroad crossing at the north end of town. Though the Village may not be responsible for its maintenance, it is my opinion that they should pursue its rebuilding. It is in the best interest of the Village that they do so.

Just Take It Back

This is to "Unhappy Birthday". I am sorry that the person did not have a happy birthday, but it was kind of stupid to wait four days. If you buy food or anything and get home to discover it is wrong, you take it back! Again, sorry you had an unhappy birthday but let's try and use our brains.

Bring Your Ideas

The Wauconda District 118 referendum failed but is not dead. If you are not in favor of this referendum and building the school at the west end of the district, you are not being represented by the present school board. The school board is welcoming the public input. They want you to express your concern and pass along ideas about the over-crowding. There is no doubt that something needs to be done. Whatever is done needs to come from the community and not be decided solely by the school board. There will be a number of meetings, the first of which is May 13 beginning at 6:30 p.m. Please bring your ideas!

Slow Down

This is in response to "Near Miss". Wake up! The speed limit in a residential area is twenty-five miles per hour. If you are obeying the speed limit laws you would clearly see the stop sign. We have thirty-five children that live in one block area of this stop sign at Clarendon and North Channel. Slow down!

Too Busy?

I understand Mr. Hampel and Mr. Weiler's concerns about Wauconda. The whole town should have those concerns. Please remember Mr. Eschenbauch, you only won by twenty-nine votes. I am also wondering why you have been unable to comment. Is it because you can't? (Continued on page 23)

Strategy takes shape as base returns to list

Lake County has until early summer to prove its point — Great Lakes Naval Training Center should not be closed. Hours after the federal Base Closure and Realignment Commission allegedly placed Great Lakes on the "hit list" for termination, Lake County Chairman Robert Depke (R-Gurnee) and VOICE co-chairman Ron Weeks called a conference to discuss the committee's decision.

organization, has never let up on its efforts to fight for Great Lakes, Weeks noted. "We have not slowed in our efforts to fight for the existence of Great Lakes. Even after the base was off the Department of Defense list, we continued to work," Weeks said.

Mother Nature's way

Overpopulation leads to young fish dying off

Lakeland Newspapers

As if the flooding was not enough to keep Chain O' Lakes residents busy, several thousand dead fish are washing up along beaches and piers due to a bacterial infection caused by overpopulation.

Illinois Department of Conservation Fishery Biologist Harvey Brown wants area Chain fishermen and residents to relax. There is nothing polluting the water or killing the fish unnaturally.

"What we are seeing is Mother Nature's way of reducing a high population of a variety of fish," said Brown. "We would be worried if it was more than one kind of fish with the same symptoms as the yellow bass we've found."

According to Brown, the bass population in the Chain has grown too large for the lakes to handle. It is this competition for food and space that has stressed the fish.

"The fish have had a lot to be stressed about this spring," said Brown.

The over stressed fish also had to deal with a late thaw and little food to munch on once the lakes opened up. Brown believes the stressed fish became susceptible to bacterial disease, like the one that is killing the weaker fish in record numbers.

"This is not a pollution problem," said Brown. "Once the population stabilizes in the lakes, the fish that are left will be stronger, bigger, and better able to survive in the Chain."

So, fishermen, that big one that got away last summer will still be out there and will probably be bigger than ever.

Pedersen retires from State Bank of Antioch

State Bank of Antioch Board Member and vice-chairman of the bank's board of directors Robert H. Pedersen retired from the bank after 11 years on the board.

Pedersen is an owner-partner, with his brother Alfred, of Pedersen Bros. Implement Co. of Antioch since 1946. Pedersen's father founded the company in 1937. He attended the University of Illinois prior to his service as a pilot during World War II. Pedersen is a retired Lt. Colonel of the United States Air Force.

Pedersen's participation in community affairs has included membership in the Antioch Lions Club, Waukegan Elks Club, Antioch VFW, Glen Flora Country Club, American Legion, and St. Peter's Church.

Pedersen is a life-long resident of Antioch and lives in the village with his wife Eileen. The Pedersen's have three children, a son Gregory, Pedersen Bros. vice-president of Parts and Technology, married to Susan, and two daughters, Mrs. John (Sandra) Bonn of Fort Dodge, Iowa and Mrs. Stephen (Cynthia) Hays of Red Oak, Iowa, four grandchildren, Diane, Kimberly, Brent, and Brad.

Pedersen was honored by bank officials, including Bank President Randy Miles, at a luncheon at the Antioch Golf Club/Hogan's Restaurant.

Dist 34 EAV has lowest increase in seven years

Lakeland Newspapers

The equalized assessed valuation for Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34 received only a modest increase for the 1993-94 school year, causing a $88,000 reduction in state funding for next year.

According to Assistant Superintendent Dr. Daniel Burke, the school's 1992 EAV is $211,574,739, which is only a $13,790,973 increase from 1991.

"The seven percent increase in EAV is the smallest we've had in seven years," said Burke. "This will severely impact our budget for next year because we will be getting less funding from the state."

Burke doesn't envision real serious problems, like those facing the school's district's larger neighbor, Antioch Community High School.

"We don't really expect those types of problems for the 1993-94 school year," said Burke. "But, after that, who knows what will happen."

Goodbye gift

Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton shows off a clock he received as a gift for his years of service to the community. Wilton chose not to run for re-election to the village.

Antioch 'Wheels For Life'

Deacon Bob Gagnon has been named coordinator for the Antioch "Wheels For Life" bike-a-thon by the St. Jude's Research Hospital. The ride will be held Saturday, May 15.

The purpose of the ride is to generate money through per mile pledges. After obtaining pledges the riders attempt to ride as many miles as possible.

The bike-a-thon will begin at the northwest corner of Antioch Community High School. The riders will then proceed down Depot Street to Anita, past Centennial Park to the water tower.

This year's bike-a-thon is dedicated to Ryan Martin of Waxhaw, North Carolina.

Ryan was diagnosed with Wilm's tumor on both of his kidneys. After the removal of one kidney and chemotherapy, Ryan is now cancer free and only has annual checkups.

For more information on the bike-a-thon or to find out how you can help, call Bob Gagnon at 395-3024. Pledge packets are available at his office at 376 Lake Street.

Artistic talent runs in the McCarthy family

Congratulations are in order for five-year old Megan McCarthy, who recently entered the Crayola Easter coloring contest at the Jewel-Osco in Antioch.

She did a fine job and her efforts were rewarded by winning first place in her age category. The prize was a Crayola Create A Critter art set. Talent runs in the McCarthy family as at Christmas time her sister Rebecca won first place in the Advertiser coloring contest.

Megan and Rebecca are more than sisters, they are twins and they both draw and color very beautifully. It looks like their younger sisters Emily and Courtney will have a hard act to follow.

However, something tells me that with mom on the scene to offer encouragement, they will meet the challenge. Congratulations, Megan!

GLS board meeting

The April 13th meeting of the Grass Lake School Board was well attended. Many items were discussed and/or approved.

The Board was up-dated on the Space Simulation Project, Reading Recovery Successes, Participation in the Great America 600 Minute Reading Club and principal, Ginny Mann, reported on all of the scheduled end of the year special activities.

The Board discussed policies related to a smoke-free school and details for summer school and tutoring were also on the agenda.

LIZ SCHMEHL

The Board approved the hiring of Sheryl Panek as softball coach, Steve Brown as temporary bus driver and Patty Wennstrom as lunch-room supervisor.

Board member Sally Hiller reported on SEDOL and the Board received committee reports from the Playground Committee, Curriculum Committee, Recognition Committee and the Discipline Committee.

The next scheduled meeting of the GLS Board will be Tuesday, May 11th at 7:30 P.M. in the Media Center.

Secret keeper

After de-boarding the luxurious cruise ship, Marie Brausam and her family extended their vacation by spending a few extra days in Florida.

As Marie walked along the beach she heard a little voice exclaim "Miss Marie!" It was little Tiffany Milholovich who was vacationing with her family, proving it's a small world after all. They had both been looking for seashells and also found each other.

Upon her return to Camp Crayon, little Tiffany brought back two seashells for each of her friends and also kept the secret of her chance meeting with Miss Marie until sharing time in our activity circle. Good job Tiffany!

Emmons School

will be held on May 5, at Emmons School. If your child will be 5-years old by Sept. 1, 1993, contact the school for more information pertaining to this kindergarten round-up.

Don't tell

During our activity circle at Camp Crayon, we also celebrate the children's birthdays. The celebration begins by bringing our birthday tree into the center of the circle.

I then announce that I will be giving clues as to the identity of the birthday person. I remind the birthday people not to reveal who they are as we want the other children to guess.

When little Zachary Garcia recently turned four, I made the usual announcement—"We have a birthday. Remember, birthday person, don't tell anyone who you are yet." Up went Zachary's hand. Again I issued the secretive directive. Now he began to wave his hand and call my name.

This exchange of "Don't Say anything birthday person," being met by his wiggly little hand went on for about ten different directives. Finally I acknowledge him thinking he was surely going to say "Miss Liz, it is my birthday." I inquired, "Yes, Zachary?" You can imagine my surprise when he asked "Miss Liz, what's a clue?" Once again, out of the mouths of babes.

Fun evening

If you would like to participate in a fun evening tomorrow, May 1, contact Cathy Milovanovic to see if she has any last minute Grass Lake School P.T.O.

Dinner Dance tickets available. Cathy's number is 395-5850. This year's dinner dance will be held at Sail Inn in Fox Lake and the fun activities will continue from about 6 p.m. until midnight.

If you already have your ticket, have a good time and please remember that drinking and driving do not mix.

Please don't

A Spring or Summertime visit to our Eagle River home usually produces a bath for our dogs, Andrew and Bertha.

For whatever reasons Andrew very rarely looks like nor smells like he needs a bath. The exact opposite is true of Bertha. As Jim, Jr. picked up on Bertha's greasy coat and offensive odor he suggested I bathe her before our return trip home. In between chores I called to Jim for assistance in bathing our 80 pound Golden Retriever mutt.

I wasn't even near the wash area, yet she immediately put her tail between her legs and tried to bury herself under a chair. We fastened her leash to her collar and it literally took both of us to drag, push and pull her to the bathing sink.

What a strange reaction from a dog who lives in the lake in summer time. We finally positioned her in front of the wash tubs and I turned on the water. She literally looked depressed and even suicidal during the entire event.

The water was luke warm. I wet her down and poured on the shampoo. I rubbed the soap into the fur on her back, neck, abdomen, legs and tail. When I adjusted the water to begin the major rinse cycle, she tried to bolt away, but Jim restrained her.

Andrew came to her and licked her snout as if to say "relax and enjoy, Bertha, it's not so bad and I'm next." We towed dried her and released her. She shook and rolled and rolled and shook.

Two days later she was still mad at us and avoided us as much as possible. Dumb dogs indeed!

Women's club

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club would like to thank everyone for making their New Year's Eve "Puttin' on the Ritz" a wonderful success.

Special thanks are extended to the Club's Ways and Means Committee headed by Fran and Patti Antonelli. Because of the success of this function a $3,000 check was given to the Antioch Rescue Squad.

The profits from the December cookie sale allowed the club to build a storage shed for the Antioch Head-start Program. The Antioch Junior Woman's Club holds their meetings at St. Stephen's Lutheran Church.

For information regarding club membership, please call 395-3152.

Her opinion

I received the following card from a friend. I won't tell you which one but I'll give these clues. She recently turned 50 and lives "in the city."

The front of the card read "I think we're close enough that we can talk about our friendship without feeling embarrassed."

I hope I won't make you uncomfortable when I go one step further and say those three little words that really sum up how I feel about having you as a friend." (How nice I thought and then I opened the card to read the three words.) "You're darn lucky!" Yep, What would I do without my friends.

Women's Golf League to begin play, May 4

The State Bank of Antioch Women's Golf League held their opening luncheon at Spring Valley Country Club on April 20. Actual play will begin Tuesday, May 4. Members are asked to be at the club by 7:30 a.m. that day.

At a brunch held the previous Friday by President Alvera Morgan, the basic organization for the year was planned by the officers and board. Besides the regular weekly play by the league there will be three monthly awards luncheons, a Mixer in June, a Fun Day at Rivermoore Country Club in July and a closing awards banquet in September.

Officers for the year are: President Alvera Morgan; Vice President Marge Warner; Treasurer Doris Mittleheuser and Secretary June Hohs.

With a total of 45 women signed up, it is hoped that at least three more will join to play regularly. Any number of substitutes can be used. Anyone interested in joining either as a regular or a substitute, call either Alvera Morgan, 395-3598 or June Hohs at 395-4223 as soon as possible. A handicap can be established by playing 3 nines at Spring Valley.

Village Board of Trustees in accordance with the clearly expressed will of its citizens, opposes the issuance of a riverboat casino gambling license to the Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership.

While the resolution is not binding on the Illinois Gaming Commission, the Commission does take local sentiment into consideration when actually granting licenses.

According to the ARC, 62 percent of the voters from the Village of Antioch and 61 percent of the voters from Antioch Township stated by their vote that they were opposed to the development of the riverboat casino.

However, several representatives from the Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership indicated that they intended to press on with their application for a riverboat casino license at the Fox River site.

Tom Carney, an officer of the Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership pointed out that the riverboat plan is a county project as opposed to a village issue. While he admitted that there were some "valid citizen concerns," he indicated that they would continue to work on the project.

"Everyone is entitled to their opinion," Carney stated, but he expressed the partnership's desire to continue working with the village.

Bud Scott, the community relations representative from the partnership, suggested that the crime statistic projections and safety issues had been distorted. He assured the Board that despite the vote they will ultimately prove to be "good neighbors."

March

buses pack up and leave ACHS for Springfield. The rally participants will be at the Capitol at around 11:30 a.m., in plenty of time for the scheduled rally time of 1-3 p.m., according to ACHS Communications Director Mollie Hughes.

"ACHS is participating in the rally because we want to tell our legislators 'We want a solution to the deterioration of our schools, and we want it now,'" said Hughes. "We expect a number of ACHS students and Antioch residents to participate."

Dist. 117 voters just rejected a referendum that would have enabled the district to balance the school's budget without cutting student activity programs by 1994-95. ACHS would benefit from any other form of funding besides property tax increases, of which Dist. 117 have said are high enough already.

People interested in participating in the march and rally are encouraged to call ACHS at 395-1421 for more information.

Lindenhurst Blitz goes 2-0

The Lindenhurst Soccer Club Girls Traveling Teams weekend results are: The U-14 Blitz went 2-0 with a 4-1 victory at home over the St. Charles Celtics. It was a very physical contest with the Blitz defense cutting off the St. Charles attack. Blitz goals were scored by Stacie Moley (2), Becca Bleyer (1), and Carrie Gofron (1).

The U-12 Power dropped a tough decision to visiting Naperville 3-1, a strong game was played by both teams with the Power dominating the first half, but unable to ripple the net the power goal was scored by Terry LaRoche.

The U-10 Lightning

played two games on the road, one a make-up game. Game one against top-rated sports club was a hard fought 4-0 defeat. Game two was an excellently played game against Royal Midwest, with a strong performance by the Lightning. The final was Royal Midwest 2 and the Lightning 1.

School unrest persists

Serving on school board toughest elective position there is.

There are dangers in interpreting "prevailing wisdom." That's why explaining away school referenda defeats as an example of taxpayer anger over increasing taxes is inaccurate or only partially correct at best. There's more to the story.

In the case of Antioch High School, where voters drubbed both a tax rate increase and a $25 million building proposition in balloting April 20, the defeats represent an erosion of voter confidence in school management and the public school system in general as well as anger over mounting taxes. To a degree, the same can be said for school proposition defeats April 20 in the Round Lake area, Wauconda Unit Dist. and Gavin Dist. of Ingleside, for example.

Even where a tax increase for more building carried, as in the case of Stevenson High School, there is so much resentment and anger on the part of the losers that turmoil is likely to exist for years. Many voters among the 3,329 losers at Stevenson feel the administration acted prematurely and irresponsibly in cramming a building program down their throats that won't be needed for another seven or eight years.

Those who hold to "prevailing wisdom," along with teachers, administrators and school board members in districts where there is discontent and dissatisfaction are missing the point. They fail to see that other reasons for school opposition on the part of voters, besides rising taxes, involve dissatisfaction with the product being produced and a growing realization on the part of voters that the public school system is a captive of special interest groups like unions and professional organizations. More and more voters express themselves simply by voting no on any school issue coming down the pike.

Dealing with this dilemma isn't easy, but one way is getting more knowledgeable and better qualified persons elected to local school boards. No one likes to talk about it, especially school officials themselves, but there is a direct correlation between harmony and success and the quality of school board members. Voters simply have to put better qualified and more experienced persons on school boards. Too many board members are overwhelmed by the tasks facing them these days, especially when they confront militant unionists and well financed builders and developers opposed to much needed impact fees.

By the time summer arrives, another election campaign will be taking shape—the November school elections. The time is at hand again for voters to prepare for hard decisions. School board elections can't be popularity contests. Citizens have to elect board members who understand union politics, demand productivity and are not swayed by pressure groups.

The demands of the job make serving on a school board the most difficult elected office today.

'Home Alone' philosophy encouraged by society

The recent real life account of "Home Alone," is a powerful example of the declining values within the American family.

Commentary

The rage, disbelief and other emotions which have surfaced in the wake of the Shoo story are to be questioned for sure.

Landfill in future

Editor:

Fox Lake officials should be ashamed of the inconsistent manner in which they approach critical decisions regarding their community.

Recent articles have documented official concern about the "eyesores" on Rollins Rd., an old concrete plant. Yet there seems to be no concern at all for the health and safety of citizens regarding what will be the next village 'eyesore,' the asphalt plant. Officials profess concern for the maintenance of local waterways, the biggest natural asset of Fox Lake. Damage that cannot be seen by tourists, the poisoning of the water table by excavation and asphalt processing, is of no concern to local officials.

At open hearings, residents' concerns about the uses of the property south of town have been curtly dismissed by Fox Lake officials. Time has been inadequate to cover all issues. A major question remaining unanswered, however, is the final restoration of the property. How have other communities filled those huge holes left by the mining operations? Garbage. Fox Lake officials plan not only to ignore all current health concerns, but plan also to defile the land permanently with a landfill.

Inappropriate language

Editor:

During a local radio program, Gurnee Mayoral Candidate Meg Skalla insulted the Exchange Clubs of Gurnee and the citizens of Gurnee by referring to the open forum sponsored by the Breakfast Exchange Club of Gurnee as a "gang bang." This accusation is an unfounded as her selection of language is inappropriate.

The Exchange Clubs of America is a National service organization whose community service projects promote Americanism, Child Abuse Prevention, and Crime/Fire Prevention. The open forum was sponsored by the Breakfast Exchange Club as a community service project to provide a public forum for the candidates to answer questions and express their views. All questions were submitted by the audience during the forum. All candidates were informed of the format prior to the forum and the club did not receive any complaints until Skalla's radio statements.

Skalla owes the citizens of Gurnee and both Gurnee Exchange Clubs an apology for her childish and untrue remarks. Service organizations who sponsor events as a community service should not be made the scapegoat for a candidate's apparent dissatisfaction with her performance.

San Diego won't miss loss of Navy recruits

by BILL SCHROEDER

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Even to a casual visitor, California's second largest city is a military bastion, home of the largest military complex in the free world, home to more than 80 major military shore commands and more than 100 ships, representing nearly one-sixth of the Navy's entire combatant fleet and nearly one-third of the U.S. Pacific fleet.

After spending a few days here as part of a delegation from the Illinois Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve—"Bosslift"—I came away wondering who would notice if the San Diego Naval Training Center would close as is a possibility under base closure provisions.

As a member of the civilian committee working to save Great Lakes Naval Training Center, I was prepared to view San Diego as the "enemy." That was impossible considering the hospitality and friendliness extended by armed forces personnel hosting 40 "escapees" from one of the midwest's coldest and wettest springs in years.

Considering previous visits to this metropolitan area situated only a few miles from a foreign nation, San Diego always seems to have the red carpet out and a warm greeting for visitors.

Jackets and sweaters were shed quickly as the Illinois delegates enjoyed 70 plus degree weather for the first time since last fall while viewing a U.S. Coast Guard demonstration of a helicopter rescue at sea. Before checking into quarters at the Naval Amphibious Base, Coronado, the visitors toured the USS New Orleans, a "floating airport," a 600 foot long ship with a crew of 600 designed to carry 2,000 fully equipped Marines into combat aboard 23 helicopters carried on the flight deck or stored in a hanger. That's exactly what the New Orleans did in the Persian Gulf two years ago, the only navy ship to land Marines in combat.

The next morning, the midwesterners were bused to the U.S. Customs facility at Otay-Mesa on the Mexican border where we got a first-hand view of the nation's most modern port of entry and were conducted on a tour by Port Director Jim Purser. Every day some 4,000 persons walk across the border and 10,000 to 14,000 vehicles pass from one country to another. Then it was off to the San Diego Marine Recruit Depot for lunch in a recruit mess hall.

Even though he could relax (orders from his DI), Pvt. Mike Myers, 20, of DeKalb had difficulty not saying No, Sir and Yes, Sir every other word. Between bites of a tasty hot meal, the third generation Marine described how he not only is surviving Marine Corps boot training, but enjoying the rigors of the 12-week session and thriving. With two more weeks to go, Myers had already gained 20 pounds.

The afternoon was rounded out with a visit to the Miramar Naval Air Station, "Fighter Town USA" and home of the famed Top Gun pilots. Lt. Cmdr. Mark Poole, an E-2C Hawkeye early warning pilot and a professional golfer in civilian life, and Lt. Cmdr. Glenn McGill, a Navy regular attached to a F-14 squadron, related how crack reservists support the fleet at about 25 percent of the cost. With his two sons waiting in the wings for dad to take them to Little League practice, Poole described how the reserve unit made up of airline pilots, doctors, lawyers, business types and "one golf pro" acquires itself nicely during two week summer duty. "We can kick butt," Poole beamed proudly.

While Great Lakes is in a tug-of-war with San Diego and the Orlando Naval Training Center, Miramar is targeted by local politicians as San Diego's new airport and the centerpiece of a debate whether the city should upgrade cozy Lindbergh Field or move some 20 miles eastward to the field where the Top Guns do their stuff. The Navy is said to willingly vacate Miramar. Who then is objecting to the closure of the San Diego NTC?

If the Illinois visitors had more time (a week?), we might have been able to visit other Navy installations like the Naval Hospital, Pacific Fleet Surface Headquarters, the submarine base at Point Loma, the amphibious base, shipyard repair docks and more.

Impact of Navy-Marine operations on the San Diego economy would put a third world nation to shame. With a new wave of down-sizing due to take place, military population is 134,000; civilian federally connected employees total 28,000. Navy contracts to San Diego businesses annually exceed $1 billion. As recently as 1990, Dept. of Defense contracts to San Diego businesses exceeded $3.7 billion.

As a coastal city, San Diego is a logical home for a great deal of Navy activity, but recruiting training could be shifted to Lake County, if the Dept. of Defense so decides, with little or no repercussions to the civilian community. Conversely, with its potential and vast surge capabilities, the Great Lakes military community could take on additional training responsibilities in stride.

With palm trees and sunshine in abundance, San Diego doubtlessly is a great place to visit or serve your country. But the abundance of palm trees and sunshine has to be a distracting influence on homesick prone midwestern recruits used to frigid winters, water-logged springs and searing summers. Advantage Great Lakes. Hope the guys in the Pentagon are listening.

Hostile tax laws, anti-family policies, pre-school, before and after day care, even corporate America through their own day care centers have done much to acclimate parents to alternative child care arrangements.

In fact, many parents have grown so accustomed to others caring for their young that it's not uncommon for children to be apart from their parents far as much as 80 percent of the time during the work week.

As our society places less value on nurturing and more on material gain, a growing number of parents find themselves tempted to leave their children to their own devices. This kind of value system is the result of the past several decades where mothers have been told it's OK to leave their child. Not only is it OK, but perhaps better according to so-called experts. In recent weeks there have been reports which say that institutional day care is preferable to a mother's love at home.

With this kind of convoluted thinking out there, how crazy would it be to rationalize leaving one's children in the care of itself? If you think this is to be extreme go browse through your local bookstore where you will find books like, "The Handbook for Latchkey Children and Parents." A book entitled, "About Latchkey Children" is said to have "insight" and "helpful" suggestions in preparing children for "self-care." Yes, even literary gems such as "On My Own" and "Safe At Home-Safe Alone" are available to parents contemplating trips to the Caribbean (without the kids, of course). Even more sad, is the endorsements these books are getting from various sectors of our society, including churches!

Let's not kid ourselves. The Shoo family is not that different from a lot of other two income families. Most of these families work to have more money, not because there's not enough.

Perhaps their children will have more wealth, but things can never replace a parent's love. Without love, we will one day find ourselves dealing with a generation of psychotic adults who are incapable of loving. The results are too frightening to imagine.

than blades of grass growing in the township.

Let me set the record straight. In 1991 the village issued eight single family building permits and in 1992 we issued 10. The supervisor of Lake Villa Township does not control the houses built in the township. The growth you are seeing in the township along Monaville Rd. near Rte. 83 and Cedar Lake Rds. are being done in Lake Villa Township but are under the control of the Village of Round Lake Beach.

As mayor I was portrayed as going for the bucks. I have worked for the village for 12 years as mayor at $1,500 per year. Why would I have worked that long for that little if I wanted more bucks?

Come on Lake Villa Township. Wake up and stop being influenced by junk mail. If the fliers you receive are not signed, stop wasting your time. Throw them out.

I will continue to serve my village and will be active in the township.

ini. I remain vehemently opposed to the development.

I voted for Jim Fields for township supervisor, who is on public record in favor of the development. In my opinion, he was the best qualified candidate. There was more at stake in this election than the riverboat issue. This vote for Fields does not diminish my vote against the riverboat.

I most strongly object to the erroneous interpretation of the developer and his staff who are quoted in local and city papers. They are claiming victory in spite of the negative vote on gambling. They are saying the voters sent them a "mixed message" when they elected Fields. Developer Glenn Seidenfeld stated: "We're not deterred in the slightest..." Well, Seidenfeld, neither are we. Your actions remind me of the story of the school principal who was being run out of town. In a face-saving move, he simply acted like he was leading the parade.

If you are as incensed as I am at this erroneous arrogant conclusion, please join me in directing your remarks to Morton Friedman, Illinois Gaming Board, 160 N. LaSalle, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

LAKE COUNTY HOME PROGRAM PUBLIC NOTICE OF FUNDING AVAILABILITY

The Lake County Affordable Housing Commission announces the availability of $718,850 in HOME Program funds. The purpose of the HOME Program is to increase the supply of housing available to very-low and low-income households in Lake County.

Eligible applicants include: governmental agencies; not-for-profit; and for-profit organizations. Applications from individuals (for projects which benefit themselves) will not be accepted.

The goals and priorities of the HOME Program are outlined in the HOME Program Guidelines. All projects must conform to the current rules and regulations of the federal HOME Investment Partnerships Act.

Qualified not-for-profit organizations are encouraged to apply for certification as a Community Housing Development Organization to qualify for set-aside funds.

To request a HOME Program Application or Guidelines call 708-360-6350.

Legislators cop-out of home care rally

Curtis Robinson, a 31-year-old quadriplegic, was in two nursing homes before finally getting a personal assistant from the Department of Rehabilitation Services (DORS).

Donna and Ray Kremen, both suffering from multiple sclerosis, were turned down for home care assistance because the department was "not opening new cases."

Eddie Quinn gave up a good job in Wisconsin to become a personal assistant to his mother so she wouldn't have to live in a nursing home after several strokes. He now makes $4.65 an hour to support them both.

Alberta Stombaugh, 74, has worked for three years without a vacation as a DORS personal assistant.

They told their stories at a town meeting April 24 at the Center for Independent Living in Mundelein. The testimony was designed to convince local legislators of the need for funding of independent living home care programs.

Problem was...the legislators didn't show up.

The cost of home care is about one-third the cost of care in a nursing home.

NISRA finalist for helping people with disabilities

Lakeland Newspapers

The Northern Illinois Special Recreation Association (NISRA) was selected one of the top three finalists to receive the 1993 National Gold Medal Award for services to people with disabilities.

Though they will not know who won until October, members of the association are thrilled to be considered.

"This is a huge deal for us," said Brian Shahinian, executive director of NISRA. "This recognition belongs to all the members, organizations, parents, everyone involved.

"They should be commended for recognizing the need for seeing that people with disabilities receive similar quality parks and recreation service," he added.

NISRA serves nine communities, providing services to anyone of any age and any disability who cannot successfully participate in municipal recreation programs since 1976.

"It really was an awareness by park districts that they were not equipped to appropriately serve all residents that we came about," Shahinian said. "We couldn't possibly provide the service without their support."

The Gold Medal Award represents the most outstanding community recreation program in the country, according to Shahinian. Deerborn Parks and Recreation in Deerborn, Mich. and New Britain Parks and Recreation in New Britain, Conn. are the other nominees.

NISRA received the award for their services in 1987.

Currently, NISRA is trying to expand its wheelchair sports activities with golf and wheelchair training. As summer approaches, the association also is gearing up for its summer camp sites, one of which will be at the Beach House in Wauconda.

"It's an ideal site with the lake," said Shahinian.

NISRA is an extension of two park districts in Lake County: Wauconda Park District and Barrington Park District.

The Association was nominated by Joannie Lin, manager of Play It Again Sports in Crystal Lake.

two months without a bath.

"All I did was watch TV," he said.

With his personal assistant, said Robinson, "I regained the respect I had lost. I'm taking charge of my own life." A resident of Grayslake, Robinson was injured in a car accident.

"You never know what will happen. You may have a lot today but you may have nothing tomorrow."

Donna described the difficulties of living with the relentless progress of MS. She and Ray were married four years ago and have a son who is mentally retarded. They are still waiting for the department to assign them a personal assistant to help during the day.

"Nursing homes are not the solution," she said. "Home care is. It's the only way we're going to get to be 'old married people,'" Donna said.

"I can't afford to get sick," said Quinn. "DORS workers are the only ones without state benefits."

He cares for his mother, Minnie Finch, 24 hours a day and gets paid for eight.

"I'm lucky if I have $20 left after paying all the bills," he said. "If we can band together we will have a louder voice. They have to listen to what we saying."

Stombaugh has been caring for a woman with multiple sclerosis for over a year. During that time she has received no money for transportation and has been forced to buy her own cleaning supplies to use on the job.

"If a person is that dedicated," she said, "DORS should do more." Stombaugh fears she will be out of a job now because the woman will need around-the-clock care while her husband is away and DORS will only pay for eight hours.

House Bill 2392, passed Friday in Springfield, gives a one-time raise of $5 per hour and ongoing cost of living increases to the workers.

Eight legislators were invited and encouraged to attend the town meeting Saturday. None made a personal appearance.

Rep. Lauren Beth Gash sent a representative who assured those attending that Gash was in favor of the proposal. She had voted yes on the bill.

Rep. Al Salvi had voted against the bill last year. He issued a statement promising to vote yes this time. He again voted no.

Those not responding were Representatives Andrea Moore, who voted yes on the bill, and Virginia Frederick, who though present at the legislative session, did not cast a vote.

State Senator Mary Grace Stern issued a statement saying she supported the measure because it was "cost effective".

Senator Adeline Jay Geo-Karis promised to "see how much is in the budget." Neither Senator Dick Klemm nor David Barkhausen acknowledged the meeting. The Senate vote will take place at a later date.

The fight will continue May 13, when advocates will rally in Springfield to take their concerns directly to those who can do something about them.

Worries of child cancer prompts bill in House

Law would prohibit school construction near EMF fields

A bill that would outlaw construction of schools or day care centers where the electromagnetic (EMF) fields exceeds an average of 2 milligauss per day is now in Committee in the House.

The impetus for the bill is the growing

Lakeland Newspapers

scientific evidence that links EMF with cancer and leukemia. The bill H.R. 1494, sponsored by George Miller from California is called "Children's Electromagnetic Field Risk Reduction Act of 1993."

"Studies have shown that the greater the dose of the electromagnetic exposure, the greater the incidence of cancer, particularly children," a statement from the bill says. It says children exposed to EMF of greater than 2 milligauss were three times more likely to develop cancer, and those exposed to 3 milligauss or higher were four times more likely to develop cancer.

"A preponderance of the evidence indicates that EMF do cause cancer," said Jim Pierce, spokesman for Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE). "Most common to young children exposed to high levels of EMF is Leukemia."

The electromagnetic fields cause the body to change and compensate for them. The system can produce biological changes, Pierce said.

EMF is created from electrical and magnetic fields that combine and form a field from the use of electricity. The higher the voltage, or the less protection or covering from the fields, the higher the EMF is going to be.

States such as New York, California and Wisconsin are actively taking measures to reduce EMF. In New York they are burying lines, re configuring and moving lines away from schools, Pierce said.

After surgery, I was amazed how soon I was back at work.

I kept postponing my operation.

Setting aside three to four weeks to recover seemed almost impossible. Then, I learned about the new Laser Care Center of Lake County at Victory Memorial Hospital.

Since 1987, Victory has performed over 2000 successful procedures and has the most extensive selection of lasers in Lake County. And with laser surgery, I experienced less bleeding, swelling and scarring, had less danger of infection, and a much shorter recovery time.

The entire staff of Victory's Surgery Department was wonderful. I was well-informed about procedures and pain management, and they even called me at home afterward to see how I was doing. My doctor says Victory has one of the best organized and most efficient surgical units in the area. He was right. I was really impressed with the care I received.

I hope I don't need any more surgery, but if I do, my choice will always be Victory.

Mother's Day lunch

Love your heart
by CAROLE STERN

This year why not surprise your mother with a luncheon in her honor instead of just a card and flowers. Invite your siblings, their spouses and children and everyone can enjoy the day.

Salmon Ball

1 15 1/2 oz. can salmon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon horseradish
8 ozs. plain low-fat yogurt
1 tablespoon dill
4 green onions
1/2 cup parsley, chopped
cucumber slices and celery sticks

Drain salmon and flake with fork into bowl. Mix in all other ingredients except parsley, cucumber slices, and celery. Shape into ball and roll in parsley flakes. Place on plate surrounded by cucumber slices and celery. Do not freeze this dish.

Serves:10 Per serving: Cholesterol (mg) 1, Fat (gm) 3.0, Calories, 77.

Tenderloin Fillet with Vegetables

Vegetable cooking spray
2/3 cup celery, sliced
1 1/2 cups red bell pepper, cored, seeded, and cut into strips 1/4 in. wide and about 1 1/2 in. long
1 1/2 cups eggplant, peeled and cut into cubes
1 cup romaine lettuce, shredded very fine
1 lb. beef tenderloin, cut into 2/3-in. thick slices
1 cup red wine
black pepper, freshly ground

Spray a large skillet with vegetable cooking spray. Add celery, bell pepper, and eggplant, and cook vegetables on medium-high setting until they are tender but not mushy. Add shredded lettuce and cook another 2 to 3 minutes, stirring frequently.

Transfer vegetables from skillet to a dish, using slotted spoon.

Add meat to skillet in a single layer, without overlapping it. Brown meat quickly, 1 to 2 minutes each side, and transfer it to a dish. Scrape skillet with wooden spoon to loosen any cooking residues and add wine.

Return meat and vegetables to skillet. Add pepper to taste, and cook just long enough to reheat meat and vegetables, no more than 5 minutes. Serve at once, pouring all juices from skillet over meat.

Serves:4 (Recipe can be doubled easily) Per serving: Cholesterol (mg) 64 Fat (gm) 7.2 Calories 219.

Strawberries Romanoff

1 pint fresh strawberries, rinsed and halved, stems removed 3 tablespoons brandy
2 tablespoons Grand Marnier or other orange liqueur
1 teaspoon sunflower oil
1 tablespoon orange zest, grated nutmeg, pinch

Arrange strawberries in four champagne glasses; refrigerate. Combine remaining ingredients in a small saucepan. Cook over medium heat till mixture starts to simmer, about 1 minute. Remove from heat and carefully ignite with a long match. Shake pan well till flames subside, then spoon 1 tablespoon of mixture over each portion of strawberries.

NOTE: Do not freeze this dish.
Serves:4 (Can be doubled easily) Per serving: Cholesterol (mg) 0, Fat (gm) 1.4, Calories 81.

Couple offers new product from old tires

"We sell flat tires guaranteed to stay flat." That's the slogan of a new family run business in Lake Villa where old tires are being recycled into durable doormats.

The new mats won't curl up or roll up, and they will stay put, said Steve Gaspirini who, with his parents Maurice and Debra, manufactures the mats in their home on Hwy. 59.

Working out of their garage, the enterprising and ecological minded family has teamed up to turn the tired treads into a useful product that consumers may never need to throw away.

"I feel I'm helping the environment and building a good product," said Maurice, founder of the nascent enterprise. "I wouldn't put my name on something that wasn't good."

The handcrafted mats are attractive, long lasting and practical, according to Steve who makes most of the mats when not working at full-time construction and landscaping job.

Made of strips of used tire rubber and woven together with rust-proof, hot-dipped galvanized wire, the mats allow dirt and debris to fall through spaces in the mats. Water also drains off the mats keeping them dry, he said.

"They're excellent for use on wood decks because the air gets through," he said.

And the mats are virtually indestructible. "We guarantee them for a lifetime," said Debra who serves as secretary for the business. Debra also books the area crafts show where the Gaspirinis currently market their product.

That's where seven year old daughter Sarah pitches in, Debra said. She's in charge of making signs for the shows, she said. Even baby sister Emily accompanies the family to the shows and is learning the ropes. "Everybody in our family works together on this," Debra said.

The work is hard and time-consuming, said Maurice whose full-time job is a maintenance mechanic for the Village of Libertyville.

First, the used tires have to be cleaned. The next step in making the mats is to cut the sidewall portion of the tires away using a sabre saw. A tire-cutting machine then cuts the tough rubber into long strips, about one-half inch in width, which are then punched with holes. A truck tire can yield a rubber strip up to 175 feet long, Maurice said. Next, the galvanized wire is threaded through the holes and the materials shaped into mats. Maurice said he viewed the process while visiting in New York and then elaborated and refined the system back home.

But the easy part is finding the used tires to recycle. There are supplies aplenty. Gaspirini's chief sources are Morris Tire in Waukegan and Herb's Auto Parts in Antioch. "They are more than willing to give them to us free," said Steve. Otherwise the auto service shops would have to pay someone to take them away, he said. There are literally mountains of tires in junkyards, Maurice said. "If only there were more people recycling." Each year, over 200 million used tires are thrown away, according to a National Wildlife Federation publication.

But the Gaspirinis can only use bias-tires to recycle. There are supplies

Baxter sells area plant to British firm

Lakeland Newspapers

Baxter Healthcare Corporation agreed to sell its Tower Packaging business to a British firm on April 22 and will enter into a long-term supply contract with the world-wide packaging and printing company.

Under the agreement, Bowater plc will acquire the Baxter facility and operate it under its US subsidiary, Rexham Inc. Bowater, which had sales of more than $3 billion in 1992, currently supplies packaging products to 15 Baxter manufacturing facilities worldwide.

"We've been working with Bowater for more than a decade," said Lester Knight, executive vice president of Baxter's hospital business. "In many ways, this transaction is an extension of that relationship. We view it as a long-term partnership, and we will work closely with Bowater to continue to improve quality and manage costs."

Financial terms of the sale were not disclosed, according to Baxter spokesman Geoffrey Fenton.

Tower Packaging, which employs 420 people, makes flexible plastic packaging and other plastic-film products, including sterilization pouches, medical-kit bags, and adhesive entry mats used not only by Baxter, but its products were sold to other healthcare companies as well.

Fenton said, Baxter acquired the business in 1985 as part of the company's merger with American Hospital Supply Corp. The 134,000 square-foot facility is located at 1919 Butterfield Road in Mundelein.

Baxter officials said the sale allows it to better focus its resources and management attention on its core medical product businesses and technologies.

State Farm Insurance announced the awarding of Bob Stengel Agency, Lake Villa to the "Millionaire Club."

Cynthia Rabbitt

Cynthia Rabbitt has been named assistant vice president for

The Nagel Group, Inc., Lake Bluff, the largest owner/operator of self-storage facilities headquartered in the Midwest. In her new position, Rabbitt will have expanded responsibilities in the management of commercial buildings and self-storage facilities. She joined The Nagel Group as assistant property manager in 1990. Rabbitt resides in Lindenhurst with her husband.

New designers

Distinctive Kitchen Designs, Inc. has added two new designers to their staff. Joyce Zuelke, CKD holds a BA in interior design and has more than ten years experience in kitchen and bath design. Susan Ruskan also holds a BA in interior design and has worked in New Jersey before her husband was transferred to this area.

ply tires to make their doormats. Radial tires are not usable because they contain steel belting, Steve said. But the white sidewall portion of any tire can be incorporated as designs into the mats, he said. In addition, custom colors can be added to the mats by using plastic beads, he said.

Larger mats for use on truck beds, horse trailers, and in stables can also be custom ordered.

But the family is focusing on producing doormats for now. Prices for the mats range from $10 to $23.

"I really don't make much (money) at this point," Maurice said. "We're honest and trying to make them at a fair price."

The family is hoping to someday expand the business. "My goal is to do well enough to have a little shop...that's our goal to be there for the community," said Debra.

She said they are looking to expand their designs as well to include letter stenciling on the doormats.

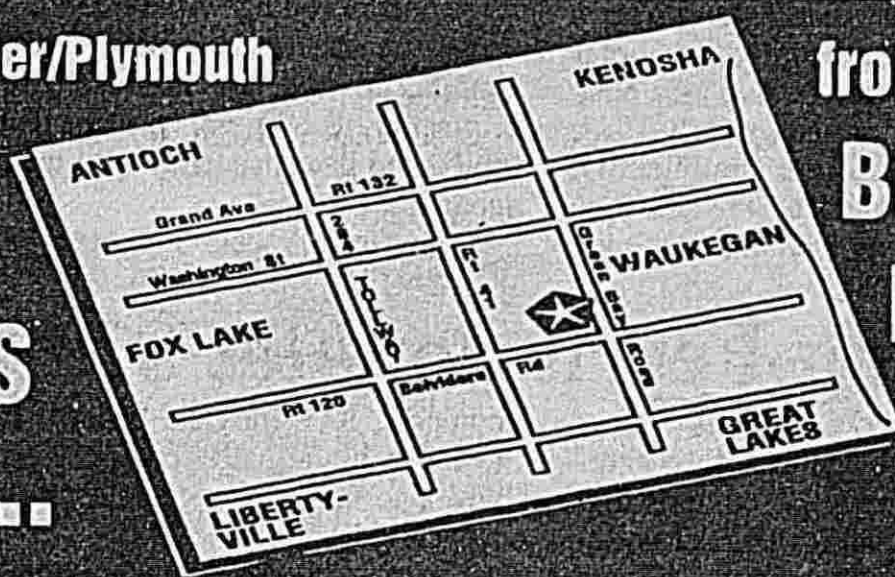

Maurice envisions one day hiring handicapped people to work in their homes on a piecework basis.

The Gaspirinis are showing and selling their wares at the Lake County Fairgrounds on May 22 and 23 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or customers may phone 587-0142.

The mats have to be seen to be appreciated, said Debra. They come in various designs, and a secret process the Gaspirinis use makes the recycled rubber look shiny and new.

Ameritech unveils new signature, new vision

The new Ameritech is getting a new identity, consistent with the company's plan to boldly transform its business around customers and market under a single brand name--Ameritech.

At the company's annual shareowners meeting, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer William L. Weiss unveiled a vibrant new corporate signature, replacing the company's 10-year-old brown and tan logo.

"This is a different company than before," Weiss told shareowners. "We need a new face to our various publics."

During the meeting, the chairman outlined Ameritech's plan to transform from a geographically based structure to one organized around customers. Twelve new business units are being formed by early 1994, each of which will use the new identity. Over the next year and a half, the new logo will appear on company buildings, vehicles, stationery and materials, wherever the logos for Ameritech and its subsidiaries appear today.

Weiss told shareowners that Ameritech's top-to-bottom restructuring, coupled with bold proposals it has made in the regulatory arena, put the company "on the threshold of a wonderful and productive future." He predicted that by regrouping around customers, Ameritech is likely to realize substantially higher revenues.

"Times have changed and so must we, or we'll end up like so many large companies today who make the mistake of clinging to old ways in a storm of change," he explained.

According to Weiss, Ameritech's sweeping proposal with the Federal Communications Commission to bring competition to every part of telecommunications in its region is getting widespread discussion across the country. Regulators and thought leaders, he said, are impressed with "its originality, its fairness, its focus on the customer, and its consistency with the national agenda."

Ameritech is seeking to open local telephone service -- its core business -- to full competition. In exchange, the company plans to provide new services, such as long-distance service and cable television.

Weiss said if the nation is to achieve an advanced, state-of-the-art telephone network, all of the talent and capital resources of the industry must be employed. "That's why all the players have to put on the field and doing their part. And that in turn is why the public interest will best be served by full competition."

Income for the first quarter, excluding special one-time adjustments indicated below, was $337.3 million, up 9.2 percent compared to the first quarter 1992, and earnings per share were $1.25, up 7.8 percent. Revenues were $2.8 billion, up 3.9 percent compared to the same period a year ago.

Cambridge Homes names finalist in ACE competition

The Home Warranty Corp. based in Arlington, Va., announced that Cambridge Homes, Inc. was selected as a regional finalist in its second annual ACE Award for Construction Excellence program.

"Cambridge Homes was selected as a regional finalist because the company demonstrates a high level of professionalism and competence in the building industry," said Ed Snider, director of risk management.

In 1992, Cambridge Homes was named a regional winner in HWC's inaugural ACE award program. "It is an honor to be considered one of the top quality builders by such a reputable national organization as HWC for two consecutive years. This consistency in quality really shows that there is a Cambridge difference," said Richard J. Brown, president of Cambridge Homes, Inc.

The ACE Program is designed to salute quality construction and the performance of quality construction techniques by its member builders. Over 1,700 HOW builder members requested nomination packets for the 1993 competition.

The regional and national winners will be selected by an independent panel of judges including builders from around the country. The second annual ACE Awards will be presented on May 14 in Washington, D.C., during a National Assn. of Home Builders meeting.

Cambridge Homes is one of the five largest home builders in Illinois and is ranked among the nation's top 125 by Professional Builder and Builder magazines. The Libertyville-based company was built more than 7,000 homes throughout the Chicago area.

Browning-Ferris donates $2,000

To help Lake County residents comply with yard-waste laws and to build awareness about the benefits of composting, Browning-Ferris Industries (BFI) has donated $2,000 to the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service in Lake County. The money will go to selecting and training a group of 10 volunteers who will spend 30 hours a week teaching seminars on composting for homeowners in Lake County. With the $2,000 grant, BFI's donation to the project over the past two years totals $7,000.

Through the Master Composter program, homeowners will learn the uses of compost, its ecological benefits and how to make high-quality compost. Residents will also be kept up-to-date on the latest recycling laws.

"BFI is committed to public/private partnerships in which the public and private sectors work together to solve Lake County's solid waste management problems. Composting is certainly an integral part of the solution," said Jim Ambroso of BFI.

Composting is the most practical and convenient way to handle yard waste. Compost is formed when yard waste is organically decomposed into a useful soil.

Homes designed toward rolling natural landscape open at Merit Club

Two elegantly appointed model homes are now open at an exclusive enclave overlooking acres of rolling natural landscape of north suburban Lake County.

The models, with interiors by Richard Honquest Fine Furnishings of Barrington, are among five traditional designs available at the reserve at the Merit Club, a private gatehouse community on Rte. 21, 1 1/2 miles north of Rte. 137.

The initial offering includes 38 single-family homes with homeowners' association conveniences, including grounds maintenance, and 26 one-acre custom sites. The homes are adjacent to the private 310-acre Merit Club golf course.

The ranch and two-story homes home two to four bedrooms, including first floor master suites. Each bedroom has a private bath. The homes offer 2,389 to 3,900 square feet of living area, excluding the standard basements. Some home sites offer walk-out or English basements. Preconstruction prices range from $425,000 to $595,000.

The first phase of 38 homes will be built on 42-acres. The fully landscaped lots are approximately one-third to one-half acre. Professional landscape maintenance, snow removal and gatehouse security are provided.

The entire property comprises 525 acres, with more than 80 percent of the land devoted to open space. Plans call for a maximum of only 100 homes. A conservation easement will be recorded on the golf course property, forever protecting the landscape by prohibiting additional development.

"People touring the community are surprised to discover such abundant and beautiful natural countryside within an hour of the city," said Jennifer Arons, sales manager. "Many say" the homes here have the same solid feeling and fine craftsmanship found in their grand old homes on the North Shore, with details such as cased openings between the living rooms and libraries, three-and five-piece crown molding, eight-foot exterior doors, and first floor windows with transoms."

The furnished models include the Winthrop, a 3,200-square-foot, grand ranch home priced from $545,000, and the Hampton 3,900-square-foot, two story home priced from $595,000. Both homes overlook three of the ponds at the Reserve.

The Winthrop has three bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths, living room and entry hall with cathedral ceiling, formal dining room, library, kitchen and breakfast area, and optional screened porch.

The Hampton has four bedrooms, 4 1/2 baths, eat-in kitchen, family room, library, living room, and formal dining room. The model has approximately 6,000 square feet of living area, including the finished walk-out basement.

The homes at the Reserve are quality-constructed and finished with nine-foot first floor ceilings, crown moldings and chair rails, oak kitchen flooring with wood vents, Pella windows and transoms, copper bay roofs, Kohler fixtures, fireplaces, and wet bars. Kitchens, which have entertaining islands, pantries and built-in desks, are equipped with Kitchenaid appliances, including a built-in refrigerator, eye-level microwave, oven and cook top, dishwasher and disposal. Marble master baths have double vanities, whirlpool tubs, water closet rooms, linen closets and shower stalls with built-in seats. The exteriors are brick, stone, and cedar with cedar shake roofs.

The Reserve has private streets, municipal sewer and Lake Michigan water.

To visit the Reserve, take I-94 to Rte. 137 and exit west to Rte. 21, turn north and drive 1-1/2 miles to the development. The Sales Center is open 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., daily. For further information, call 680-0090.

REALTOR

SELL HOME YOURSELF?

I'm sure you've heard it said: "Why should I sell my home through a REALTOR? I can sell it myself and save a lot of money." Right?... Wrong!

This kind of thinking usually turns out to be financially unwise. The prospects will usually start by mentally deducting the commission and then start negotiating from there. On the average, a homeowner saves little or no money when he sells his own home. In fact, the opposite is often true. A lot of time is wasted showing homes to unqualified curiosity seekers and many possible sales are lost because the owner did not possess the experience to financially structure a viable sale in today's fast-changing money market.

As a private seller you're at a great disadvantage in the intricate areas of financing, negotiating and protecting yourself from all sorts of do-it-yourself pitfalls. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to list it with a REALTOR. He'll sell it for you - without hitches - for the best price and in the shortest amount of time.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at RE/MAX HERITAGE, 4641 Grand Avenue, Gurnee. Phone: 336-2600. I'm here to help!

Selling Homes Throughout Lake County!

Or, is it because you are too busy talking to contractors and lining up new subdivisions for the town. I also want to ask Mr. Eschenbauch to keep out the Mafia and the drugs out of Wauconda.

Get Your Own

I want to applaud the voters in Wauconda and Island Lake for voting down the referendum for the new school. I think they should start a new district and let Island Lake kids go to their own school. Then Wauconda kids can go to theirs.

Culture Shocks

I do not think that the North Chicago issue is racial. My child is a student from Hawthorn Junior High School. I am going to have to face this next year when she goes to the high school. What I am worried about is the gangs not the racial issue. I have tried to teach my children that everyone should be treated equally. We live in Libertyville and have had culture shocks. I am sure the people in Lake Forest have had culture shocks too. I have very good friends living in North Chicago!

Call Me

I want to answer "Just One Question". You say that you are a resident of Wauconda and your children go to school in the district. It implied that Leroy Hampel does not have his son go to School District 118. His one child is twenty-six years old and is an architect in Milwaukee. His other son, by marriage, is ten years old and does attend the Wauconda Grade School. I really appreciate this. I am Leroy Hampel's wife and I wish that people would send a letter to the editor and sign them like a decent and proper people instead of writing to Lipservice. But I figure the only way you people are going to read this answer is in Lipservice. If you have any questions, call me!

Still Mad

I have a friend that just had an abortion. I cried for the next week at how horrible it was. You are still my friend but I am very mad at what you did to that poor baby.

Volunteers Need Not Apply

Summer is upon us with its heat, which brings us even closer to vacation time. As this busy time draws near one would suppose that you would be able to volunteer as a fire fighter. Not that experience was lacking, but in Antioch apparently borders have been drawn. If one resides in Antioch Township you cannot volunteer to work for free in the village. Is the Village of Antioch's fire department that well staffed?

Poetry Corner

I am upset to find that Lakeland Newspapers does not have a section that will publish our poems. I have a few poems I would like to share with the area and I want you to get a section!

Sign Cleanup

I am a Lake Zurich resident and would like to congratulate all the candidates for office in the Village of Lake Zurich. It was amazing! They took down all of their signs the day after the election. When the election was over, every sign was down. I don't think we could have lost with anyone who was running for office.

Ramp Is Needed

I think that Sterling Lake should have a public boat ramp restricted to small boats with no gasoline motors. This facility belongs to the taxpayer and should be for their benefit.

Of All The Gall

Antioch Village residents have voted down the riverboat complex. Who cares what they did? The complex was not going to be located in the village anyway. What right did village residents have to vote in such a referendum? Come on out to the township and see how we feel!

Paradise Lost

I moved to Libertyville from Chicago. I pay taxes to support a way of life for myself and my family that we have become accustomed to. We send our children to the school of our choice for the quality of their education. Now I am informed that busing will be coming from North Chicago. I moved to keep my children from gangs, killings, and drugs. I strongly say let North Chicago fix their own education system before they ruin ours.

Try Slowing Down

Hey "Near Miss, what do you propose we change our signs into? If you can't see those stop signs then I think you are driving way above the speed limit. Perhaps you could slow down so we don't have to fear for our children's lives. I live on that corner and have never seen anyone come to a complete stop. Also, there has never been a cop there to issue tickets. The Round Lake Police Department could fill their quota by sitting on that corner. "Near Miss", I agree we need a change. Maybe a stoplight. With the old senile mayor out, hopefully the new mayor will do something about it.

A Little Old

I would like to respond to the person who wanted to know why Lee Hampel's oldest son does not attend School District 118. I know the family and just want to say that the oldest boy is twenty-five, married, and lives in Wisconsin. So, what are you talking about? Their youngest son goes to the school.

You Can't Get Away

I am from Grayslake and we have the same gang type problems as Round Lake. And, we have friends in Libertyville who also have the same problems. I don't know where you can go to get away from it. The answer is to stay and fight it yourself. Know where your kids are, know what they are doing.

Gang Problems, Admit it!

I agree with the "No Gang Problems" in that there are definitely gang problems in Round Lake and the police and school refuse to admit it. But, as far as the arrest of the two teenage girls on weapons charges, the two girls were not gang involved. They had empty guns and were defending themselves against twenty-five gang members. I think there is a very serious problem with gangs in Round Lake when young girls have to steal a gun just to defend themselves.

Congratulations Scholar

This is a congratulations to Clint Rodriguez a senior at Round Lake High School. We are proud of you and good luck at Yale.

Bring On The Buffet

I want to apologize to everyone for saying that Old Country Buffets will not save the world. I guess I was wrong. I just found out that Ross Perot, Ronald Reagan, and Lee Iacocca were all former employees of Old Country Buffets. I also found out that Japan's rise as a competitive nation is directly related to the fact that they have had numerous Old Country Buffets since 1942. Bring on the Old Country Buffets, I am wrong.

No Prayer On The Air?

Mrs. O'Hare, the celebrated atheist whose efforts successfully eliminated the use of bible reading and prayer in public schools fifteen years ago now has a new petition. This petition, #2493 which will ultimately pave the way to stop the reading of religious materials on the airwaves of America. She took her petition with 27,000 names on it to back her stand. If you are against this, write to the FCC, 1919 H Street, Washington DC. If you are an American and proud of your heritage, you can help. Make sure that you include the petition number on the corner of your envelope and letter.

Molding a Japanese culture

Renowned artist inspires with new art form

Pottery. Painting. Poetry. An unlikely combination. Mitsuya Niiyama combines his artistic talents with ancient writings to produce a special form of expression and inspiration.

"It is my dream that my painting, my ceramics, my Neriage and my techniques touch your heart and stimulate your own creativity."

Students at Libertyville, Mundelein and Barrington High Schools had the honor of hosting the Japanese artist and craftsman earlier this month.

Niiyama, 71, has transformed the 100 most famous poems in Japan to expressions in ceramic art using colored clay and paints. The collection of poetry, Hyakunin Isshu, was compiled in 1235 and contains poems written by the Japanese aristocracy between about 670 and 1216. Poets in Japan have always been revered, honored and deified.

These pottery pieces have been on display at the three schools during the month of April. A translated poem accompanies each item.

The exhibit was arranged through the efforts of Linda McDonald of the art department at Libertyville High School.

"He [Niiyama] is so willing and wanting to share," she said.

On his way to a workshop in Frankfurt, Germany, he had offered to spend a few days in the area and stop by the schools. "He was just so happy to do it," said McDonald, who met Niiyama while she was a student at Illinois State University.

Niiyama traveled from his home in Kamakura City, near Tokyo, arriving in the Chicago area April 7. He was a guest at the McDonald house from April 11-16, making several appearances at the three schools.

"The kids were mesmerized," said McDonald. "They got as close to him as possible. You could have heard a pin drop!"

"When you get kids to do something different from their daily routine, sometimes they forget their manners. He spoke to 60 kids at a time."

"They did not whisper, they were not disrespectful. They asked questions."

When the kids came out, another Libertyville teacher observed, it was like their souls had been touched. They were intrigued and captured by his personality.

"It was a wonderful experience for students and any adults who had anything to do with it at all," said McDonald.

Mundelein High School art instructor Julie Johnson assisted McDonald in preparing for Niiyama's visit. They catalogued and photographed the collection and made porcelain pieces for him to decorate in his demonstrations. They also made a video of all the pieces from slides.

"The video is narrated to use as a teaching tool for classes that study poetic forms," McDonald said.

At Mundelein Niiyama presented a demonstration of his decorating techniques and showed slides of his home town and his work.

"I think they [Mundelein students] really enjoyed meeting him. They'd seen his display. They asked a lot of questions," said Johnson.

"My ceramics kids have been working on Neriage. A lot of them were motivated and got new ideas."

Niiyama became interested in painting as a child.

In 1939, at the age of 17, he went to work in a Tokyo ceramics store. He later became an independent distributor of high quality ceramics made in Kyoto. His customers were high class restaurants.

"I often helped in the kitchens of my customers. This gave me a chance to learn about the combination of well-prepared food and artistically made and selected dishes and utensils."

Niiyama began to make his own ceramics.

"I did not have time to be taught by a master. ... I came to create my own pottery in a style which had never existed before."

US 99 brings Orrall to Sundance Saloon

You can catch a rising country star, Robert Ellis Orrall, at the Sundance Saloon this Wednesday, May 5, in a free US 99 Radio concert.

Orrall's "A Little Bit of Her Love" is currently climbing the country charts. Earlier this year, "Boom it was Over" made it into the top 10.

Robert Ellis Orrall

Both songs are heavily requested at the Sundance, said General Manager Al Odle. "Boom! It Was Over" is popular for the line dance and "A Little Bit of Her Love" is good for the two-step," said Odle.

Boston-bred Orrall is of the new breed of country singers. His style is reminiscent of what was once called "country rock." His catchy beats with recurring family themes have universal appeal. In fact, "A Little Bit of Her Love" is about his daughter who stars with him in the song's video.

When Orrall comes to the Sundance, he'll be bringing with him local native Paul Kramer, who plays lead guitar, fiddle and mandolin in the band. Long-time patrons of the Sundance will remember Kramer from the Silver Saddle Band, the club's house band.

Kramer left for Nashville to seek fame and fortune about eight years ago, said Odle. And apparently, he did.

"Kramer's an extremely talented musician," said Odle.

Doors open for the concert at 6 p.m. and opening act, The Cumberland Mountain Band, starts at 7 p.m. Robert Ellis Orrall starts at 9 p.m.

US 99's J.D. Spangler will be master of ceremonies and will give away upcoming concert tickets, t-shirts and more.

The Sundance Saloon is located at Routes 176 and 83 in Mundelein. For more information call 949-0858.

Experience Kabuki drama at Stage Two Theatre

Traditional Japanese Kabuki and Noh drama are combined in Stage Two Theatre's spring production of "Ama and the White Crane." This original story tells the adventure of Ama and her hand puppet White Crane as they journey to the tip of Mount Sumeru, the legendary center of the universe. Performances are scheduled April 29, 30, May 1, 2, 6, 7 and 8 in downtown Waukegan.

In the story, the comic samurai befriends Ama and helps her as she overcomes the evil power of the dreaded "Demon-With-The-Changeable-Face." Each disguise of the Demon—the Demon of Thunder and Lightning, the Evil Water Sprite, the Ferry-Boat Driver, the Mistress of the Mists of Forgetfulness and the Snow Woman, whose icy embrace brings death—creates suspense and humor as the Demon eventually is overcome by Ama's ingenuity.

By drawing on the Japanese influence, author Maureen A. O'Toole uses elements not usually found in children's productions. Kabuki, begun in Japan in the late 17th century, uses elaborate sets, colorful makeup, song and dance. It features spectacular scenes strung together often without a logical progress. Noh (or "no") drama dates to the 14th century and remains a classical form of theater in Japan today. It is characterized by the use of masks, male actors playing female parts, sparse settings of bamboo, chanted passages and the use of a chorus.

In "Ama and the White Crane," Kabuki tradition inspired the placement of a sound effects maker on stage. The Kabuki also inspired the use of prop person dressed in black for set changes and a main character who also is a narrator. Noh drama furnished the idea of using simple props instead of the more elaborate Kabuki settings.

Norma Cribb will direct the production. Cast members include Richard V. French, Renee Joseph, Mark Kettner, Peter Nepstad, Carrie Starzec and Joseph Cervantez.

Stage Two Theatre is located at 12 N. Sheridan Road, Waukegan, in the newly renovated University Center. Entrance to the theater is from the city parking lot off Sheridan Road, between Washington and Madison Streets. For reservations, or for more information, call 662-7088.

Public presentations are scheduled for April 30, May 1, 7 and 8 at 8 p.m. plus Saturday, May 1 at 1 p.m. and Sunday, May 2 at 3 p.m. All tickets are $5, except on May 8.—by RHONDA VINZANT

Student art exhibit

The 12th annual student juried art exhibition will be on display through May 16 at the College of Lake County Community Gallery of Art, 19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake. The exhibition features drawing, painting, ceramics, sculpture and prints. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. For further information call Steve Jones at 223-6601, ext. 2240.

Art experience

A special invitation is extended to qualified area artists and craftspeople to be among the exhibitors in the "An Arts and Crafts Experience" to be presented by American Society of Artists, a national membership organization, at Port Clinton Square, Central Avenue, downtown Highland Park, Sunday, June 6 in conjunction with the numerous activities of Disability Awareness Day. Potential exhibitors in this juried show are invited to submit four slides/photographs of work representative of that which you wish to exhibit, one slide/photograph of your display set-up, a self-addressed, stamped envelope, a resume/show listing is also helpful. Send to American Society of Artists, P.O. Box 1326, Palatine, IL 60078. For further information, call (312) 751-2500.

Allergy Vacuum with H.E.P.A. Type Filter Sale Price $395.00

Pollen, dust, mold, animal dander, dust mites. These are just a few of the common allergens which collect in carpeting, draperies, bedding and furniture. Allergy sufferers can find relief using the Allergy Vacuum to combat these household allergens.

Unlike conventional household vacuums which exhaust unseen contaminants back into the air and may actually cause an allergic reaction, the Allergy Vacuum traps harmful allergens with progressively finer stages of filtration. Its four-stage filtration system includes: a disposable paper bag, a washable embossed polyester filter bag, a disposable impact filter and a H.E.P.A. type filter that is 99% efficient at 0.3 microns (1 micron = 1/25,400 of an inch).

An added precaution, if the high efficiency filter is removed, the vacuum will not operate. This patented safety interlock system assures user safety and prevents allergens from being redistributed back into the air. This vacuum comes complete with tool kit and caddy.

If someone in your home suffers from allergies, asthma or respiratory ailments, the Allergy Vacuum is an easy and affordable solution which can provide years of dependable relief.

A positive, affirming experience

Critics Choice

Life's a pressure cooker in Terrence McNally's 1991 play, "Lips Together Teeth Apart," so it's no surprise that one of the characters grinds his incisors while asleep. The surprise is that the other three don't do it as well.

Sam, the tooth grinder, is a construction company executive who has his hands full coming to terms with a spouse who has lost a brother to AIDS. His marriage is also threatened by his wife's infidelity. Meanwhile, Sally is preoccupied by a gut feeling that she has just witnessed a drowning/suicide.

Then there's John, the brother-in-law who is quietly dying of an incurable cancer. And Chloe, John's cheerleader wife who aptly describes herself as kind of a walking nerve end.

It's quite a group gathered on stage at Chicago's Halsted Theatre for an unforgettable Fourth of July celebration at a Fire Island beach house.

Despite the prominence of emotional and physical death, the play—artfully crafted and bristling with down-to-earth dialogue—calls out for awareness rather than sentimentality. It's a positive, affirming experience.

Director Judy O'Malley has assembled a strong cast led by Joan Schwenk, who hides her fears in flakiness; Si Osborne, a sullen husband saddled with a life-sapping illness; Larry Russo, whose refuge is in the comic turn; and Peggy Goss, whose exposure to death has made her paranoid about getting pregnant.

The staging is especially realistic and features a full-size deck complete with pool, working shower and smoking barbecue grill. "Lips Together Teeth Apart" is scheduled for an open run. Ticket information is available at (312)348-0110.—by TOM WITOM

Ravinia announces 1993 season

Zarin Mehta, executive director of Ravinia Festival, announced plans for the 1993 summer season.

The 13-week season extends from June 11 through Labor Day and will present over 100 diverse performing arts events over 88 days.

The 58th Festival season opens with ten days of Jazz in June under the direction of Ramsey Lewis, newly appointed artistic director of Jazz in June.

Jazz in June will include such jazz luminaries as Oscar Peterson, Mel Torme, Betty Carter, Shirley Horn, Modern Jazz Quartet, Stephanie Grap-

PELLI, Joe Henderson, and Sonny Rollins.

Beginning Friday, June 25, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra will perform 24 concerts during an eight-week residency. Leading the orchestra, in addition to Music Director James Levine, will be nine guest conductors, four of whom will be making Ravinia Symphony debuts.

The season continues with six concerts by the Ravinia Festival Orchestra; three performances by the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra under the baton of Zubin Mehta; 14 chamber music concerts and recitals in the Murray Theatre; two early music ensembles; 21 popular events (to be announced later); five Musica Viva concerts; four performances by Hubbard Street Dance Chicago; two evenings of theatre, eight children's programs; and performances and seminars at the Steans Institute for Young Artists.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't twiddle your thumbs this week. Let that creativity surge and cultivate what is passionate in your life. The end of the work week could feel like a party, and if you play your cards right, it could be just that.

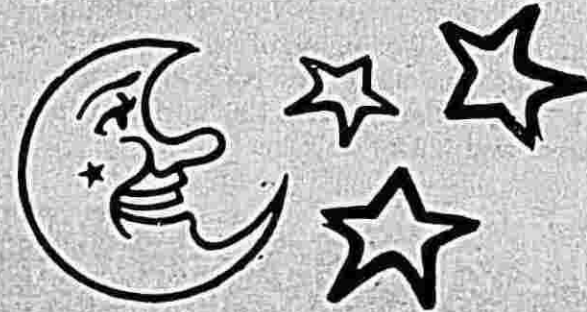

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be willing to ask for what you want. Being shy just doesn't cut it right now. In fact, the more explicit you are, the more interesting your week will be. Keep your cool once you put in your request.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be careful with spending this week. You will be a very happy camper if you do. Examine what you have put out to others. Friends, associates and loved ones give you powerful feedback. Do make time to catch up on all the gossip this weekend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Let your personality glow, and the world glows with you. You can have what you want, though be ready to negotiate when it comes to money. Again, use the power of optimism. You need to let off steam this weekend.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Be more in touch with your needs, desires and bottom-lines. This week you discover all you have to do is ask and you shall receive. This weekend, indulge yourself and, perhaps, one of those you've given your "terms" to.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) You can wish upon a star, but be prepared for a certain amount of flak midweek. It looks as if you set yourself up for the problems that are now popping. Be ready to do some soul-searching and "clearing out." The more centered you are, the better the end results.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Take the lead here and now, and you can get whatever you want. Be ready for an onslaught of popularity. Make plenty of time for celebration, joy and parties. "Veg" all weekend and replay all the recent events.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Reach out for another at a distance and get the expert information you need. You could be on a pedestal by the weekend. Congratulate yourself on a job well done. Flak occurs when another gets jealous. Expect to party and whoop it up all weekend long.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Aren't you the romantic? However, you may be playing it all a little too wildly. Partnership matters are up for grabs. You can believe one thing you need to zero in on what you want. Money only causes intensified debates this week.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Let others call the shots this week. Let them get intense and needy if they have to. Now's the time to explore different offers, different alternatives. You take off for a weekend out of town to "think things through," or so you say.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You are a veritable workhorse this week, charging into work and dutifully shoveling it away. Playtime comes a bit too early, but then, you deserve it. You find a partner is ready, willing and able to help you out this weekend.

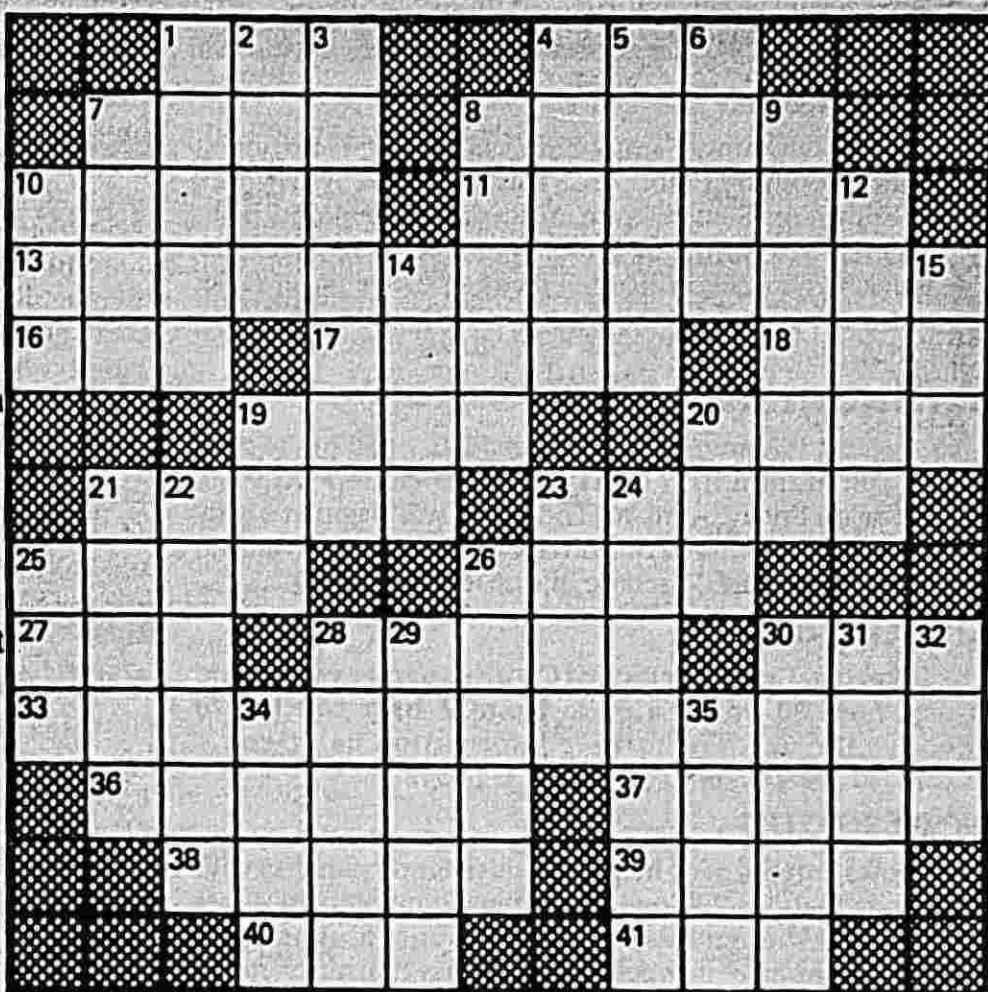

PISCES (February 19-March 20) Let those creative juices flow early on in the week. Make the most of what could be a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. Touch base with a co-worker or boss to explain why and what. You may need to make up for lost time later.

Pottery

Learning the ancient technique of the Rimpa school of decorative art and the ancient Chinese technique of Nerage, Niiyama developed his own style.

"I began to visualize images for designs from old Japanese poems called Waka."

This poetry, also known as Tanka, is "filled with seasonal sentiment such as loneliness of life, yearning, the joy of love and sorrow intermingled with the seasons."

"I interpret the essence of feelings of Waka. The large full moon became a symbol of my works."

"If you draw the ... moon as a backdrop to flowers and mountains, the picture may be expressing something special to you."

The creation of a design involves several steps.

Niiyama recently demonstrated his pottery techniques during a demonstration at Libertyville High School. LHS students Kanako Kawai and Ruth Oda served as interpreters.

First he must knead the clay on a hard surface to get rid on any air bubbles. Otherwise the pot may crack when the air expands from the heat in the firing oven.

Different colors of clay are formed into separate blocks. These blocks are sliced and stacked or rolled in different combinations to form intricate geometric designs.

The instrument used for this procedure is made from a wire stretched tightly between two sticks and operates somewhat like a cheese slicer.

The slabs are then formed into pottery, with the different colors in the design forming the desired effect.

"Making small designs is easy," Niiyama told the students, "but to gain the correct configuration for a butterfly or a crab, it is very difficult."

When the item is shaped to his satisfaction it is bisque fired.

Niiyama then applies a clear glaze and returns it to the oven for a second firing.

Dan Patterson, supervisor of the fine and performing arts department at Libertyville summed it up. "It was really an exciting week for all of us to have an internationally known artist visit our school. It brought the program into a new perspective for the kids to see an actual artist at work."

Joon, played by the most charming Mary Stuart Masterson, whose eccentricities go a little too far.

As the movie progresses, one finds that Benny might not be so long-suffering. Maybe he too has a touch of the psychotic, using his sister's mental problems as an excuse for putting his own life on hold.

Depp, whose role is not unlike his Edward Scissorhands, does his Chaplinesque waddle and Masterson gets crazier by the minute, until the "fun" runs into a snag at the climax.

Will stodgy old Benny see the humor in the more than capricious actions of his sister and her boyfriend, or will he worry forever?

How lightly do we treat those who live a life of being "different," if that's what one calls Masterson's traffic cop armed with paddle? Much of this is probably meant to be funny. We leaned more towards pathetic. Somehow we find it hard to laugh at sick people, even when they do funny things.

"Benny & Joon" fails to bring any new insight into the lives of the troubled and, as such, just serves to show the weird things they do for no rhyme or reason.

Quinn, who is an up and coming young actor, turns in a believable Benny. Masterson and Depp are psychotic enough, it's the repetitive premise that gets tedious.

We give "Benny & Joon," 2.5 stars out of five, reflecting the 50 percent of the tedium we found hard to take.—by GLORIA DAVIS

RJ's boasts fine food, and family atmosphere

Nestled on the shores of Sand Lake in Lindenhurst, RJ's Eatery and the Outback Bar is known for good food, great view of the lake, charming atmosphere and reasonable prices.

The menu offers a plateful for any palate, whether you're in the mood for pizza, salad, steak, seafood, fish, Mexican, burgers or sandwiches. Several specialty drinks, available with or without the alcohol, made from scratch mouth-watering desserts and an ice cream sundae bar round out the menu.

RJ's offers daily all-you-can-eat meals. Start Sunday morning off with the breakfast buffet from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The eggs, bacon, sausage, waffles, pancakes, french toast sticks, biscuits and gravy, fresh fruit and more are without end for only $5.95—$3.95 for seniors and children. Later on Sunday, try the all-you-can-eat roast pork or turkey with mashed potatoes, and soup or salad bar.

On Tuesdays, you can enjoy the all-you-can-eat pizza for only $3.95. It's a pizza feast with thin-crust cheese and sausage pizza. Add $1.95 and enjoy the fresh, healthy salad bar, too.

Fridays are for fish fries, and RJ's serves fresh North Atlantic cod deep-fried in a special beer batter. Get a choice of potato, vegetables, breadsticks, soup or salad bar and all the fish you can handle for only $6.95.

Come back on Saturdays for Alaskan snow crab legs with drawn butter, lemon, choice of potato, vegetables, soup or salad bar. It's all you can eat for $13.95.

And don't forget to stop by RJ's for lunch. There are daily lunch specials from $3.95. Or drop by for a burger, sandwich or salad from the salad bar.

A complete Mother's Day Brunch with everything from roast beef to sweets awaits mom on her special day at RJ's. The May 9 brunch will run from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. — so make sure and bring the whole family.

"This is a fun, family place," said Manager Ann Marie O'Brien. "People enjoy themselves here." The eatery even features a video-game room for kids of all ages to enjoy.

For special occasions like wedding rehearsals or birthday parties, don't forget to call RJ's. They can accommodate groups up to 100 people.

RJ's is located at 1311 E. Grand Ave. in Lindenhurst. Try RJ's Eatery for dining in or carry-out. Call 356-2300.

Task force considers long term care insurance standards

Governor Edgar has appointed a 34-member task force to develop standards for a new approach to long term care insurance. The Partnership for Long Term Care Act requires the formation of the group, co-chaired by IDOA Director Maralee I. Lindley and Department of Insurance Director Stephen F. Selcks. An increasing number of long term care (LTC) insurance policies are available from private insurance companies, but they are often costly or very restrictive in their benefits, and they are not coordinated with existing state Medicaid programs. Even those who have such policies are often impoverished by the high cost of long term care and eventually are dependent on Medicaid benefits.

The Illinois Partnership Project under consideration by the task force will allow an LTC insurance policyholder to protect assets equal in value to the maximum benefit payable under the insurance policy. For example, if a person with an LTC insurance policy providing $30,000 of benefits needed long term care, the first $30,000 of cost would be paid by the insurance company; all costs thereafter would be paid by the policyholder, until assets were depleted (except for the protected $30,000) and the policyholder became eligible for Medicaid.

"This approach will not only make private LTC insurance more affordable, it will also provide a way for older people to preserve their personal savings," explained Gov. Edgar.

"What's more, the insurance benefits can be used to purchase home-delivered meals and other in-home services, allowing individuals the option of staying at home rather than in a nursing home."

The task force includes representatives of consumers and consumer advocates, long term care providers, the insurance industry and the Illinois General Assembly. Jonathan Lavin, director of the Suburban AAA, is a member, as are two residents of NEIL's service area, Rep. Beverly Fawell of Glen Ellyn, and Mary Ellen Barry of Naperville of the League of Women Voters.

House, Senate bill update

Listed below are a number of house and senate bills which have been presented during the Spring Session of the Illinois General Assembly. Contact your state senator and state representative by telephone or mail to voice your support of these bills.

For questions or further information, contact Joyce Palmquist, Northeastern Illinois Area Agency on Aging at 293-5990.

HB 2008—Home Delivered Meals for the Aged.

SB 0286—This bill amends the Act on Aging to identify home delivered meals as a "necessary preventative service" funded through the Community Care Program (CCP) with General Revenue funds.

SB 0664—Meals on Wheels Income Tax Check-off

This bill amends the Illinois Income Tax Act to create a tax check-off box for Meals on Wheels Funds into which proceeds from the check-off will be deposited and from which the Dept. of Aging shall make grants to local agencies for the purpose of delivering meals to homebound persons age 60 and over.

SB 0971—Change to Pharmaceutical Assistance Program

This bill would expand the program to cover Alzheimer's and Parkinson's Disease Medications.

SB 0972—Change to Pharmaceutical Assistance Program.

This bill would reduce the co-payment obligation of participants from $15 (for those below poverty) and $25 per month for others, to $11 (below poverty) and $18.50 per month of others.

LCCS salutes all Lake County seniors

Senior citizens, the month of May is ours! The Lake County Council for Seniors salutes all seniors and hopes continued good health is yours.

The Lake County Council for Seniors is a not-for-profit advocacy organization fighting for a better life style, improved socio-economic conditions and senior rights. We also have knowledge of where to get information on senior problems and a referral service. We have only one salaried employee—our secretary.

The Lake County Council for Seniors was formed in 1973 by a small group of people who felt the money spent on programs was not being used where it could do the most good. They began campaigning for Meals on Wheels, senior centers and improved communications between legislators and seniors. From that beginning we have grown to become a well-known force by both state and federal legislators.

We hold a Memorial Luncheon in May, where outstanding seniors in Lake County are honored. These people are nominated by senior organizations (120-plus groups) in Lake County. A letter of nomination is sent to the council outlining the senior's contributions, not only to senior groups, but to the community. It often is a very hard task to choose only 15 from all the entries.

The council also presents "Senior Exposition" in the fall. Our "Expo" has been a success because it mixes fun, education and information in a day, along with a wonderful luncheon. The College of Lake County has co-sponsored our "Expo" since 1988, the 20th anniversary of the college. They have gone out of their way to assist us in making the day a wonderful experience.

Our Advocacy Committee is very active and has several excellent programs in place—Handy Man Referral Service and Friendly Visitor. A telephone reassurance is also being started. Other programs will follow after we make sure the program benefits enough people who have no other alternative help.

The Legislative Committee has already been active in the sending of petitions and writing personal letters to both state and federal legislators. Much remains to be done.

The council thanks all those who have given us their support and time to help us help the older adult. Without your help we would have a difficult time reaching the goals we have set.

Don't forget to write to your legislators with your feelings and comments on issues of concern. They do read them and take into account the information they receive.

For additional information about the Lake County Council for Seniors, call 244-1720 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.—by DUANE DEBBIE, vice president, Lake County Council for Seniors

Consider Medicare hospice benefits

When life-threatening illness strikes, families may often feel overwhelmed. For Medicare beneficiaries, hospice care is an option to consider. The Medicare hospice benefit provides full coverage for both home care and inpatient services.

Hospice is a coordinated program of supportive services, including pain and symptom control, for terminally ill individuals and their families. With hospice, the focus is on providing comfort and improving quality of life. Hospice care is available for patients with a life expectancy of six months or less who are suffering from any terminal illness, including cancer or end-stage cardiac or respiratory disease.

Care is provided by the hospice interdisciplinary team. The team works together with the patient's attending physician to meet the medical, psychological, emotional and spiritual needs of the patient and family. The hospice team consists of nurses, nursing assistants, social workers, clergy and specially trained volunteers. In addition to regularly scheduled home visits, services are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to handle crisis situations.

Although most patients choose to remain at home, inpatient care is covered for acute symptom management and for short periods to give the family a break from home care responsibilities. Prescriptions related to the terminal illness, medical equipment and supplies are also provided under the Medicare hospice benefit.

Hospice offers a special kind of caring and support to patients and their families during a difficult time. To find out more about hospice services or to locate a Medicare-certified hospice in your area, call or write:

National Hospice Organization, 1901 N. Fort Myer Dr., Suite 307, Arlington, Va. 22209, (703)243-5900; or

Questions and answers about advance directives

When you enter a hospital or nursing home, you may be given information about advance directives. You do not need to fill out and sign advance directives to be admitted to the hospital or nursing home. If you decide you want to sign these documents, the following information may help you.

Advance directives are papers that allow you to say what types of medical care and procedures you find acceptable. If you are some day unable to make medical decisions for yourself, others will be able to look at these papers to see what kind of treatment you would or would not want.

There are two types of advance directives. One is called a power of attorney for health care and the other is called a living will.

What is a power of attorney for health care?

A power of attorney is a paper you sign appointing another person to make health care decisions for you in the event you are unable to do so. The person you choose should be someone you trust. If possible, you should talk to that person before you appoint them so they will be aware of your feelings about different types of medical treatment.

What is a living will?

A living will is a paper you sign that tells your doctor you do not want him or her to use machines or medical procedures to prolong your life when it is clear you are dying. Before a living will takes effect, your doctor must determine that you are dying and unable to express your wishes. Your doctor still must give you medicine for pain, and must try to keep you comfortable.

Do I need advance directives?

You don't have to have a living will or health care power of attorney, but it is a good idea to have them. These papers speak for you if you can't speak for yourself. If you later change your mind about advance directives, you can make it so these documents no longer have any effect. They can be revoked at will.

Without advance directives, someone will be appointed to make health care decisions for you if you lack decisional capacity.

Prairie State Legal Services, Inc., provides free legal services to low income persons and senior citizens in northern and central Illinois.

Experiencing a loss? Talk it out!

If limited to only one word to use in describing the central aspect of aging, I would choose the word loss. The term "aging" is more often applied to those who are no longer considered young. Yet we are all aging every moment from conception onward. It is a constant that cannot be escaped. As we age, we necessarily move on from things associated with our former lives. In other words, we have to let go of some things; say good-bye to some things; e.g., experience a loss in order to have room for something new.

The longer we live, the more losses we accumulate. Even in the beginning of life, when many people are moving on to better things, they still have to let go of familiar and loved relationships to have room for the new opportunities. In later life, the losses accelerate due to the aging of all our other relationships that also experience their own losses. In later life, the resources in a person's life have often been whittled away, leaving less support during periods of loss. The accumulation of losses over a lifetime can be immense. Fate sometimes plays a seemingly unfair role, with some people experiencing more losses than others.

The important distinction, however, is not how much loss is experienced, but how the loss is weathered by each person. For some, the accumulated losses mount up to overwhelm the person, immobilizing functioning in other areas of life. The loss becomes like an albatross, weighing the person down with each added increment. Some people wear their losses like a radiation badge, collecting more and more evidence to use in explaining and obscuring their fear of moving forward with their lives. Others experience their losses fully and with dignity, and use each painful experience to add to the meaning of their lives. These people tend to give much to others in significant and close relationships.

Of all things that can be helpful when experiencing a loss, none is more powerful than talking (e.g., sharing your feelings with someone). This requires that the listener truly listen, and not just tell you how to "cheer up." The word therapeutic simply refers to anything that is helpful. Any close and trusting relationship can be therapeutic. Certainly relationships with therapists, clergy, professional counselors, etc., have as their focus a therapeutic relationship. However, some people are able to have therapeutic relationships with close friends, relatives or marital partners. During and after the experience of a loss, it is important to engage in a therapeutic relationship with a very good listener.—by WILLIAM P. JACKSON, ACSW, LCSW, senior counselor and training supervisor, Lake County Health Dept.

New resources for Aging Network

The Illinois Dept. on Aging and Illinois Housing Development Authority have developed an updated, county-by-county directory of housing facilities for older people. The directory lists all 102 Illinois counties; however, because the majority of the state's population lives in the Chicago metropolitan area, a sub-directory was developed that includes only Cook, Will, McHenry, Lake, Kane, Kankakee, Kendall and DuPage counties. Housing developments listed in the directory include those financed by the Illinois Housing Development Authority, Farmers Home Administration and the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development, as well as those administered by local housing authorities, various church denomination and others identified by the Illinois Area Agencies on Aging.

Quantities are limited and the publication will be sent on request only to agencies that directly assist older adults in finding housing. Service providers should contact the Illinois Housing Development Authority at (312)836-5872. Individuals who need information on housing in a specific Illinois county or those who would like to know where the directory can be locally accessed should call the Dept. on Aging's Senior HelpLine, 1-800-252-8966 (voice and TDD).

"Partners in Aging," a guide to programs, services and advocacy organizations serving Illinois' older adults, is an updated, comprehensive listing of state and national organizations working on behalf of older adults. It is formatted to help individuals easily access services for the elderly.

The revised "Partners in Aging" incorporates the Dept. on Aging's "Directory of Services for the Elderly in Illinois" and the Office of the Lt. Governor's "Guide to Senior Services—Illinois." Call 1-800-252-8966 to request a copy of the new "Partners."

Senior Health Insurance Program can help all

Do you find yourself or a parent or even grandparent in the "Medicare muddle," or trying to wade through the new information on supplemental and long-term care insurance? The Senior Health Insurance Program (SHIP) can help you.

This program, initiated by the Illinois Dept. of Insurance, was designed to help individuals with their insurance questions and concerns. Community advisors are instructed by the Department in the areas of Medicare, Medicare Supplement and Long Term Care policies. They also receive continuing education to keep them informed of the changes in senior health insurance areas.

SHIP operates in conjunction with community-based senior citizen organizations. These organizations provide SHIP with office space and telephone answering services. These organizations refer persons who have insurance problems to SHIP advisors. When referrals are received, SHIP advisors arrange for a convenient time to meet with the individuals and discuss their problems.

The service offered by the SHIP advisors is free of charge and senior citizens are assured that there will be no selling or soliciting for insurance.

The following list are SHIP coordinators in Lake County:

Avon Township, 433 E. Washington, Round Lake Park, Ill. 60073, 546-1446.
Condell Memorial

Hospital, The Medical Center of Lake County, 900 Garfield Ave., Libertyville, Ill. 60048-3199, 362-2900, ext. 5268.

Complimenting our adult care, is our child day care center. This intergenerational concept will be open to seniors who desire to interact.

Our philosophy of adult day care is based on the premise that adults should have the right to determine the type of care they receive.

Our goal is to maximize recovery, teach adaptive skills, improve function and reduce dependency. This will be our greatest reward.

Alzheimer's caregivers support group

Caring for and managing the behaviors of a person with Alzheimer's Disease in the home is more than a challenge. It drains the caregiver emotionally and physically. Frustration, anger, resentment, grief over lost abilities and changes in personality, depression, hostility, short-temperedness and combinations of all of these plague the caregiver. Sleep interruption and physical exhaustion add more stress. Guilt for not having done enough, or indeed for having these feelings about a loved one, makes the burden almost unbearable at times. Sharing these feelings and identifying ways of coping strengthens the caregiver.

The purpose of the Alzheimer's Disease Support Group is to help families receive emotional support, practical assistance in coping with problems generated by the disease, and the latest information about research, government programs and other resources. Economic, legal and ethical concerns are addressed. Caregiving alternatives such as home support services, respite care, adult day care and nursing home placement are discussed. The support group empowers individuals to help themselves.

Co-sponsored by the Lake County Health Dept. and the Chicago Area Chapter of the Alzheimers Assn., the Waukegan group meets the last Thursday of each month from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Lake County Health Dept., 3010 Grand Ave., Waukegan. All caregivers, family members, friends and others who are interested are welcome to attend. For further information about this and other support groups in your area call the Health

Facilities Division of the Lake County Health Dept., 360-6733.—by SHARON ROBERTS, BSN, RN, NHA, support group leader

Making the right nursing home choice

Most older adults live independently in their community. If additional care is required, their families usually provide it. However, there are situations when family can no longer provide the best physical and mental care for an individual without undue stress. At that point, arrangements must be made to provide the best personal and health care available for an individual's needs. Nursing home placement is then a viable alternative.

Decisions regarding nursing home choice and placement are an important step in a family's life. To make those decisions easier to reach, nursing homes like Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, Lindenhurst, suggest families follow a step-by-step procedure. The center has a video guide, "How to Choose a Nursing Home" available for free overnight viewing. It is available by calling Victory Lakes at 356-5900 or Victory Memorial Hospital at 360-4246.

The staff at Victory Lakes also recommends the following guidelines for families faced with making a nursing home choice:

- Identify the need for nursing home placement. A personal physician is the best judge of the type of care required for an older adult. Talk to him early in the decision making process.

- Family discussion. It is important for the family to work together in selecting a nursing home. If possible, the older adult should be involved in the discussions. Minimally, the following topics must be discussed before nursing home selection: Cost and where the money will come from; characteristics of the facility to be selected; and changes nursing home placement will make in each family member's life.

- Information search. Gather information on all available nursing homes from every source possible: Friends, family, clergy, physician, hospital social services department, etc. Brochures are usually available on request from nursing homes and provide basic information.

Things to look for initially—a current Illinois nursing home license, a current administrator's license, meets state and local fire and safety regulations, working sprinkler system, fire-resistant doors, evacuation plan, admissions requirements, waiting list and financial programs.

- Choose the three most likely nursing homes. Eliminate those nursing homes that do not meet the above requirements. Further narrowing can be done based on monthly cost, level of care offered, rehabilitative services, resident activities and location.

- Tour the facilities. Family members and the prospective resident should tour each nursing home under consideration. Make appointments with the administrator, director of nursing and/or admissions representative. Take advantage of the opportunity to discover as much as you can about the facility, its activities and its philosophy.

Things to look for during a tour—arrangements for handling medical emergencies, types of rehabilitation programs, quality and appeal of food, ratio of staff to residents, types of furniture utilized, cleanliness of the residents and facility, staff interaction with residents, privacy and comfort of rooms, visiting hours, dental, foot and eye care provided, barber shop/beauty salon services available.

Speak to residents and their visitors, volunteers, aids and staff members. If possible, drop in unannounced and at different times of the day. This will give you an idea of staffing levels and resident activities during off times.

- Make a placement decision. When it comes right down to it, quality care is the single most important concern in choosing a nursing home. Weighing all other factors, the family and older adult should decide on the home that provides the best care for the best price.

- Follow-up. After placement, listen to your family member's concerns. Visit on different days of the week and at different times of the day. Occasionally share a meal with the resident. Raise any questions or concerns you have immediately with the administrator or director of nursing. Do not hesitate to voice your opinion if something is unacceptable to you.

The important thing to remember, once nursing home placement has been made, is that your family's caregiving position has not been replaced by the nursing home; your older adult family member has only moved to another location.

Assistant secretary for aging named

The Clinton administration has named Dr. Fernando Torres-Gil to the newly defined position, assistant secretary for aging. He is a professor of social welfare at UCLA and an adjunct professor gerontology at the University of Southern California.

Torres-Gil is a national expert on public policy issues regarding health, long term care, gerontology, ethnicity, human services, rehabilitation and disability. He was elected a Gerontological Society of America fellow in 1985 and is a former president of the American Society on Aging.

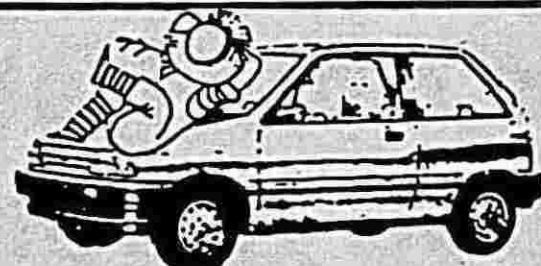

He was appointed to the Federal Council on Aging in 1978 by President Carter.

Later, as special assistant to the Secretary of Health and Human Services, he had a key role in planning the 1981 White House Conference on Aging. Torres-Gil also served as staff director for the U.S. House of Representatives, Select Committee on Aging (1985-87).

More recently, he was a member of the Social Security Administration's Supplemental Security Income Modernization Task Force (1990-92).

Torres-Gil, who was born and raised in Salinas, Calif., earned a B.A. in political science from San Jose State University, and a M.S.W. and Ph.D. in social policy, planning and research from Brandeis University.

Safe use of medicines by older people

Drugs can be wonderful tools for the care of patients of all ages. In fact, the growth of our population over the age of 65 can be attributed at least in part to the availability of effective medicines and vaccines. But in older adults drug use may have greater risks, especially when several drugs are taken at one time.

People over 65 make up 11 percent of the American population, yet they take 25 percent of all prescription drugs sold in this country. As a group, older people tend to have more long-term illnesses—such as arthritis, diabetes, high blood pressure and heart disease—than younger people. And because they often have a number of diseases or disabilities at the same time, it is very common for them to be taking many different drugs.

In general, drugs taken by older people act differently from the way they do in young or middle-aged people. This is probably the result of the normal changes in body makeup that occur with age. For example, as the body grows older, the percent of water and lean tissue (mainly muscle) decreases, while the percent of fat tissue increases. These changes can affect the length of time a drug stays in the body and the amount absorbed by body tissues.

The kidneys and the liver are two important organs responsible for breaking down and removing most drugs from the body. With age, these organs begin to function less efficiently, and thus drugs leave the body more slowly. This may account for the fact that older people tend to have more undesirable reactions to drugs than do younger people.

It is important to remember that "drugs" include not only prescription medicines (those ordered by a doctor and dispensed by a pharmacist) but over-the-counter (OTC) medicines as well (those bought and used without a prescription). Drugs prescribed by a doctor are usually more powerful and have more side effects than OTC medicines. Yet many OTC drugs contain strong agents, and when large quantities are taken, they can equal a dose that would normally only be available by prescription.

Some substances, including vitamins, laxatives, cold remedies, antacids and alcohol, can also lead to serious problems if used too often or in combination with certain other drugs.

There is much that you and your family can do to reduce the risk of drug use. By learning about the drugs you take and their possible side effects, you can help bring about safer and faster treatment results. Some basic rules for safe drug use are as follows:

- Take exactly the amount of drug prescribed by your doctor and follow the dosage schedule as closely as possible. If you have trouble or questions, call your doctor or pharmacist.

- Medicines do not produce the same effects in all people. Never take drugs prescribed for a friend or relative, even though your symptoms may be the same.

- Always tell your doctor about past problems you have had with drugs (such as rashes, indigestion, dizziness or lack of appetite). When your doctor prescribes a new drug, be sure to mention all other medicines you are currently taking—including those prescribed by another doctor and those you buy without a prescription.

- Keep a daily record of the drugs you are taking, especially if your treatment schedule is complicated or you are taking more than one drug at a time. The record should show the name of the drug, the doctor who prescribed it, the amount you take and the times of day for taking it. Include a space to check off each dose as you take it. Keep a copy in your medicine cabinet and one in your wallet or pocketbook.

- If child-proof containers are hard for you to handle, ask your pharmacist for easy-to-open containers. Always be sure, however, that they are out of the reach of children.

- Make sure you understand the directions printed on the drug container and that the name of the medicine is clearly printed on the label. Ask your pharmacist to use large type on the label if you find the regular labels hard to read.

- Discard old medicines; many drugs lose their effectiveness over time.

- When you start taking a new drug, ask your doctor or pharmacist about side effects that may occur, about special rules for storage, and about foods or beverages, if any, to avoid. Pharmacists are drug specialists and are able to answer most questions about drug use.

- Always call your doctor promptly if you notice unusual reactions.

- New information about drugs and about how they affect the older user is coming to light daily. You should occasionally review with your doctor the need for each medicine.

Remember that a chemical agent strong enough to cure an ailment is also strong enough to cause harm if it's not used wisely. Although you should never stop taking medicines without medical advice, if you feel any drug is doing more harm than good, don't be afraid to discuss the matter with your doctor. He or she may be able to substitute another medicine that will be effective.

Tips on what makes a good nursing home

The staff of Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, Lindenhurst, note that people faced with nursing home placement for their relatives have one major concern: How do I know this is a quality nursing home offering the best of care? It is a difficult question to answer and very often it remains unresolved until after placement. That is when individual care can be evaluated. However, top nursing homes (like Victory Lakes) do have some characteristics which are easily identified.

Signs of a good nursing home are often first evident in the people. The staff genuinely care about the residents and their families. They have the patience to talk to residents; to interact with them at every opportunity. A smile on a staff member's face is always important. The staff also take time to answer the family's questions, to help them solve whatever problems may arise. In a good nursing home, the family is never a nuisance.

The residents of a nursing home can also attest to its quality. The best advertisement is a clean, neatly dressed resident ready to greet whoever walks in the door.

Good nursing homes work to assist their residents reach their optimum physical, emotional and mental health. Families and friends are encouraged to visit and to participate in nursing home activities.

Besides offering access to nursing and rehabilitative care, quality nursing homes offer a variety of social and recreational activities. Opportunities for exercise and social activity are built into every day's schedule.

At Victory Lakes and other quality nursing homes, volunteer programs are strongly supported by area residents, schools and organizations. These programs are designed to involve the residents with other people. Volunteers often help with activities, visit residents and assist the staff. Some volunteers share their talents by organizing sing-alongs and other entertainment.

The best nursing homes are designed with the needs of older adults in mind. Aids such as handrails; sturdy, easy-to-use furniture; and nurse call buttons in bedrooms and baths are included. Wide doorways and ramps are provided for ease of access. Non-glare windows with a view to the outdoors allow those who are immobile a view of outside activities and seasonal changes. Safe, attractive places—both inside and out—provide room to walk and push wheel chairs and encourage independence while visiting with family and friends. The development of friendly relationships is encouraged by placing furniture at the centers of activity. Small dining tables and lounge areas with chairs in intimate groupings create a home-like atmosphere and help motivate interaction between residents.

The staff of Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, Lindenhurst, invite area residents to discuss their concerns about nursing home placement with them. Tours are always available to get to know the nursing home first hand. In addition, Victory Lakes has a convenient video, "How to Choose a Nursing Home," available for overnight viewing. This video was developed to help families prepare to make a nursing home choice. To reserve a copy, call Victory Lakes at 356-5900.

Homemakers extension members offer decades of experience

The Lake County Homemakers Extension Assn. (LCHEA) has been an active partner with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service for 61 years. It is one of the largest volunteer adult education organizations in the world. There are 430 members in 21 Lake County Units. Members such as Florence Magnuson, Irene Wray, Florence McKay, Lydia Hatch, Francis Cerk and Freda Ray are all 85-plus years in age and continue their involvement with LCHEA. They were recently recognized by the Illinois Dept. on Aging initiative, "Discover Women 85-Plus—History in the Making" for making significant contributions in their communities late in life.

Over the years they have been considered experts in the fields of gardening, bread baking, sewing, needlework, food preparation/preservation and quilt/rug making. Some of the skills were learned from University of Illinois "advisors" in the early 1940s and 1950s. They in turn taught their peers, as well as young 4-H members, the skills and lessons brought to them by the university.

Teachings and lessons of the 90s are concerned with the environment, health and well being, rather than the "home/related arts."

These senior members are interested in staying in touch with current concerns such as recycling (which they have always done anyway), patient-physician communications or food safety and the microwave oven as provided by educator specialists from the university.

Let's Reduce That

I would like to remind everyone that spring is here and our children will be out riding their bikes in the road because we do not have sidewalks in many subdivisions in Wildwood. Please drive carefully. It only takes a second for adults and children to make a fatal mistake. The speed limit in residential areas is 35 mph. Let's personally reduce that by five or ten miles. Remember that child is your neighbor and might be your own.

Clean Up Your Act

This is to the slobbs that have infiltrated Libertyville. You don't have respect for people who keep their lawns neat, clean, and attractive. You trample, litter, or ride your bikes over our lawns leaving junk, tire tracks, and worn grass.

Paper Thieves

My complaint is about some of my neighbors on Third Avenue in Lake Villa. You regularly steal my paper and check my mailbox to see if there is something in it for them.

What You Deserve

The town of Fox Lake is getting exactly what's coming to it. If you have read some of the past commentaries you will know that it is not only a dead town but a dirty one. We have a mortician as a mayor and a soot factory on the way. All you people in this town are getting exactly what you deserve. You voted them in, so you can deal with the sneaky, self-serving, back-stabbing old people.

Too Many Days Off

I want to complain about all the days kids don't have to go to school or get off early. What's up?

Calling All Singles

I am from Ingleside and want to thank Lipservice for the opportunity it gives residents to voice their concerns. It was through an article in Lipservice that I discovered the Northlake Singles Group. We meet every second and fourth Friday of each month at Hogan's in Antioch Country Club. I recently joined the group and I have met some very nice ladies and gentlemen. If you are single, over the age of 21, and under the age of 100 come join us. For more information call the hotline at 265-1387. Hope to see you there!

Missing

Mr. Schroeder, the first lesson you learn in journalism is to spell the name correctly. Boehm is spelled B O E H M! Where were you at the reunion? Jack was there.

Rodney King In Lindenhurst

Despite the letter, "Stop Following Us", I doubt that when the new police chief takes over in Lindenhurst that anything will change. Don't fool yourself, the mayor knows what is going on in the village! He knows how the police are harassing the teenagers and drivers who are alone in their cars. In order to do anything about this the voters must get out and support honest and caring people to represent them. We must do this before we have a Rodney King type incident in Lindenhurst.

Cartoon Lady

I am calling from Lake Villa Township and just so everyone knows, the cartoon graphics came from a female person on Black Cherry Lane. Just wanted everyone to be informed.

It Can Get Worse

I agree that the "Horrible Find" of the fetus in the glove compartment is truly disgusting. I don't want to set off a chain of letters from pro-lifers but I needed to express my opinion. If abortion is made illegal, can you imagine the many places we may find babies that were illegally aborted? We have got to do something about this. It is truly a terrible thing and if abortion is made illegal, it will be worse. I don't want to hear from any pro-lifers until they start opening up birth control clinics that do not offer abortions. Quit protesting and do something positive.

No Snobs

Libertyville people are not snobs. Libertyville just does not have the room. It doesn't matter that they are black, minority, or whatever. It is just that we do not have room. Libertyville is not full of snobs and just shut up!

Help Yourself

The person who was mad that nobody helped her yellow dog should wake up! You should keep your beloved dog in your yard. Hello, anybody home?

Three For Three

I am calling from Lake Villa Township and want to congratulate the cartoon lady from Black Cherry Lane. She went three for three in the elections. What's next?

Watch Him

Why is Joe Garret running campaigns for elections in Lake Villa, Round Lake Beach, and Grant Township? He causes nothing but trouble by harassment and intimidation. He needs to be watched.

Blocks Their Path

We wish to thank our neighbors for their help to sandbag our house. They are wonderful people. You do have to wonder, however, what kind of neighbor puts blocks in the only path around the fence you have to pass in order to get to our car. You will find this creep in Ingleside.

Picture This

I would like to thank the person who stole my family pictures out of my car in Round Lake Beach on Easter weekend. I hope you enjoyed looking at my daughters and grandchildren. What a bunch of idiots.

You Elected The Clown

People in Lake Villa Township, you elected that "Clown Assessor" with the help of that lady on Black Cherry Drive. I suggest you be very careful, watchful, and cautious.

Be On The Alert

I want to warn the people of Ingleside and Fox Lake that there are thieves operating in your area. They travel in a dune buggy or a blue van and are usually seen in your neighborhood about two weeks before they hit. I wish that someone would have let me know about this. Maybe I would still have my tractor. People beware. They are out there. If you see them, call the police.

Why Not Art?

I would like to comment on Lakeland Newspaper's article about the salary of Woodland School Superintendent. It stated they he would make $97,000 this year, $100,000 next year, and $105,000 the year after. Our school district cannot afford this fee. If our school board were truly interested in providing the best education for the money available, they would have hired a superintendent for $70,000. Then they could have spent $30,000 on an art teacher and supplies. Even if the students got art training only once a month, it would be more than they are receiving now.

Village Idiot

I am new to the Round Lake Beach area but I would like to discuss the fact that Ralph Davis was elected by only three votes. I have only lived here for three years and because of that I went to the mayoral debates. I listened pretty carefully and saw Ralph Davis there, but did not take him seriously. He acted like the "Village Idiot". I am totally shocked and dismayed to learn he is our mayor. I am now thinking of selling my home since this unemployed bum has been elected.

Keep Pocketbooks Closed

I am tired of Long Grove's beef over the placement of Route 53. This extension has been planned for years. The people who built beautiful homes along the way should have been better informed. I am sure that the wetlands issue would be a non-issue if the extension were going through wetlands of another town. Long Grove is only looking after their own pocketbooks. I will be a very angry Lake Zurich resident if your money can push it our way. We all need Route 53 and you will regret it in the future if it is not placed there.

Separate Sewers

I am from Round Lake Beach and I have worked with people from Libertyville for seven years. They do think they are better than everyone else. They also think they have separate sewers (if you know what I mean)!

Clean It Up Yourself

I, for one, am very pleased the referendum did not go through. Now, Mr. Burnham is placing the blame on the custodians. They were never going to give them raises. All they ever thought of was getting rid of more custodians. You always want to call a custodian when

Las Vegas For The Beginner

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

If you're looking for gambling advice, try that guy in the turtle-neck sweater hawking his videos on late night T.V. I'm a "one roll of quarters per trip" type of bettor. But if you've never been to Las Vegas and want to know the best way to get there, where to stay and what to do, maybe I can help.

If you can keep the casino visits to a limit, Las Vegas is probably the best short vacation value around.

For about what you could pay to stay at the Days Inn in Chicago, you can get a luxury hotel right on the famous "Las Vegas Strip".

You'll also have no problem finding a Prime Rib dinner for about $7.00. Breakfast for $.99? Only in Las Vegas!

Your best value is to book a three or four day charter package which includes your airfare, hotel and taxes. The entire package is quite often less than what airfare alone would cost if booked directly with the airlines.

The least expensive four day charters leave on Monday and return on Thursday. The best prices in three day packages leave on Friday and return on Monday. There are Thursday-Monday and Thursday-Sunday charters that are also good values.

Don't believe "unbelievable" low advertised prices. Always ask if taxes are included which could add up to 15% to your price. Some companies go as far as to subtract from their advertised price, the value of discount coupons for food and shows, which are included free with most Vegas Packages anyway.

Las Vegas has two main hotel districts known as "Downtown" and "The Strip". I would suggest the Strip for your first visit. My choice for the best hotel in the budget category is the Riviera, mostly for its excellent location. For the ultimate in luxury, The Mirage is where it's at. If you're taking the kids, try Circus, Circus or the new Excalibur.

For that $.99 breakfast try the Palace Station. The best $7.00 Prime Rib is at the Rio Suites just off the strip.

Funds hard to come by for flood victims

Lakeland Newspapers

As flood waters appear to be going down, the Lake County area remains under disaster area status with the state of Illinois; but residents will not be able to apply for federal grants until the federal government declares the area a disaster, and some officials believe that will not happen.

Representative Al Salvi (R-Wauconda) accompanied Governor Jim Edgar on his tour of Lake County last week, when Edgar determined the flooded area met the criteria to be considered a disaster on the state level.

Salvi said the criteria for federal declaration may not be met.

"I've had a look at Slocum Lake (in Wauconda), Echo Lake, the Fox River, the Des Plaines River, and it's a pretty serious problem," he said. "But the (federal) loans will be difficult to attain given the criteria needed to get them."

Speaking with state officials, criteria given include at least 25 houses or businesses with 40-percent uninsured loss, water must have entered and be above the living area (not including basement areas), and a given number of houses must sustain sufficient damage.

Assistant Coordinator of the Lake County Emergency Services Corporal Robert Schenck agreed with Salvi, saying receiving grants from the federal government might be difficult.

"Twenty-five houses with 45-percent uninsured loss, that's pretty tough if you think about it," Schenck said. "Most of these homes have flood insurance."

"It's not as bad as 1986, so I don't know if we'll get a federal declaration, it's too early to tell."

Currently, grants or assistance from the state is available, Schenck said. But most of what residents can do to help is document damage.

"They (residents) should start keeping documentation, if they aren't already, like taking photographs, keeping receipts, that type of thing," he said.

"They also need to keep in contact with the local government and if anything happens, the township or villages can contact us," he added.

Emergency Services notified the state of damages incurred in Lake County, and received help with sandbagging and providing pumps for residents in flooded areas.

Emergency services continues to conduct reviews and gather loss estimates of the area and submit the extent of damage to the state, Schenck said. It is the state's decision to submit documents to the federal government for a federal declaration.

Gov. Jim Edgar and State Representative Al Salvi survey flood damage in Libertyville last weekend.

Riverboat issue still burns despite referendum results

Lakeland Newspapers

Although the referendum facing the Antioch Township voters was a non-binding one, the majority of voters in the township are against placing a riverboat gambling casino on the Fox River near a housing development.

However, despite the apparent victory or defeat depending on who one talks to, the decision still will be made outside of the jurisdiction of the local authorities.

"The people have spoken," said Against Riverboat Casino member Kurt Gamlin. "Now, the politicians and promoters need to listen."

ARC members have stated from the beginning that the gaming site was a bad idea from the start and it would bring more harm to the area than it will do good.

"The politicians who think that this is strictly a moral issue refused to listen to the vast number of concerns that a broadly based ARC group lifted up," said Gamlin. "Gambling is not a good way to fund government."

To echo the group's concerns, the nearby Village of Antioch's village board kept its promise to the group and unanimously passed a resolution against the gambling site because the majority of the voters were not in favor of the site.

On the other hand, the Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership, the group who filed with the Illinois Gaming Commission for the final riverboat gaming license in the state, is putting a positive spin on the referendum results.

"The Fox Riverboat Limited Partnership is pleased that more than 2,300 Antioch Township voters supported the riverboat proposal," said Glenn Seidenfeld Jr., chairman and general partner of the partnership. "Additionally, we are encouraged by the re-election of Antioch Township Supervisor Jim Fields. He, as a member of the Lake County Board, has been a strong supporter of our application."

The partnership still claims that their gaming site will meet the economic, employment, tourism and tax revenue goals of the county and the state.

Both sides plan to continue to argue their sides of the story until the Illinois Gaming Commission makes its decision on the 10th and final gaming license sometime this year.

Health Department tips for flood safety

As flood levels begin decreasing with less rainfall, the Lake County Health Department is providing information and consultation to residents asking about the flooding conditions.

"Wells that are completely or partially covered with flood water may have surface water contamination," said Michael Crandall, public information specialist for the health department. "These water supplies should be considered contaminated until bacteriologic testing indicates the water is safe for consumption."

Water collection samples can be collected and taken to health department offices located in Wauconda at 118 S. Main St; Lake Villa at 121 E. Grand Ave.; and Waukegan at 3010 Grand Ave.

To minimize health hazards:

□ Boil water for at least three minutes before using.

□ Have the well inspected and disinfected by a licensed well contractor.

□ Seven days after the well is completely flushed of chlorine, collect a water sample to have it analyzed.

□ Disconnect electricity before examining the well.

□ Do not eat food in basements that has been exposed to flood water unless the food is canned.

□ Wash down the areas of the house which have been exposed to flood water.

□ Prevent children from playing in or drinking contaminated water.

The Environmental Health Division can be reached for questions at 360-6740 in Waukegan, 356-6222 in Lake Villa, and 526-1125 in Wauconda. For emergency calls, dial 360-6740.

County homeless get a boost

by SUZIE REED
Lakeland Newspapers

Relief for the homeless in Lake County has been given a boost by a community service grant from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

The Lake County Community Action Project will receive $17,459. The amount is part of almost $1 million in state funds distributed to Illinois agencies, the amount was arrived at by means of a formula based on the percentage of people living in poverty in each service region.

Bert Boone, director of community services for the Project, said that the program helps not only those who are homeless but also the "near homeless," those facing imminent eviction or foreclosure with nowhere to turn. One-fourth of the funds are allotted for this purpose.

"A typical case," Boone said, "is a person who has been evicted from his apartment due to some situation like a decrease in income. It's hard to get enough money together to get into permanent housing."

"It usually takes $1,200 to $1,500 to get into a place." The agency will help with the first month's rent and utilities, but the rent must be in line with income; that is, the person has to be earning enough to cover expenses.

Most clients are referrals. "Usually people in this situation are involved with other social service agencies."

"We help quite a few people, an average of five families a week."

The income eligibility is 125 per cent of federal poverty guidelines, but variances from that are possible with proof of special circumstances.

Funds can also be used for temporary emergency shelter, such as a fire, or in rare cases, an abusive situation.

"It's difficult for people once they're down," said Boone, "we give them security in the transition."

In addition to shelter, the agency also provides food pantries inside their two offices. This service is available those those who have homes but are having difficulty putting food on the table because of temporary changes in income. "We try to be as comprehensive as we can," Boone said.

The offices of the Lake County Community Action Project are located in Waukegan and Round Lake. For more information call 249-4330 or 546-5515.

U of I seeks council nominations

The University of Illinois is accepting applications for membership on the Extension Council, the advisory board of the Lake County Cooperative Extension Service. The Council provides a way for citizens to participate in planning, delivering and evaluating Extension education programs.

Being a Council member is a very rewarding experience," stated Jim Betustak, Extension Unit Leader. "Council members assist in identifying local issues so that the resources of the University can be used to address those issues."

For additional information and an application call 223-8627.

OBITUARIES

Carol M. Plechaty (nee Rowe)

Recently of Antioch, formerly of Monee, IL passed away on April 22, 1993. She was the beloved wife of Roger J. Plechaty, Sr.; loving mother of Gail C. (Tempel Jr.) Smith, Roger J. (Alice) Jr., Dale A. (Rose); dear daughter of Loretta (William) Rowe; fond sister to Lane K. (Mary), William J. (Jenny), Keith (Joan) Baumann, and the late Gail K. Rowe; dearest grandmother of Alan R. Plechaty, Jessica S. Plechaty, Charlotte V. Smith, and Thomas P. Totten. Friends met at St. Peter's Church, 557 Lake St., Antioch for mass at 10 am, April 24. Interment was at Millburn Cemetery, Antioch, IL. Arrangements were handled by Lain-Sullivan Funeral Home, Park Forest, IL. For information, call (708) 747-3700.

John "Jack" P. Wiley

Age 79, a Fox Lake resident since 1951 and a former Chicago resident, died at the N.I.M.C. in McHenry, IL Thursday, April 15, 1993. He was born in Chicago, IL on June 26, 1913. Mr. Wiley worked as a superintendent in the hard chrome plating business for many years in the Chicago area until his retirement. He was a former member of the Chain Of Lakes Water Patrol, a Cub Master with Scout Pack #83, a former worker for the Shady Lane Grade School Lunch Program, and was also a former driver for the Catholic Charities and the former operator of the Seyl's Marina (now known as the Light House Marina).

Survivors include his wife Rose M. Wiley (nee Svoboda) of Fox Lake, with whom he was united in marriage on June 29, 1935 in Chicago, IL; one son John (Marilyn) Wiley of Spring Grove, IL; one daughter Julie Wiley; one sister Helen Minick of Columbus, Mississippi; by his late brothers Albert and James; by his brothers-in-law; the late Rudy (Dorothy) Svoboda, Jerry (Frieda) Svoboda, George (Mary Louise) Svoboda, Otto (Hazel) Svoboda, and the late James (Ruth) Svoboda; and his late sister-in-law Ann (Mel) Jacobsen. Nieces, nephews and others survive.

Memorial services were conducted Sunday, April 25, 1993 at 12:00 noon at the K.K. Hamsher Funeral Home, 12 N. Pistakee Lake Rd., Fox Lake, IL (The Chapel on the Lake). Memorials for the Fox Lake Rescue Squad/Fire Department, 306 S. Washington St., Ingleside, IL will be appreciated by the family. For information, call (708) 587-2100.

Dorothy "Dolly" Gehringer

Age 88 of Round Lake Park passed away on April 16, 1993. She had been a resident of Round Lake Park for 26 years and was active in the Senior Citizen's Kitchen Band at the Civic Center, where she played piano. She had been involved with the group for three years.

She is survived by two daughters June (Bob) McAssey and Jackie (Larry) Maloney; five grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband Dillwyn Gehringer. A memorial service was held at Malone Funeral Home in Geneva, IL. Memorials to the American Cancer Society and the Humane Society would be appreciated by the family.

Nora Bartholomew nee Forristal

Age 81 of Grayslake, IL passed away Wednesday, April 21, 1993 at Condell Medical Center, Libertyville, IL following an illness for the past year. She was born in Yorkshire, England on May 8, 1911, came to the U.S. in 1929 and had made her home at Grayslake over 25 years. She was a member of St. Gilbert Catholic Church, Grayslake, IL.

She leaves her daughter Winifred (Joseph) Zummo, Chicago, IL and her two sons Donald (Maureen) Bartholomew, Grayslake, IL and Thomas (Becky) Bartholomew, Orland Park, IL; 22 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband Gardner January 14, 1978, and her daughter Nora (Martin) O'Brien December 21, 1987.

Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at 9:30 AM Saturday, April 24, 1993 at St. Gilbert Church, Grayslake with entombment to follow at Ascension Cemetery Mausoleum, Libertyville, IL. Friends of the family visited at Strang Funeral Chapel, 410 E. Belvidere Road, Grayslake from 4-9 PM Friday. In lieu of flowers contributions may be made to Hospice Care Unit, Condell Medical Center, Libertyville, IL 60048 in her memory.

THANK YOU

Thank You Voters

I want to thank the voters of Libertyville Township for their support and confidence in my ability to be their Township Assessor. I will not disappoint you.

Until I take office, I pledge to continue my work on behalf of the taxpayers of Libertyville Township. I will continue on with the property tax seminars which have helped hundreds of residents better understand their assessments and tax bills. I will also continue with my efforts to bring additional tax relief to the school districts and other taxing bodies of Libertyville Township and I will continue my work with our legislators in Springfield to improve our laws and to provide additional tax relief for needy seniors.

The taxpayers of Libertyville Township will clearly be the winners of this election.

Sincerely,
Dennis Jagla
Libertyville Township Assessor Elect

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: When attending an interview, I realize I can address a male interviewer by calling him Mr. Smith. How do you address a female interviewer if you do not know if she is a Miss or a Mrs. I recently interviewed with someone who corrected me and said, "It's Mrs." I was surprised to have been corrected and certainly don't want to make that mistake again. R.G. - Libertyville

A: Dear R.G. Some people are sensitive about that. At the start of the interview, the interviewer will most often formally introduce themselves thus giving you the lead as to what you should call them. When they do...be listening and remembering. Usually they will follow up with a business card. Should they not...don't be timid...ask for one! When in doubt... "Ms." works well. Although if you look hard enough, I'm sure you could find some sensitive about that, too!

Q: Dear...Search: A former co-worker recently was contacted by a search firm regarding a position with a competitor of ours. He confided in me that he was going to interview with this company who was to be moving here from out of state. He was offered the position starting at a substantially higher salary than he currently had been making and so accepted their offer several weeks ago. We had worked in the same capacity for seven years and I can't help but feel I too would be great for a similar position. I have called the company, however, they say that they are not accepting applications or resumes at this time. Is there a different approach I should be taking? W.S. - Gurnee

A: Dear W.S. Yes! I may suggest that you contact your friend and ask if he could recommend you to the person that helped him obtain his position at the search firm. Recruiters and search firms are in the business of scouting out specific talent for their clients. They look for people who may be outstanding in their field or industry. When an individual is recommended to me...they get my attention. Perhaps there are no positions available at this time or perhaps they only hire through a search firm. The company that your friend is now employed with may not be searching at this time, however if you can get your name in with the recruiter, you may be suitable for another company out there searching for someone with your talent as well.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030

VANGELDER (401-51)
By Landmark Designs, Inc.

Vertical sliding draws the eye skyward, creating an impression that the Vangelder is even larger than it actually is. Galvanized steel roofing enhances this effect. But with close to 3,000 square feet of living space, plus a two-car garage, this is not a small home by any stretch of the imagination. A self-contained living unit over the garage could be rented out as a separate apartment, or outfitted to serve as a family room and home office or you name it. The complex has a bedroom, a fully equipped kitchen and a sitting area with a small dining bay. The main floor of the home is up a half-flight of stairs from ground level. Standing in the spacious entry, you see a large coat closet to the right and two stairways to the left. Descending steps lead down to the garage, and the ascending stairway climbs to the self-contained unit. It's one step down from the entry to the sunken living room and den. Both rooms have sliding glass doors that open onto a wide wrap-around deck. A corner fireplace provides warmth and color in winter. Living room, dining room and den flow together, but the dining room is one step higher, on the same level as the kitchen. Skylights brighten the living room and dining room, and both are expanded by vaulted ceilings. The large country kitchen is open to the dining room. Conveniences here include built-in appliances and a combination work island/eating bar. Utilities are just a few feet away and a broom closet is tucked under the stairway that climbs to the master suite. A vaulted ceiling and custom windows add volume and light to the sumptuous owners' retreat. Other luxury features include a walk-in closet large enough to house a small elephant, and a private bathroom complete with sauna, oversized shower and huge spa tub. Sliding glass doors open onto a small deck. The adjacent vaulted and skylit loft overlooks the living room. Two other bedrooms, both large, are on the main floor. For a study plan of the VANGELDER (401-51), send $9.00, or for a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home designs, send $20.00 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering.)

I BELIEVE IT OFFERS TWO IMPORTANT BENEFITS PROVIDED BY NO OTHER GRIP.

FIRST, BEGINNERS OFTEN FIND IT MORE COMFORTABLE THAN THE OVERLAPPING GRIP. SECOND AND MORE IMPORTANT, IT TRULY "MARRIES" THE HANDS TOGETHER AND KEEPS THEM THAT WAY THROUGHOUT THE SWING.

Test knowledge of winged friends

Do you consider yourself an expert on birds? Test your knowledge of our winged friends with these fun and feathery questions from Easy Gardener, manufacturers of the new Easy Feeder.

State birds

Match each bird with the state it represents:

- | | |
|------------------|------------------|
| 1. Yellowhammer | A. Maryland |
| 2. Nene | B. Minnesota |
| 3. Ptarmigan | C. New Mexico |
| 4. Loon | D. New Hampshire |
| 5. Purple Finch | E. Louisiana |
| 6. Oriole | F. Utah |
| 7. Brown Pelican | G. Hawaii |
| 8. Roadrunner | H. Alabama |
| 9. Seagull | I. Georgia |
| 10. Thrasher | J. Alaska |

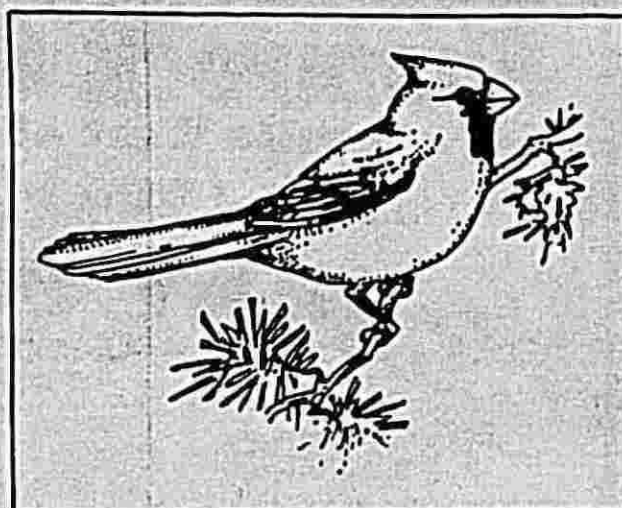

Answers

Those amazing birds: 1. (c) Geese have been recorded flying over the Himalayas in Asia at more than 29,000 feet. Most birds stay below 3,000 feet. 2. (a) The wandering albatross has a wingspread of up to 12 feet from wing tip to wing tip. 3. (c) Ravens have lived as long as 69 years. 4. (b) The male ostrich may grow as tall as 8 feet and weigh up to 300 pounds. 5. (b) The migration of the Arctic tern is from the Arctic to Antarctica. The roundtrip covers 22,000 miles. 6. (b) Duck hawks can dive at prey at speeds up to 180 mph.

State birds: 1H; 2G; 3J; 4B; 5D; 6A; 7E; 8 9F; 10I.

Birds & television:

1. "Fred" the cockatoo was destined for stardom as the detective's faithful sidekick. 2. "Buzz Buzzard" 3. "Toucan Sam" follows his nose for the flavor of Fruit Loops Cereal. 4. The peacock. 5. Atlanta Falcons, Philadelphia Eagles, Phoenix Cardinals and Seattle Seahawks.

Attracting birds

Now that you've had your brain teased about birds, you might enjoy the pleasures of birdwatching in your own backyard. An easy way to attract colorful songbirds such as finch chickadees and sparrows, is to hang a simple and inexpensive birdfeeder filled with black-oiled sunflower seeds, millet and milo. Remember to hang feeders where they are inaccessible to cats, squirrels and other creatures.

To attract the widest variety of birds to the yard, most bird-watching enthusiasts recommend hanging two or three feeders. Moving the feeders to new locations at least twice a year is another great way to keep returning birds interested, while attracting new feathered diners. Hang the Easy Feeders in areas where they are still easily seen from the house.

You now can consider yourself an active bird watcher. With several feeders in place, you are ready to sit back, relax and enjoy the show. You may want to purchase a bird-watching handbook or guide to help identify the many winged guests that will be visiting your home this season.

One final teaser.
Can you identify the four birds in the illustrations?

Answers (Clockwise from top): bluejay, robin, sparrow, cardinal.

Those amazing birds

- Can you name the highest flying birds? a) eagles b) condors c) geese
- What bird has the greatest wingspread? a) wandering albatross b) California condor c) African ostrich
- A number of different kinds of birds have been known to live as long as 50 years. Do you know which birds live the longest? a) owls b) robins c) ravens
- The male African ostrich is recognized as the world's largest bird. How tall can it grow? a) 6 feet b) 8 feet c) 10 feet
- Which bird would earn the most frequent flyer miles for the longest migration? a) Canadian goose b) Arctic tern c) Emperor penguin
- Although the canvas-back duck can fly at speeds in excess of 70 mph, it's not the fastest flyer. Can you name the bird that is? a) peregrine falcon b) duck hawk c) bald eagle

Birds and television

- What was the name of Detective Baretta's pet cockatoo on the 1970's hit TV series Baretta?
- "Woody Woodpecker" is a feathered favorite of many cartoon buffs. Who is his long-time rival?
- Birds are often used in commercials to promote products. Can you name the product that employs "Toucan Sam" as its spokesperson?
- What bird is the "proud" symbol of the National Broadcasting Company (NBC)?
- Football fanatics see birds on TV every season. Of the 28 teams in the National Football League, can you list the four that have bird names?

Attracting birds

Now that you've had your brain teased about birds, you might enjoy the pleasures of birdwatching in your own backyard. An easy way to attract colorful songbirds such as finch chickadees and sparrows, is to hang a simple and inexpensive birdfeeder filled with black-oiled sunflower seeds, millet and milo. Remember to hang feeders where they are inaccessible to cats, squirrels and other creatures.

To attract the widest variety of birds to the yard, most bird-watching enthusiasts recommend hanging two or three feeders. Moving the feeders to new locations at least twice a year is another great way to keep returning birds interested, while attracting new feathered diners. Hang the Easy Feeders in areas where they are still easily seen from the house.

You now can consider yourself an active bird watcher. With several feeders in place, you are ready to sit back, relax and enjoy the show. You may want to purchase a bird-watching handbook or guide to help identify the many winged guests that will be visiting your home this season.

One final teaser:
Can you identify the four birds in the illustrations?

You've got extra room just outside your front door and you want to beautify the area. The new porch looks great, but a splash of color would help. You love your new apartment, but miss having the garden at mom's and dad's house. You crave fresh vegetables, but don't have enough hours in the day to create and maintain a full vegetable garden. What to do?

Try container gardening. According to gardening experts beautiful flowers, as well as all kinds of vegetables, can be grown with relative ease in containers. Most local lawn and garden centers sell all kinds of containers, from plastic to clay pots to wood, and in a variety of shapes and sizes.

Many people like to transform household items into unique containers. Consider recycling old bowls and buckets, baby baths and even large plastic juice or milk jugs into a new home for flowers and vegetables. Whatever you select, be certain that the container will be big enough to house the plant when it's mature, and that there are enough slits or holes in the material to allow for proper drainage, which is vital for healthy growth. Choosing the plants

Many sun-loving annuals and hardy perennials thrive in containers. Some plants, such as chrysanthemums, make excellent cutting flowers, while others, such as geraniums and begonias, can be brought indoors as a house plant at season's end. Annuals to consider include petunias, marigolds, lobelia, violets, and sage. Other popular annuals include ageratum, zinnias and salvia. Among the many annuals that tolerate shade well are begonias and impatiens.

Another option is perennials that can be grown as annuals. A colorful kaleidoscope of such plants includes alyssum, Black-eyed Susans, browallia and lilies. You may want to create a rain-bow effect by mixing and matching plants that will grow together compatibly. If there is any doubt, ask for assistance from the garden center staff before purchasing the plants.

Arranging started plants in the container is as easy as reading the plastic tag on the plant flat, which will detail all the vital information, such as the expected height of the plant at its maturity. Simply place plants that grow tallest in the center of the container and those that grow shorter around the outside in descending order. This will ensure proper growth and provide the best visual results.

Container Vegetables

For those who don't have the time or space to grow a vegetable garden, container gardens offers an ideal alternative. Everything from lettuce, carrots and beets to pepper, cucumbers and herbs can be grown in containers. Such herbs as parsley, rosemary, thyme and dill will do well in just about a space, even one as small as a cut-off milk carton. Other vegetables, however, such as carrots, radishes and lettuce need containers deep enough for their root systems to sufficiently take hold. Eggplant, pepper and cucumber plants should either flow down from hanging basket or be positioned in a container near a wall or trellis so their vines can climb unimpeded.

Watering

Soil, as a rule of thumb, should be damp, not too dry or too soaked. Watering frequency and the amount of water necessary to sustain a container plant will vary depending on the kind of plant, container size and material, plant size and weather conditions and whether the plant is in the sun or shade. Smaller containers will require frequent watering; in some cases, daily, while larger containers located in full sun may need to be watered once or twice a week.

Choosing the Right Potting Mix

Any recipe for healthy container plants begin with the potting mix. A quality mix will enable air to circulate around the roots and permit adequate drainage, while holding nutrient at water levels steady.

Fertilizing

Potted vegetables require more fertilizer than annuals and perennials to get them off to a good start and maintain their flush of growth. A nutrient-enriched potting soil will do the job and, because it delivers nutrients slowly into the soil, it will keep vegetables and plants healthy for weeks to come. After that, use an all-natural fertilizer high in nitrogen, according to label directions.

Make lawn care worry free

Lawn care was simple 150 years ago. Pioneers just sent their sheep outside to trim the lawn, and the only danger was a hungry wolf.

Today, tending the lawn is more complex. On the one hand, new equipment and technology make the job faster and easier than ever before. But since lawnmowers are powerful machines and not docile animals, certain safety precautions are necessary.

Rotary blades of today's power mowers can reach speeds of up to 200 miles an hour. These lawn mowers can cut your lawn quickly and easily, but if used carelessly, they can just as quickly involve you in a serious accident.

The first step mowing is reading the operator's manual.

Before starting the mower, police your lawn for hidden rocks, sticks, dog bones or chain, which can become miniature missiles if thrown by the mower's blade. And send children and pets inside so that they don't accidentally run in front of the mower.

Then be sure to dress the part. Wear long slacks and close-fitting clothes that won't get caught in the mower's moving parts. Likewise, don't wear dangling jewelry or scarves while operating a mower. Also, remember your feet. Sturdy, non-slip shoes provide traction and protect your toes.

Protect property from foraging animals

Imagine—a landscape of lackluster plants where flowers and shrubs are half-eaten and shredded; fences clawed and defaced; garbage cans tipped over and emptied. Not a pretty picture is it? Unfortunately, for thousands of homeowners, it's an all too real description of the serious damage wild animals and birds can do to property.

All in all, it's a problem homeowners would much rather do without; but solutions are not easy to come by. Victimized homeowners have tried everything from scarecrows to shotguns to ward off deer, squirrels, raccoons, even neighborhood strays, but with little or no success. Animals are discouraged temporarily, but eventually return to feed and browse. The problem seems insurmountable.

So what's an environmentally-aware homeowner to do?

The answer may not be as difficult as you think. In fact, foraging creatures can easily be taught that your property is off-limits, if you use some common sense, a few, simple precautionary measures and an effective animal repellent, such as Ro-Pel Animal, Rodent and Bird Repellent from Burlington Scientific Corporation.

Flowers and shrubs in the garden make a tasty treat for hungry four-legged scavengers.

Building a fence around areas frequently under attack, although it may seem an expensive alternative now, is one of the most cost-effective and permanent ways of keeping larger animals at bay in the long-run. To make doubly sure that plants, and even the fence, don't come under attack, apply Ro-Pel Animal, Rodent and Bird Repellent to foliage and other absorbent surfaces.

Available as a liquid spray, repellents such as Ro-Pel work on the principle of aversive taste and can be applied safely to trees, shrubs, ornamental plants, grass, flowers and bulbs. When animals try to lick, bite, nibble, or chew anything coated with the spray, from geraniums to garbage; they get a bitter, lingering and repulsive taste in their mouth. Because the spray does not wash off in rain, snow, dust or wind, any animal that returns to feed again will get another bitter reminder that this property is off limits. Essentially, animals are "trained" to leave your property alone without any harm to the animal or the environment.

Shield your bulbs

Colorful flowering bulbs add a touch of royal splendor to any landscape. Bulbs, however, are also a dietary staple for many ground-dwelling creatures, such as mice, moles, squirrels and chipmunks. To keep these animals from making a restaurant out of your garden, soak bulbs for a minute in a repellent prior to planting. This will give any bulb-feasting creature a foul-tasting message that these plants are no longer on the menu. After bulbs have grown and flowered, spray the blossoms with the repellent again to deter animals such as deer and rabbits from chewing on flowers and other foliage.

Guard your garbage

Every person's trash is a hungry animal's treasure, so open garbage containers are a common target for nighttime creatures on the hunt for an evening's meal. More often than not, the feeding frenzy results in a yard littered with the week's garbage and a severe headache for the person responsible for clean-up.

To avoid this scenario in the future, invest in a new, sturdy set of trash cans with tight-fitting lids. If you're using paper bags, try switching to a more durable, and tear-resistant plastic bag. Also, consider using a contract repellent to ward off unwanted foragers, among them stray cats, squirrels and mice. And, try not to leave trash cans and their contents exposed for too long where they are accessible to animals. Animals can't make a mess of what they can't find.

Winning the never-ending weed battle

Let's face it, weeds are a gardener's worst enemy. No matter how many you till or pull out by hand, there are countless more waiting to rear their ugly heads. Fighting this never-ending battle is even more frustrating if you have routinely maintained the garden by watering, fertilizing and adding soil amendments.

What else can you do? Learn to identify the type of weeds that are making their home in your garden. Dandelions, quackgrass and ragweed are the most common, but hundreds of other less familiar weeds plague gardeners as well. Spotting the interlopers is easy. It's a sure bet that anything you didn't plant yourself is a weed.

Annuals, Perennials and Biennials

Weeds fall into three general categories: annuals, perennials and biennials. More than 80 percent of garden weeds are annuals, plants that live and die in a single season and reproduce only by seed. They produce a huge number of seeds, sometimes hundreds of thousands, thereby ensuring at least a handful will find a favorable spot on your lawn or in your garden beds for germination and growth. Hand pulling annual weeds, such as wild mustard, before they set seed is the best way to keep them from taking over the landscape.

By far, woody perennials are the most annoying weeds. Some species, such as poison ivy, send up vigorous new shoots as far as 20 feet from the parent plant. The smaller, herbaceous varieties are no less annoying. For example, if you hack off a dandelion top without removing the whole root, that one plant will turn into three or four. As a rule, perennial plants survive at least three years, although most live much longer. Like annuals, perennial weeds produce seeds, but they also reproduce vegetatively, from nodes on underground stems and/or roots.

Biennial weeds live for two seasons, growing only roots, stems and leaves the first year and producing upright stems that bear flowers and seeds the second year. Common predators include mullein and Queen-Anne's lace.

The Best Defenses

No garden will ever be completely weed-free. Nevertheless, attacking weed problems early in the season, before they set seed, is the best defense. If it's too late to do this, try mulching around your plants to smother out any weed seeds that germinate. Or, better yet, use a landscape fabric to control weeds in permanent ornamental plantings.

Also called geotextiles, today's multi-purpose landscape fabrics, deter weed growth around trees, plants and shrubs in the garden bed. Thousands of tiny funnels, or "micropores," permit the free flow of air and water while simultaneously blocking sunlight and weeds. Landscape fabrics are also extremely economical. For example, one will last three years if uncovered and indefinitely when protected by a layer of organic mulch.

In some cases, hand weeding works best, especially for removing weeds growing close to plants. To avoid back injury, pull weeds from a sitting or kneeling position. Never till comfrey, dandelions or Jerusalem artichokes, which can reproduce easily from tiny bits of the original root. Instead, dig these notorious garden thugs out by hand.

Hoes are wonderful weeding tools. They come in different shapes and sizes related specific tasks. Ask your local hardware garden center retailer for advice on selecting the right weapon from among the dozens available.

If you're still losing the battle against weeds there is one more solution. Add gravel pathway groundcovers, stepping stones and other hard surfaces to the landscape so that weeds will have fewer places to poke up.

Garden-starting pointers

•In buying such popular bedding plants as tomatoes, marigolds, salvias and petunias, choose a healthy, dark green color. Avoid plants with yellow, wilted or shriveled leaves.

•If you buy seedlings in peat pots, gently remove the bottom of the pot and release the roots. While roots will penetrate the peat, which will eventually decompose, a dry period could keep roots pot-bound and hinder good development. Be careful not to tear the plant roots.

•Short, compact, bushy plants with some side shoots already formed are better than tall, thin, scraggly items that have had to stretch to reach light or are spindly because of overcrowded roots.

Getting your garden off to a good start is important. Take the time to do it right!

Although you may be enthusiastic about getting your spring garden underway, take time to observe a few rules of thumb about starting and keeping a healthy garden:

•Don't plant such tender crops as tomatoes, peppers, petunias, impatiens and begonias until all danger of frost has ended. Planting too early is the major cause of loss of bedding plants.

All natural lawn care—a growing alternative

Consumers today can choose from a wide variety of products for home lawn and garden care. Natural fertilizers are now readily available and are growing in popularity as an alternative to chemical treatments. Yet many people find the array of choices confusing and are unsure about the effectiveness of natural products. Why choose a natural fertilizer?

Natural fertilizers contain the same basic nutrients as chemical fertilizers but in a different form. In natural fertilizers, the nutrients are derived from natural sources, such as compost, feather and bone meal, cocoa bean shells, and minerals. Natural products contain, for the most part, nutrients not immediately available to plants. These nutrients must be broken down by microorganisms within the soil into a form which can be utilized by plants as food. This ensures that they are released gradually, as plants need them, and provides food continually over a long period of time.

Slow-release fertilizing helps plants grow at a natural pace and develop strong root systems.

On the other hand, the nutrients in chemical fertilizers are water-soluble and available to plants when first applied. This "blast" of food creates quick growth and greening, but it is short term.

To continue feeding, you must continue to apply fertilizer. And chemical fertilizers often contain many more nutrients than plants can absorb in one application, so the excess washes away and creates a potential pollution risk.

Frequent applications of chemical fertilizers cause plants to grow too quickly above the ground before they have had time to develop root systems. These top-heavy plants become chemically-dependent as they cannot absorb enough water and nutrients from the soil with their shallow roots. Therefore, they must be watered and fed much more often than plants grown the natural way. Grass that becomes dependent on chemicals for food is weak and susceptible to drought, pests and disease.

Natural fertilizers contain organic matter which is an essential element of healthy soil. Soil rich in organic matter is called loam, and loam is the best growing medium for most grass and plants. Earthworms and soil microorganisms live on the organic matter and digest it into form available to plants as food. Soil without sufficient organic matter cannot sustain healthy grass and plants, and it can easily become compacted. Natural fertilizers return organic matter to the soil and improve any soil type by increasing water and nutrient retention and making the soil more porous and permeable.

What to look for in a natural fertilizer

A properly balanced natural fertilizer, such as a 1881 Select Lawn Food from Earthgro, will contain all the nutrients and trace element essential for healthy grass and plants. It will have a guaranteed analysis on the bag and will list the ratio of nitrogen, potassium and phosphorous (N-P-K) contained.

Look for a natural fertilizer that contain nitrogen, or you will have to wait quite a while before you see results. Some natural fertilizers, like 1881 Select, even contain a portion of their nitrogen in a water-soluble form for quick green up balanced with sustained, long-term feeding.

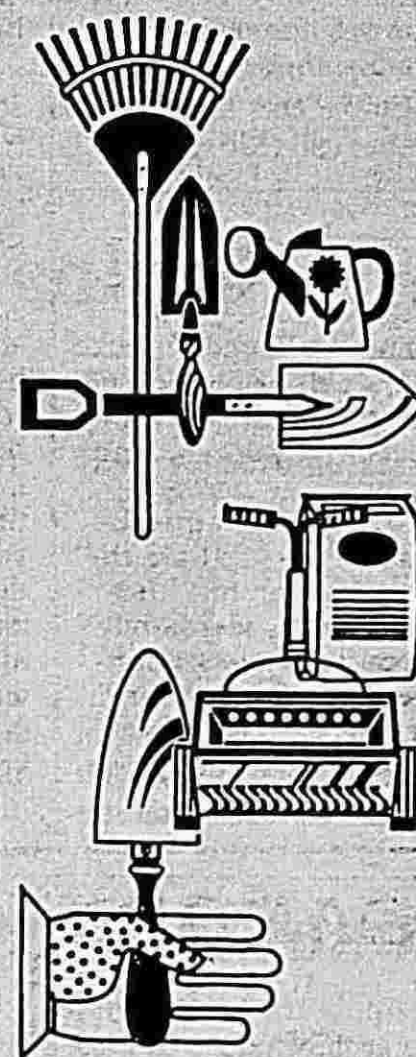

In addition, be sure to choose a product that has a pH level between 6.0 and 7.0 (moderately acidic to neutral), as most grasses and plants grow best under these conditions.

Organic matter content is also important. Compost-based fertilizers are high in organic matter and contain beneficial microorganisms for thatch reduction and natural disease suppression.

Natural lawns are also low-maintenance lawns. Natural fertilizers may cost more than most chemical fertilizers, but in the long run the time and money you save on supplemental treatments outweighs the initial cost. Grass grows more slowly when it is not being overdosed with chemicals, so you don't need to mow it as often. Soil rich in organic matter is also better able to retain water and withstand drought conditions, so you save time and water. And best of all, grass that develops at its natural rate becomes thick, lush, green and healthy naturally resistant to pests and disease and strong enough to crowd out weeds.

For the ideal lawn, just mow high (never cut more than one-third at a time), water deeply but not too

Pinky makes great a companion

Pinky is a short-haired tortoise with lots of red markings on her face. She's a talker, follows humans, and is constantly asking for a scratch behind the ears. Pinky is spayed, about four-years-old and would make a wonderful companion.

For information on how to adopt Pinky or any of the dogs and cats at the Assisi Shelter call (815)455-9411.

Daisy has a desperate need

Daisy is a three-year-old black/tan spayed female shepherd mix. Daisy is living proof that a dog can have a broken heart. When she came to Orphans of the Storm in April, 1992, Daisy was a child-loving gentle dog, playful and very affectionate. She was outgoing, and loved attention. Daisy was a real doll. Once she got to know us, she followed like a shadow, as devoted, loyal and trusting as a dog can be.

Now, after a year in a cage, Daisy is becoming sad, depressed and withdrawn. Her eager hope for a loving family has led to repeated disappointment. An adoption will put the joy back into this sweet dog's heart. It's not too late! Daisy is in cage 2.

A $55 cash donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, leash, follow-up care, first shots and more. Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd. in Deerfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week. Call 945-0235.

some kid pukes on the floor, the toilets are overflowing, or someone spit on the floor. Since they have voted themselves a raise, the custodians will get nothing. The custodians should tell them to clean it up themselves.

No Sympathy

I don't know who hit your dog but surely they did not mean to. I feel sorry for the dog, but not for you. If you cared at all for the dog it would have never been allowed to roam and get hit.

No Costs For Zoo

In regards to "Spending For The Zoo", the students go to the zoo for behavioral science class. The only costs are for the bus. The students pay their own expenses. The funding for the chairs in the Commons comes from the building fund. This year we received approximately fifty new chairs. We constantly replace and repair what we have. Unfortunately, these chairs get a lot of abuse.

Go Back

Lisa Rudek's campaign literature was the most negative I have ever read! First she slammed Wilton, then Martini, and finally came out with that old news article about Jim Fields indictment. She did not have any platform or solutions, only problems. The low amount of votes she received should tell her that Americans do not go for that stuff. Rudek, go back to Poland, and stay there.

Take A Look

If you think your road in Lake Villa Township is bad, you should take a look at Black Cherry Drive. There are four houses on this street, west of Fairfield Road. This is one of the best streets we have in Lake County. This is due to our illustrious Road Commissioner. Take a look folks and see what your tax dollars are paying for.

Empty Main Street Days

I live in Round Lake Park and am calling about the Main Street Days. They say they want us to support our local businesses but there is no business to support. All the major companies are on Rollins Road. That is why everybody shops there. The only thing that Round Lake Park's main streets have are two bars and a gas station.

Lost Pride

I am a taxpayer in the district of Antioch for twenty-three years. I am grateful for the splendid education provided by the Antioch High School for my daughters. It is a fine school with a dedicated staff and a super student body. How dare this community vote against the foundation of our future!! Your children will not receive a second class education. Shame on you Antioch. Where has your pride gone?

Thanks

All the employees of CenCom E-911 in the Round Lake area want to thank everyone for their participation in the success of our open house last Saturday.

Treading Water

Has anyone sent any public official to William's Park in Wauconda? Those people have been under water for almost two weeks now, have received no help, and no official has even been down to look at the place. Would you please check on that?

Go Ahead And Leave

I think it is time for people to be introduced to the real Village of Long Grove, or should I say country? Once again the spirit of isolation has reared its ugly head in Long Grove. It started with the bitter opposition to the Route 53 extension. What is good for the "masses" doesn't matter. Their attitude appears to be "Don't infringe on our kingdom." The latest insult was when Long Grove began hiring Lake County Sheriffs to hand out $75 tickets to unsuspecting motorists for making an improper turns. Motorists are being denied a viable alternative to the traffic problem because the town does not want anyone taking a shortcut in town. Maybe Long Grove should secede from the Country, County, and State.

Take It To The Dump

We, the people of Grayslake want to know when the person living on the corner of Garfield Street is going to clean his junk and bricks from his yard? What an eyesore! And, this eyesore has been there for over a year. Do we have to file a formal complaint? If you want to store this mess, take it to the landfill on Route 83.

I Voted No

Yes, I believe our students should attend a school with a clean and proper atmosphere. Up-to-date equipment and extra-curricular activities are important too. Did I vote in favor of the referendum? No! We can no longer afford the run-away property taxes. The answer to this problem is budget accountability.

Fast Enough For You?

To the lady who requested the new stop sign on the corner of Channel and Clarendon: Is this FAST ENOUGH? Compliments of the Reclaim the Beach Party.

Daniels watches, learns, wins in long jump event

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Moe Daniels watched in awe Saturday as some of the best long jumpers in the area competed at the Waukegan Invitational.

"It was fascinating to watch them get out so far like 17 feet, six inches," Daniels said.

Daniels made some mental notes and may have used them to her advantage as the sophomore won the event in 15 feet, two inches in a triangular meet Monday.

Host Warren did not have quite enough to overtake Stevenson. The Pats won 76-57 with Antioch scoring 18 points.

"I have been jumping since about sixth grade, but I did not run in the eighth grade," Daniels said.

Daniels was living in North Chicago then, but her parents moved to Warren. She would run for the Gazells Running Club, guided by Cyrus Johnson Sr.

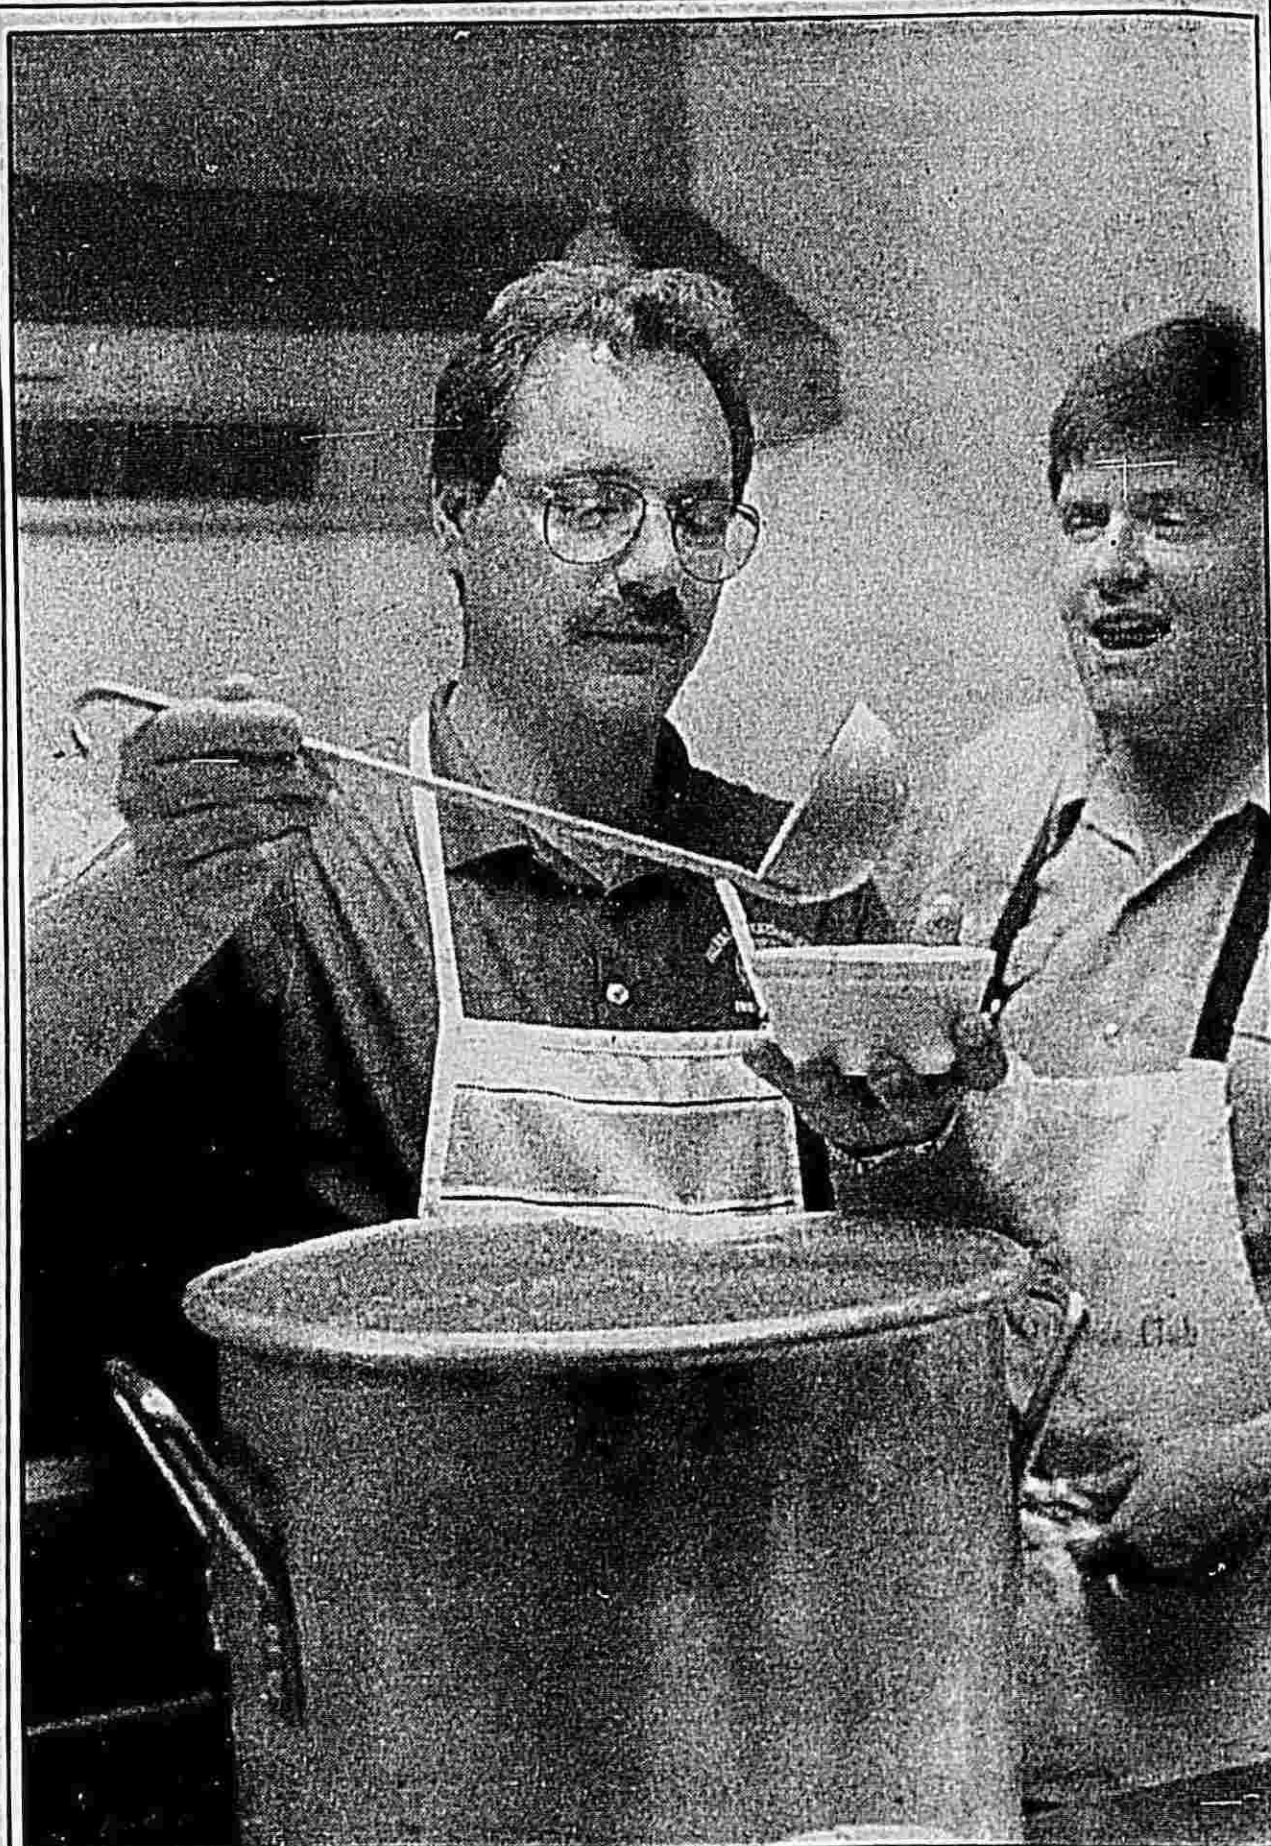

Her best effort as a frosh was 14-11.

"It's the way I start. Last year, I went straight from running," Daniels said of her strategy.

Warren's highlights this sunny but cool Monday included a win by the 1,600 meter relay team. Heidi Balmes, Daniels, Yada Rosa and Anfia Choudry clocked a 4:32.8.

"I have been trying a number of different people in that race to see who would fall into it," Warren coach Julie Cadieux said. "There are a lot of freshmen who are running who are inexperienced," she said.

Senior Kristi Maksimowicz took the 100 meter dash title, topping two Stevenson runners.

REALTOR

SELL HOME YOURSELF?

I'm sure you've heard it said: "Why should I sell my home through a REALTOR? I can sell it myself and save a lot of money." Right?... Wrong!

This kind of thinking usually turns out to be financially unwise. The prospects will usually start by mentally deducting the commission and then start negotiating from there. On the average, a homeowner saves little or no money when he sells his own home. In fact, the opposite is often true. A lot of time is wasted showing homes to unqualified curiosity seekers and many possible sales are lost because the owner did not possess the experience to financially structure a viable sale in today's fast-changing money market.

As a private seller you're at a great disadvantage in the intricate areas of financing, negotiating and protecting yourself from all sorts of do-it-yourself pitfalls. You've got a lot invested in your home. It makes sense to list it with a REALTOR. He'll sell it for you - without hitches - for the best price and in the shortest amount of time.

If there is anything I can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at RE/MAX HERITAGE, 4641 Grand Avenue, Gurnee. Phone: 336-2600. I'm here to help!

Letter to the Editor

More qualified

Editor:
I find it hard to believe that Supervisor Bertie Miller had a memory lapse and is so ungrateful when it was time for her to step down.

How could she forget that Gordon Kiesgen as town clerk gave her a big boost to succeed Harry Robin when the supervisor's job became vacant due to Robin's death? How could she forget that Kiesgen was a loyal supporter of the supervisor for years?

I'm disappointed that Bertie would allow a letter to be circulated saying that Kiesgen was not qualified for supervisor. Looking back, it can be said that he was qualified for supervisor all along, even when he was serving under Miller.

Saving the day

Editor:
I want to acknowledge the kindness that was put forth by a local business.

The Early Childhood programs from Big Hollow School and Forest School, Fox Lake, planned a field trip to a local pizzeria. When we arrived the person who was supposed to meet us wasn't there.

The social worker for both ECH classes went over to Ryno's to use their phone. When Sharon and Jean of Ryno's heard what had happened, they offered to feed all of the kids.

They served them hotdogs, the best French fries in town and rootbeer.

Thanks to Sharon and

Competitors break out from the starting line in Zion for the 13th Lake County Races Saturday. Over 4,000 athletes participated. — Photo by Robert Hendrickson

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Now that Wendy Murray has received her masters degree from Northwestern University in biomedical engineering, maybe she will be seen more in training, getting ready for that big event.

Not that Murray, 24, did not do well for herself in winning the women's marathon at the Lake County Races Sunday. She beat her nearest competitor by five minutes, with a 3:02.16.

"Now that I am done with graduate school, I can maybe train more again," Murray said.

Murray felt "pretty good" in running the 13th annual race which stretches from Zion to Ravinia Park.

"I did a 15 miler and a 20-miler and ran the Chicago marathon," Murray, an Evanston resident, said.

She took the lead from second-place finisher Cynthia Schroeder of Minneapolis, Minn., who had a 3:07.26, in the 17 to 19-mile range. The race was close for second place, as Trish Beach took a 3:08.55.

Mitchell Craib of Greensboro, NC, won the men's marathon with a 2:27:45 despite not having run a marathon since 1986. That race was a no-contest, as he beat Andy Oakley of Skokie by 15 minutes.

Craib is a student at the University of North Carolina-Greensboro. His girlfriend resides in the Chicago area and he came to the Races for the first time because he has friends in the area.

Craib's running has been limited due to a smashed knee cap.

"I wanted to break 2:30," Craib said of his goal.

Craib, despite not starting his running career until age 25, has had success, performing well in Marine Corps and Pikes Peak runs.

The 10-K run featured a foreign winner in the men's race and a school teacher who took home top honors for the women.

Eddy Hellebuych smashed the previous course record with a 29:03, beating second-place Tomasz Gnabel of Chicago in 29:58.

The race included an area finisher in the top 10 as Jeff Harvey of Grayslake, age 22, finished in eighth.

"With the wind, I felt like I was almost flying," Hellebuych said.

Hellebuych, age 32, had raced against Gnabel before. He took charge within the first mile by using a strategy technique.

He said he liked the city course. It reminded him of running in the ancient, crowded towns of Germany.

The Belgian soldier has a busy schedule these days, as his competitions take him to both Chicago and Germany.

Collette Murphy made it two-for-two in breaking the 10K record for the winners and also collected $1,000.

"I was a finalist at the team trials for the Olympics but I decided to take a year off from track and try road racing because it is less intense," Murphy, age 27, said.

Murphy is a first-grade teacher at a Catholic school outside of Indianapolis.

"It was pretty nice, especially with the wind," she said.

Lake County runners fared best in the half-marathon which ended in Lake Bluff.

Libertyville resident Dan Skarda, age 34, won the men's event in 1:07:44. Matt McCormick was second as the Chicago resident had a 1:08:34.

Jenny Gesell, who made the Olympic trials in 1988 and 1984, of Grayslake, finished with a 1:18:11 in winning the women's half-marathon over second-place Leigh Anne Renk of Chicago.

Speaker brings her own message of encouragement

The 13th running of the Lake County Races had an English touch. Precilla Welch of London brought a message of hope to a dinner and later to runners completing their races.

The former winner of the New York City marathon was diagnosed as having breast cancer last year.

"I encourage other master runners between 40 and 50 to keep going. The key to my situation was that it was diagnosed early," she said.

Welch is very open in discussing her disease.

"I approach it from a military standpoint. Know it exists, learn how to get rid of it and go on with life," she said.

She is presently studying to be a travel agent.

"I enjoy meeting people," she said. She ran a 41:42 10 K.

Races notebook:

When runners completed their races, the crew at Message Therapy was ready to lend a hand.

"Mostly, we see a lot of cramps," Pat Malone said.

The weather Sunday was perfect for running, and there were few problems with dehydration.

"We're like a triage. We work on people and if they need more medical attention, we send them to the medical staff," Malone said.

Runners seem to show just where it hurts when they hop on the table, he said.

The firm conducted one of the many seminars offered on race eve Saturday in Northbrook.

Zgonina takes something extra to Pittsburgh

Lakeland Newspapers

Sure, he can bench press 500 pounds, run the 40-yard dash in 4.8 seconds and jam a basketball in his spare time. And sure, he's made many a ball carrier wish he'd stayed on the bus.

And, of course, there is the respect he received from his peers and coaches in the Big Ten during his four years as Purdue's nose guard. He was named to the all-conference first team twice and was the Big Ten's Defensive Player of the Year in 1992.

But there was something more about Carmel grad Jeff Zgonina that made him an attractive draft selection for the Pittsburgh Steelers — he can bend over a football and throw a long, true spiral back between his legs. That skill can sometimes make the difference in a close game.

Although perhaps a little disappointed after waiting until the seventh round, Zgonina is nonetheless fire-up about stepping up to the next level.

"I'm glad I'm going to Pittsburgh. I'll have a good opportunity up there, I think."

This year's NFL draft crop was loaded with talented defensive lineman, but Zgonina was the only defensive tackle or

Last year, the Steelers selected nose guard Joel Steed from Colorado. Prior to the 1992 draft, Zgonina was rated higher overall than Steed on the scouts' charts.

The 6-foot-1, 290-pound Zgonina thinks his long-snapping abilities for extra points and punts will greatly enhance his chances of catching on in Pittsburgh. He performed that chore at Carmel and during his first two years with the Boilermakers.

"It'll better my odds of making the team."

Zgonina is set to report for a mini-camp in Pittsburgh over the weekend. With that out of the way, he and agent Steve Zucker will hammer out a contract with Steelers.

After the '92 season, Zgonina went on the road, playing in the Japan Bowl, Hula Bowl and East-West Shrine Bowl. He said it was fun football.

"It was a great time and a great learning experience."

Zgonina finished up his degree in community health promotions during the winter but stayed in West Lafayette this semester to work out.

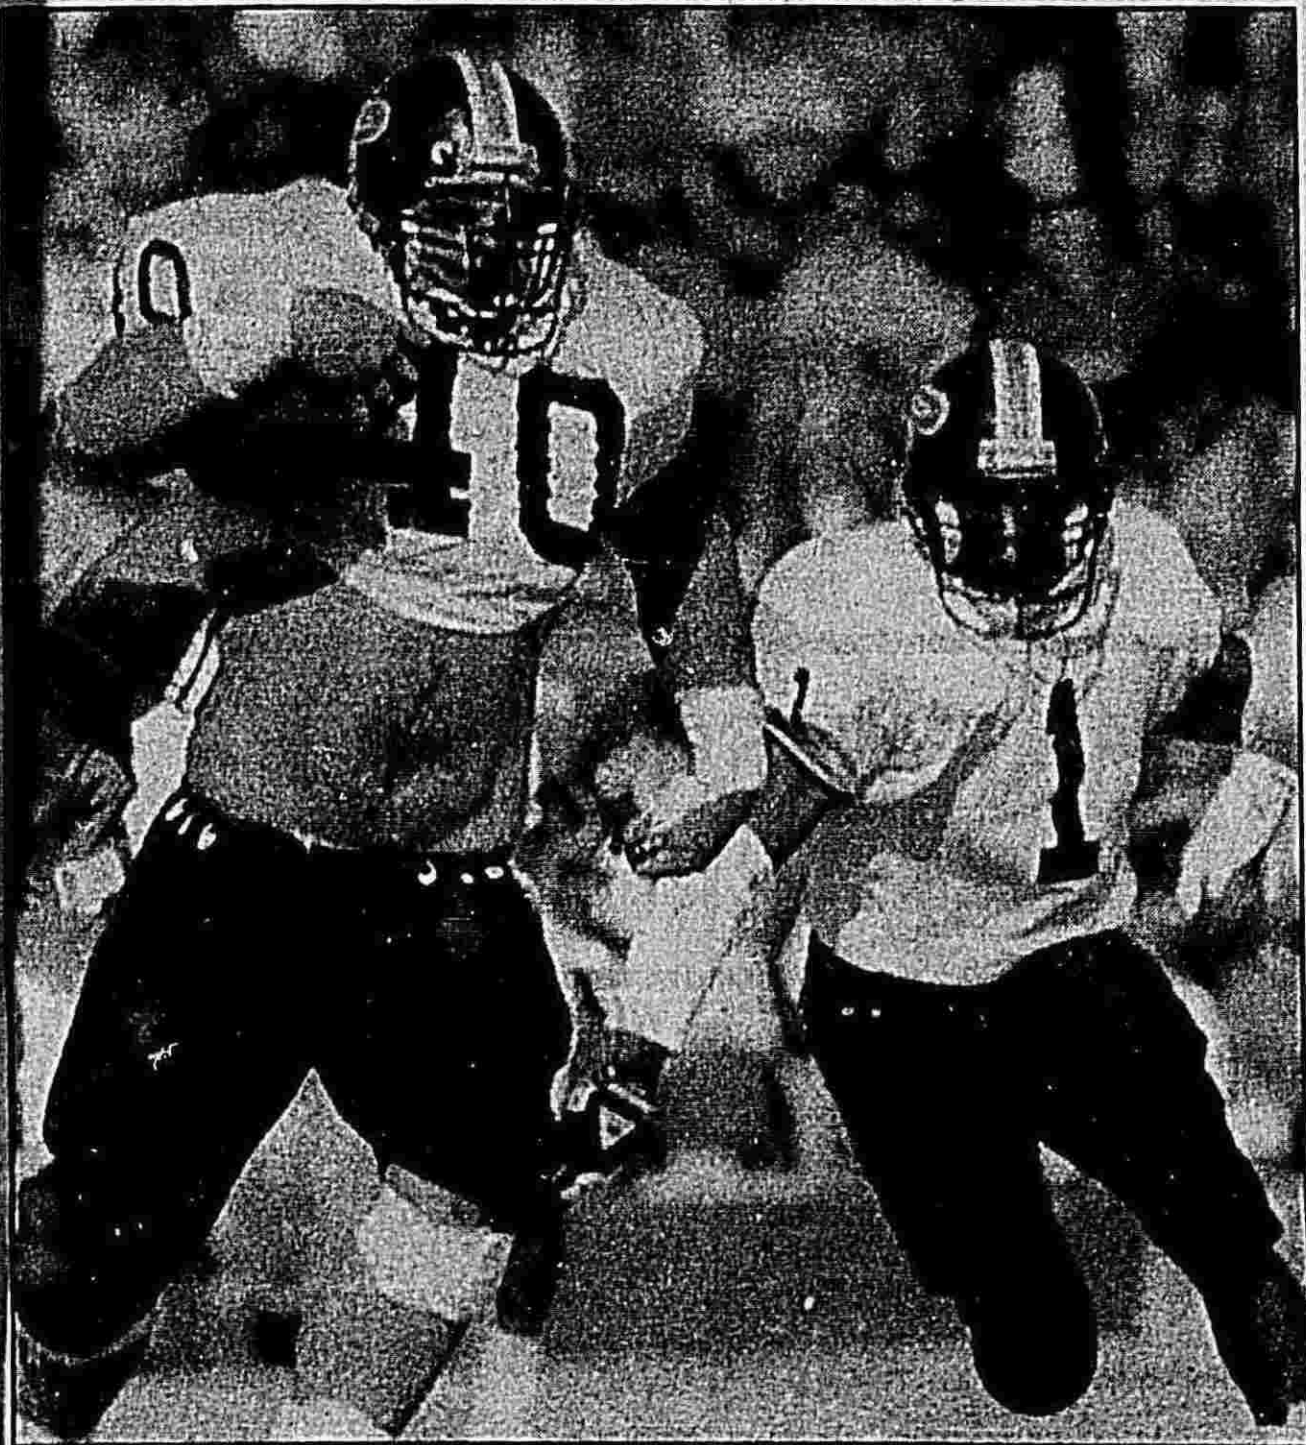

Zgonina said he wasn't holding his breath for any certain team.

"I'll play for anyone willing to give me the opportunity."

Was he a Steeler fan?

"Now I am," he said.

The color scheme won't be much of an adjustment: Both Purdue and the Steelers wear black and gold.

Jeff Zgonina realizes a defensive lineman's dream on this 62-yard, fumble-recovery touchdown run against Michigan State during his sophomore year.

Neuman pacing Millikin

Jim Neuman of Grayslake is currently the leading hitter on the Millikin University baseball squad.

Neuman, a senior shortstop and tri-captain, has hit safely in six of Millikin's last seven games to raise his batting average to .356. He leads the club with 21 hits and five doubles and is second with 11 runs batted in. Neuman has struck out just twice in 66 plate appearances.

Neuman already has exceeded last season's totals in RBI and doubles and is batting 80 points higher than last year's .276.

"Jim has been doing a great job at the plate for us," Millikin coach Mike Neal said. "He's worked hard to make himself a good hitter."

Neuman, a 1989 graduate of Grayslake and a business administration major, is the son of Jim and Peggy Neuman.

Millikin was 9-11 overall and 3-5 in the College Conference of Illinois and Wisconsin prior to an April 21 double-header against Illinois Wesleyan.

Panthers' Zink zeroing in on new role as top pitcher

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Shannon Zink did not exactly strike fear into the hearts of batters when she started her pitching career.

"Our sophomore coach tells me that when she first started, she would throw them against the bleachers in the gym," Round Lake Coach Howard Schroeder said.

And even this year, the junior was not the Panthers No. 1 pitcher. But when Monica Mosziewski struggled early, Zink stepped forward. She took two huge strides in her development as Round Lake clubbed Wauconda 13-2 and Grant 8-2 in Northwest Suburban Conference victories.

Wauconda, which took advantage of Grayslake pitchers' wildness in a 20-4 win the day before, had its chances with 10 base runners, one on every inning.

"I hit a couple of people, but I kept my focus," Zink said. "I've improved greatly since last year. It's just practice."

Zink allowed just one hit, an infield variety which hit in front of the plate and did not travel farther than three feet. She had nine strikeouts.

Zink is the younger sister of Christy Zink, who went on to be a contributing basketball player at the College of Lake County.

Round Lake improved to 4-3 overall, 4-1 in the NWSC. The only league loss came at the hands of defending champ Johnsbury, 11-4.

"Zink is learning to pitch. She had not had a lot of game experience on the mound until this year," Schroeder said.

Zink was backed up in the Wauconda game by a solid hitting attack with 12 hits behind her. Lead-off batter Grace Alaimo had two hits including a two-run homer. Nicole Pollard had two hits as did Amy Goodman and Sue Olson.

Round Lake led 4-0 until it blew the game open with nine runs in the third and fourth frames.

The home team doubled its lead in the third. Sheila Belcher reached on an infield hit and Jenni Kestler on a drop third strike, scoring Pollard. Goodman reached on an infield hit and Olson, Sarah Alaimo and Mosziewski all singled.

The next inning, a two-run double by Goodman and two baggers by Jamie Mielke and Olson preceded the big homer by Grace Alaimo.

Wind or no wind, Wauconda High School batters are giving opposing pitchers a lesson.

One had best leave his glove on the golf course, or at least, the bullpen. For if a pitcher throws lollipops to homeplate, this Bulldog bunch will likely put them over the fence. The Bulldogs picked up Monday where they left off against Round Lake with an 11-1 romp of Grayslake. The Panthers were 7-1 victims.

Byron Johnson, Steve Waldo and Kevin Cajda all had homers as the Bulldogs

Wauconda finished with 12 hits and Steve Opsal held the Rams to three.

"We were able to take an extra base. We hit the ball well of Scott Schupp. He is a good pitcher if he gets ahead in the count, but we were hitting that first strike," Wauconda Coach Jim Van Fleet said.

Four Grayslake errors did not help the visitors, looking to for their sixth conference win.

Wauconda improved to 8-4 overall, 5-3 in the NWSC.

Waldo was the winning pitcher against the Panthers. He held the defending champs on four strikeouts and no walks.

"We feel a little better because we are swinging the bat aggressively," Van Fleet said.

Wauconda hosts Johnsbury May 3.

Grayslake was coming off an 8-3 win over Marian Central. Standout catcher Steve Taylor picked up his first win as a pitcher.

"We had played four games in a row and I asked Steve if he could," Grayslake Coach Troy Harper said.

Carmel's bats will face more tough ECC hurlers

The first Carmel-Joliet Catholic baseball game Saturday was not a pretty sight.

Carmel players watched as Hilltopper batters, wearing the same colored batting helmets no less, pounded out 15 runs, all in the first three innings in a 15-1 romp.

"The second game was a totally different game. We hit the ball hard," Carmel's Matt Head said.

Indeed.

The Corsairs improved to 4-2 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference, 10-4 overall with the split. The Carmel forces could not keep the hitting attack going, though, falling to Chicagoland area power Holy Cross 5-2 on Monday. Carmel is at Marist May 1.

"The first game did us a favor. We were able to come back with Jeff Bunker in the second game," Carmel Coach Chuck Gandolfi, pleased with the split in this wind-blown day in Mundelein, said.

Carmel led 7-0 at the outset as Salata had two hits, Bunker one and Kevin Conarchy tripled in the first two frames.

The lead was dwindling, though, when Salata was called on to pitch with the bases loaded and only one out in the fourth.

"I wanted to keep them off balance," the Gurnee resident said.

That he did, inducing two Joliet Catholic pop-ups.

"Kurt did an outstanding job," Gandolfi said.

He also did the job with the bat. He had three hits in an earlier win over Notre Dame last week and one in the first Joliet Catholic game. He had three in the second contest. All this while recovering from an injured wrist.

"I am seeing the ball real well," Salata said.

Head's two-run triple in the fourth gave the Corsairs the margin they would need.

As for the Holy Cross game, Carmel took a 1-0 lead before Holy Cross scored four runs in the second inning. Carmel ace Brian Buckingham suffered the loss. Carmel had three errors.

Just ask Mundelein's Jim Stromberg. Stromberg saw his average increase sharply due to a home run in the second game of a sweep over Antioch Saturday.

"He was hitting .071 going in and now he is hitting .160," Mundelein Coach Dennis Kessel said. "He needed that one."

The Mustangs needed a twinkilling to stay with the NSC leaders and that is what they got. Mundelein prevailed 6-4 behind Josh Miller in the first game. Kyle Kessel was the winning pitcher in a 7-1 nightcap. "Kyle pitched real well. He had 11 strikeouts," Coach Kessel said.

Steve Schueler led the offense in game one with two hits, two RBI and two stolen bases.

In the nightcap, Pat Goodman had a pair of hits and Kessel was two-for-four.

Mundelein evened its record to 2-2 in the NSC, 4-6 overall.

Marathoner Gesell runs like gazelle in mini-race

Jenny Gesell may not have known just what to expect, but the marathoner adjusted well and took the title in the women's half-marathon race at the Lake County Races.

"My goal is to run in the Chicago marathon at the end of October," Gesell said.

Gesell made strides toward that end, with a time of 1:18.11, beating Leigh Anne Renk of Chicago by a minute.

"I really did not know what to expect, but I found the race very well organized and the course was beautiful," Gesell said.

The 29 year-old from Grayslake ran cross country and track and field in her prep days at Rockford Guilford High and later at University of Iowa. She started taking training seriously again running with the Libertyville Running Club. She has had a chance to get to know Dan Skarda, who defended his title in the men's race.

Gesell, who works for Benefit Life Trust as a programmer, was a marathon Olympic trial qualifier in 1984 and 1988.

Gesell passed up two runners after being in third place after 10K.

Skarda, meanwhile, beat Matt McCormick with a 1:07.44.

Wildcats' bats come alive

Libertyville's hitters found North Chicago and Warren to be the keys to getting their bats back in gear as the Wildcats won three conference games.

The Wildcats, 10-3 overall and 5-2 in the North Suburban Conference, downed North Chicago 8-0 and 18-1 and Warren 5-1 to take charge in the NSC.

"Prior to North Chicago, we were not hitting the ball that well," Libertyville Coach Jim Panther said.

After North Chicago, the averages went up.

Matt Bruenthal, who was four-for-four with four RBIs, was 11-for-31. Matt Wolverton was 11-for-30, Andrew Robertson 12-for-39 with eight RBIs and Jamie Carruthers seven-for-29 with 12 RBIs.

Bob Paulson gained the win in the second game.

Libertyville hosts Glenbrook South April 30 and is at Highland Park for a twinbill May 1.

Antioch shakes off monkey

Antioch's softball team won its first game of the year in dramatic fashion Tuesday at Stevenson.

The Sequoits scored four runs in the top of the seventh inning for a 15-10 win. The victory was the first in eight decisions.

Starting pitcher Michelle Kilarski was four-for-five; Dawn Jedeke had two doubles and Stephanie Mont had three-for-five with two singles a double.

"The whole team's attitude has been positive, even in the losses," Antioch Coach Judy Smithhisler said. "This was the first game we had done anything hitting wise."

The Sequoits were no-hit by Mundelein star Lindsay Prezell.

Prezell came back and beat Lake Forest 3-2 for her 10th win in 11 outings.

Mundelein had to rally from a 2-0 deficit.

In other NSC games, Libertyville shutout Warren 4-0.

Carmel, which beat Libertyville 2-0 on the strength of a one-hitter by Beth Smith, got another one-hitter in a 21-1 romp of St. Scholastica. Smith earned her second one-hitter of the week as the Corsairs improved to 7-2.

Comeback moves Grant to .500

When the Grant High School softball team looks back at the 1993 season, it would do well to remember a certain Battle of the Bulldogs.

Wauconda looked like it was cruising to a Northwest Suburban Conference win as Wauconda led 8-1. But Grant rallied to outscore the foes 15-0 to notch the win Tuesday.

Angie Ornelas picked up the win in relief as she pitched five and two-thirds innings, striking out one and walking two. Grant evened its record to 3-3.

"We did OK, but we are still not hitting well," Coach Sue Richardson said.

Amie Ornelas, the pitcher's sister, had a grand slam homer in the sixth which made it 15-8.

Courtney Fosecz was three-for-five and Tricia Fullerton was three-for-four. "We're coming around," Richardson said.

Grant is at rival Johnsburg May 3.

Wilmot ready to roll if bleachers completed

Toft Auto Racing's Wilmot Speedway tentatively plans to finally get its 40th Anniversary Season underway on Saturday, May 1.

Originally planned for April 10, the season debut at Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed has been pushed back three times due to delays in the construction of the new grandstand bleachers.

"We're keeping our fingers crossed that the bleachers are up by May 1, but it is out of our hands," said Promoter Ray Toft, following an April 24 afternoon practice session attended by approximately 50 competitors from all five divisions competing this season. "We were fortunate to have the rains miss us over the weekend. The track and pit areas are ready, now we wait for the bleachers."

Scheduled to compete in the season-opening program are sprints, non-winged modifieds, sportsman and mini-modifieds. Grandstands will open at 5 p.m. with sprint time trials at 6:15 p.m. and the first race at 6:45 p.m.

Toft urged competitors and fans to phone the track racelines at (414) 862-2446, (708) 838-RACE or the new WMYX/WEMP radio stations information race line at (414) 529-7600 and press No. 4 either Thursday or Friday, April 29-30, for updated information on the status of the May 1 opener.

Wilmot Speedway's one-third-mile clay oval is located on the Kenosha County Fairgrounds in Wilmot, Wis. For further information contact the track office at 395-7353.

Clearing the hurdle

Grayslake's Jason Starzec clears a hurdle during dual match with Grant. Grayslake beat Grant and Wauconda in Northwest Suburban Conference duals. Grayslake will be the place to be for track fans when it hosts Lake County Meet May 6.

Pats claim crown

Antioch girls track and field fans need not worry if Megan Derney lets out a wild scream at the end of each run.

It is screams of joy the freshman was shouting as she won the 3,200 meters with a time of 12:31.

"At the end, I just want to make it to the finish line, so I let out my screams," Derney said.

Derney and Lauren Burk were teammates at Antioch Upper Grade School last year. Having Burk right behind in second place helps a great deal, Derney explained. "We always enter the same things and work together," Derney said.

The order of finish between the two was reversed for the 1,600.

"I was in cross country. This is the best thing. I like to run, but I do not like to sprint," Derney said.

Antioch was a distant third with 18 points in the North Suburban Conference triangular meet at Warren. Stevenson outlasted the Blue Devils 76-57 for top honors. All three teams will be at the Lake Forest Invite May 1.

"I enjoy running the two-mile more, but once the mile comes, I am ready for it," Derney said.

Assistant coach Dick Harland said Derney and Burk are among a group of underclassmen distance runners. This includes sophomores Karley Levis and Mandy Dale and freshmen Nicole Stolarik and Beth Lennon. Lennon won the 800 meter run.

Stevenson assistant coach Bob Schenk said he was surprised by his team's margin.

"It was a good win. We feel real confident heading into Lake Forest with the shot put and the discus relays. We set three records last year and running races will do well. We have a chance to win the meet this year and we certainly are going to go for it," Schenk said.

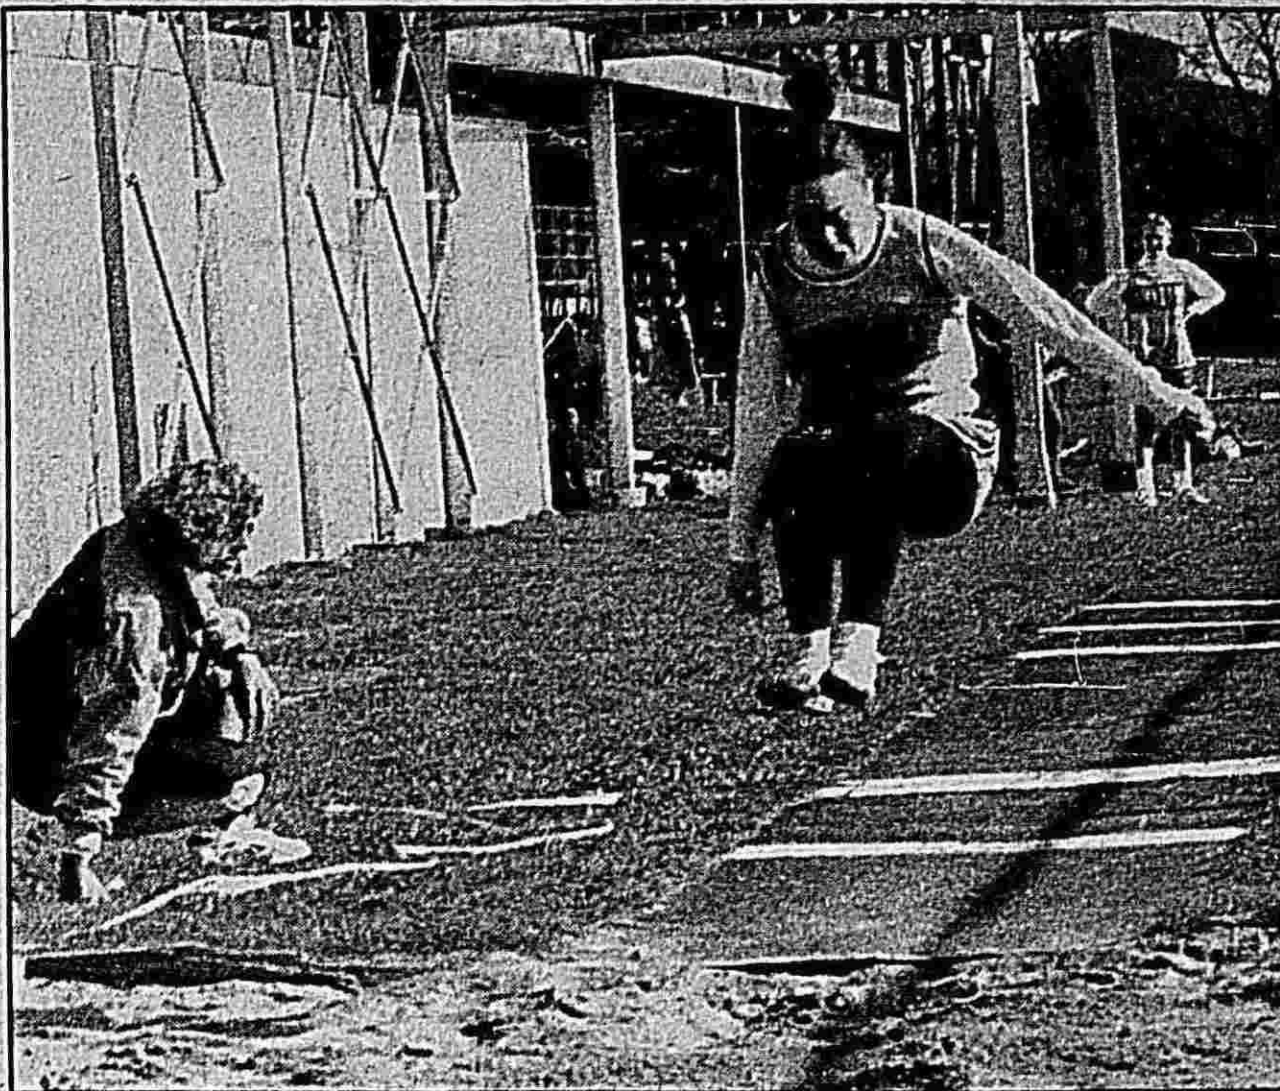

Danielle Mall and Heather Wooten finished one-two in the discus.

Wooten had her personal best in the shot put at 37 feet, two and one-half inches. Jessica Sobel had a 60 second split in the quarter. "Overall, we had some very nice surprises here," Schenk said.

Mall was third in the 200 yard dash and took the high jump title with a 5-2.

Sheri Dietz was second in the long jump to Warren's Moe Daniels and Tami Renda was third in the discus.

Stevenson's Sheri Dietz leaps for a few more inches in long jump. Dietz had a 14 feet, four inches, good enough for second place. Warren's Moe Daniels won the event with 15-2. Stevenson won team title in three-team event with Antioch hosted by Warren. Both teams are at Lake Forest Invite May 1. — Photo by Steve Peterson.

Kentucky Derby simulcast kicks off May at Dairyland

Stakes races, a concert series, giveaways — Dairyland Greyhound Park in Kenosha has it all in May.

It begins Saturday, May 1 when Dairyland will simulcast the Kentucky Derby as part of a special 14-race matinee performance beginning at 1 p.m. It marks the first time the Kentucky Derby will be offered for wagering purposes at Dairyland.

A Mother's Day brunch will take place in the clubhouse dining room May 9. An array of delectable items will be available for just $12.95 per person. The first of 15 races starts at 1 p.m.

The Pepsi Concert Series begins May 15. FASTGUN, an up-and-coming country-western band, will play between performances in the parking lot. The concert is co-sponsored by WMIL-FM radio.

The Dairyland Derby begins May 11. It serves as the major local three to eight-mile prep race for the 1993 Greyhound Race of Champions, to be held in June at Dairyland. After three preliminary rounds, the $25,000 championship race will be held May 22. The first 5,000 paid admissions will receive a commemorative pin.

The Memorial Day weekend offers something for everyone. On May 29 the first 5,000 paid admissions receive a Dairyland/Hot 102.3 WXLC-FM duffel bag. A special doubleheader will be offered on May 30 with the afternoon card designated as a Superfecta Sunday program. On Memorial Day, a variety of low-priced food and drink specials will complement a 15-race matinee performance.
